Indigestion Causes Catarrh of the Stomach.

For many years it has been supposed that Catarrh of the Stomach caused indigestion and dyspepsia, but the truth is exactly the opposite. Indigestion causes catarrh. Repeated attacks of indigestion inflame the mucous membranes lining the stomach and exposes the nerves of the stomach, thus causing the glands to secrete mucus instead of the juices of natural digestion. This is called Catarrh of the Stomach.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure relieves all inflammation of the mucous membranes lining the stomach, protects the nerves, and cures bad breath, sour risings, a sense of fullness after eating, indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach troubles.

Kodol Digests What You Eat Make the Stomach Sweet.

STATE ROAD MAKING.

There is cause for great gratification in the fact that the people of this State seem at last to have acquired a realization of the importance of good roads, and that they are moving to avail themselves of the opportunities which the State government has provided for improvement in this respect, with an appreciative enthusiasm which is in striking contrast with their original apathy. It may not be generally known, but it is true, all the same, that Pennsylvania possesses the unenviable reputation of having the worst roads, the most barbarous, brutal, back-breaking, horse-killing, wheel-destroying roads of any Eastern community. They are a public disgrace and a common nuisance. They exert a powerful influence in producing that dissatisfaction with rural life and promoting that emigration to the cities, which are recognized by thoughtful men as among the most salient and disturbing signs of the times, and they must operate as a powerful impediment to the development of our great national resources and to the enjoyment of an otherwise attainable prosperity.

Our roads in Pennsylvania are bad largely as the result of unwise legislation, and because the government at Harrisburg has imposed on the boroughs and townships a task beyond their powers. Perhaps no single influence is more accountable for their condition than the law permitting the taxable to work out a portion of his road tax instead of paying it in cash in full. So long as this wretched system continued, the roads were bound to be bad. Road-making is not an occupation in which the farmer can engage with profit to the community during his otherwise leisure hours. It is not road-making in any true sense of the word to spread a few loads of gravel or sand over the deepest ruts, and the most obvious holes, and then to smooth the stuff down with a roller. With the first heavy rain that comes along, such a road will be quickly converted into a quagmire, and its last state will be worse than its first. Roads to be any good need to be built on scientific principles, and to be repaired with a scientific regularity. They must be constructed under the direction of someone trained in the business, and at a much larger expenditure of money than any merely local community can afford.

These are truths which the state has tardily recognized. The Highway Department has four million dollars at its disposition to be spent on the highways during the next two years, and the intention is to push this long delayed improvement with the utmost vigor. The reproach of Pennsylvania is in a fair way to be removed.—Lewisburg News.

SEPTEMBER COURT.

A Long List of Cases to be Disposed of.

Forty cases have been placed on the calendar for trial at the September term of the criminal court, and in addition to these there will be a number of cases that were continued at the May term, says the Somerset Standard, which then goes on to say that the number of cases for trial, however, will be reduced some, as defendants may take advantage of a recent law permitting them to plead guilty without the finding of a true bill by the Grand Jury. This practice, which, by the way, obtained in Somerset county for several years before the passage of this law, results in a saving of money to the county, and it frequently works to the advantage of prisoners.

Two defendants who took advantage of this law are John Contra and Pete Metesko, Slavs, of Macdonaldton, who appeared before Judge Kooser and pleaded guilty to two indictments. Last June, while in a state of intoxication, the men undertook to clean out an establishment at Macdonaldton, and J. P. McCabe made an information charging them with malicious conduct. Later, they almost demolished a school house, whereupon, E. L. Knepper, J. H. Hentz and J. H. Gumbert, preferred a similar charge against them. The defendants have been in jail fifty days. In one of the cases Judge Kooser fined them $1, required them to pay the costs of prosecution, and sent them back to jail for sixty days. In the other case sentence was suspended, with notice from the Court that if they should further misbehave, they would be brought into court and sentenced in the other case.

Among the cases set for trial are the following:

Henry Pondell, charged with F. & B., on information of Maud M. Hainzy.

Peter Enfield, surety; Daniel Enfield, prosecutor.

Elwood L. Swank, Chauncey Kaufman and Stephen Gindlesperger, supervisors of Conemaugh, neglecting roads; J. Berkey, prosecutor.

Henry Opel, Ross Sechler and C. W. Bender, supervisors of Elk Lick, neglecting roads; H. J. Christner, prosecutor.

Henry Jones, pointing fire-arms; Annie Spivok, prosecutor.

Jacob Landman, Oscar Jackson and Charles Brown, larceny and robbery; M. H. Fike, prosecutor.

F. P. Shirer, aggravated assault and battery; John Mitchell and Mary Mitchell, prosecutors.

Frank Moore, larceny; R. May Shale, prosecutor.

H. C. Duppstadt, Ed. S. Trent, Norman Trent and Morris Trent, unlawfully felling timber; John A. Woy, prosecutor.

John Mitchell and Mary Mitchell, assault and battery; F. P. Shirer, prosecutor.

Earl Biddleman, assault and battery; Annie Spivok, prosecutor.

Henry M. Brantano, desertion; Bridget Brantano, prosecutor.

Mahlon Lehman, F. & B., and breach of promise; Lydia Burkhardt, prosecutor.

Reuben Knupp, furnishing materials for road repairs; Charles Sivits, prosecutor.

Helena Sojak, disorderly conduct; Annie Grodesky, prosecutor.

Helena Sojak, disorderly conduct and surety; Annie Kregar, prosecutor.

H. W. Lape, F. J. Walker and Silas M. Hauger, neglecting roads; George Shaulis, prosecutor. A similar suit was brought against these supervisors by J. Wilson Brant.

Frank Rhoads, John Lease and Geo. W. Rhoads, neglecting roads; W. A. Martin, prosecutor.

J. E. Reese, larceny by bailee; D. C. Martin, prosecutor.

J. T. Topper, larceny and malicious mischief; Rebella Cobaugh, prosecutor.

A. Savage, assault and battery and surety; Belle Savage, prosecutor.

A. Savage, desertion; Belle Savage, prosecutor.

W. M. Morrison, malicious mischief and assault and battery; Mrs. D. G. Manges, prosecutor. Defendant pleaded guilty, and was fined $5, and sent to jail for 60 days.

Charles Swaney and George Martin, aggravated assault and battery; Antonio Chornetski, prosecutor.

Bertha Pearl Arnold, incorrigibility; May Arnold Jones, prosecutor.

Todd B. Culbertson, F. & B.; Margaret M. Spangler, prosecutor.

George B. McHefley, cruelty to infants; Norman B. Landis, prosecutor.

MEN PAST SIXTY IN DANGER.

More than half of mankind over sixty years of age suffer from kidney and bladder disorders, usually enlargement of prostate glands. This is both painful and dangerous, and Foley's Kidney Cure should be taken at the first sign of danger, as it corrects irregularities and has cured many old men of this disease. Mr. Rodney Burnett, Rockport, Mo., writes: "I suffered with enlarged prostate gland and kidney trouble for years, and after taking two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure I feel better than I have for twenty years, although I am now 91 years old."
