Our friend John P. Vogel and his aged mother have moved to Berlin. from whence they came to Salisbury about 27 years ago. John is one of the most picturesque citizens we ever had in this vicinity, and as a local politician he had any other man in Elk Lick township "skinned" to a finish. He held various township and party offices at times, and in each capacity proved himself an excellent officer. He was never beaten for office, which cannot even be said of the late Daniel Horner. As a runner for office, and as a hearty laugher, John P. There is no case of indigestion, no matter how irritable or how obstinate that will not be speedily relieved by the use of Kodol. The main factor in curing the stomach of any disorder is rest, and the only way to get rest is to actually digest the food for the stomach itself. Kodol will do it. #### Death of Michael F. Smith.

Michael F. Smith, a well known citi zen of Salisbury, died at his home or Union street, at about 9:30 o'clock Tuesday evening, after having suffered with dropsy and an affection of the liver for the past few months.

Deceased was the eldest son of the late John Smith, who was a promerchant and shook manufacturer in Salisbury from 30 to 40 years ago. Deceased also followed merchandising for a number of years, both in Salisbury and in Uniontown, Pa., but retired from that business about twenty years ago since which time he was engaged in the life and fire insurance business.

He was married three times. First to Miss Adaline Livengood, a sister of S. D and Jacob D. Livengood; next to Miss Nancy Johnson, of Fayette county, Pa., and last to Miss Jane Thompson, of Lavansville, Pa. The first wife died shortly after her marriage, and the second wife died about 20 years ago. The third wife survives him, and he is also survived by two daughters, Annie and Sarah, who are both daughters of the second wife.

Deceased was 58 years old last Sunday, and up to a few months ago he bid fair to at least reach the allotted three score years and ten. However, from the time his last illness started, he failed rapidly, yet his friends did not expect his death to take place so soon or so suddenly.

Mr. Smith was a man of energy and activity all his life, and while he had his faults, as we poor mortals all have, he also had his share of virtues. He had a generous disposition and a kind heart, as well as a forgiving nature.

Many Snakes Killed in Famous Den Near Addison.

An Addison correspondent writes The well-known snake den is infested with a larger number of snakes, this spring, than ever known before. Sixtythree were killed last summer by a party of near-by farmers, and on Monday the largest number slain, seventytwo, principally rattlesnakes, killed by a party of six, headed by William Wass. The den is in a cliff of rocks twenty feet high, and covers a quarter of an acre located near the old National pike, in the midst of a wild laurel section, and for years known by the old pike travelers. The snakes seem unusually vicious, this spring, and have been a source of much annoyance to farmers living in the immediate neighborhood. The men who kill the snakes are obliged to come to rescue of each other, as the black-snakes coil around their legs and
