ANOTHER RAILROAD RUMOR.

Salisbury and Jennings Branches May Form New B. & O. Short Line of Great Importance.

The following interesting railroad rumor was recently printed in the daily papers of Pittsburg and Cumberland:

"The presence of Baltimore & Ohio agents in the vicinity of Grantsville and Friendsville, Md., just across the Pennsylvania line, near Oakland, and the fact that surveyors have been working in that section during the past few months, has started the report that the Baltimore & Ohio is seeking a short cut to its main line from the Pittsburg division. The Baltimore & Ohio now has its own track from Salisbury Junction, where it leaves the main line, to West Salisbury, a spur of six miles, which is kept in good condition to carry the heavy coal traffic of the region.

The line from West Salisbury to Jennings, Md., follows the Casselman river. It is thought to be the intention of the company to extend the line to Oakland, Md., at the top of the grade of the main line of the Baltimore & Ohio, thus giving two lines from Connellsville and the Pittsburg coal region to Cumberland, Md., in case it is necessary to ever use both. The Salisbury route will be a few miles longer than the Sand Patch route, but the gradient will be probably less, except on return of empty loads up the 17-mile grade from Piedmont to Altamont, at the top of the hill near Oakland. It will require, however, the building of the line from Grantsville to Oakland to give the road this line across the mountains. Another thing about the road is that it will be the only trunk line to have found a route across the Appalachian system without a big tunnel through the mountains."

"EVERYBODY SHOULD KNOW" says C. G. Hays, a prominent business man of Bluff, Mo., that Bucklen's Arnica Salve is the quickest and surest healing salve ever applied to a sore, burn or wound, or to a case of piles. I've used it and know what I'm talking about." Guaranteed by E. H. Miller, Druggist. 25c. 9-1

Distinctions.

A liar is the brevet brother of a thief. —Cumberland News.

Not necessarily. —Blood kin is not essential.

The major who is a colonel by brevet is not even presumably a brother of all the other majors or colonels.

The thief is a liar under full commission; the liar a thief by brevet. —Frostburg Mining Journal.

Sweitzer Distillery Sold.

Somerset, Aug. 12.—Jacob Lincoln and W. S. Matthews, both prominent Pittsburg business men, have purchased the Simon P. Sweitzer distillery in the West End for a consideration of $37,000. The lot, dwelling house and distilling appliances were included. It is stated that the gentlemen named above are negotiating for the purchase of distilleries at several other points in Somerset county.

BANK CLOSED.

Farmers' Bank of Meyersdale Makes Assignment and Closes its Doors.

The Farmers' Bank of Meyersdale closed its doors last Saturday night, and the proprietor of the bank, S. D. Livengood, has appointed Harvey M. Berkley, Esq., of Somerset, to close up its business.

As is always the case when banks quit business, many wild rumors are afloat which cannot be verified, but certain nervous people become distrustful of all banks, nevertheless, and they could be guilty of no greater folly. The STAR is pleased to state that according to advices received from people who are in a position to know whereof they speak, the depositors of the Farmers' Bank are not in the least danger of losing any of their money, and we shall adhere to this belief until facts to the reverse are proven.

At any rate the standing of no other bank in Somerset county is in the least impaired by the closing of the Farmers' Bank of Meyersdale, no matter whether the depositors of that institution are losers or not, and we feel pretty sure that they are not losers.

S. D. Livengood has always borne the reputation of being an extremely safe and conservative business man, and he is considered to be amply able to adjust the claims of all depositors of his bank within a reasonable time, to their entire satisfaction.

The Farmers' Bank was one of the oldest banking institutions of the county, and was also considered one of the soundest. Unfortunately, however, the cashier, Hugo Lorentz, died suddenly a few months ago, and as Mr. Livengood has reached an advanced age, and is no longer able to personally conduct the business as he used to, the death of his efficient cashier and business manager caused heavy runs on the bank, with the result as noted.

But people should not become unduly alarmed and withdraw their funds from their respective banking places. Such a course would be foolish in the extreme, and such tactics cause panics and losses when there is no occasion for such a state of affairs. Any bank will have to close, if all, or nearly all the depositors withdraw their money at once. The thing to do is to keep cool, use good judgment by leaving your money in bank, and disregard the many wild rumors you hear, unless they can be verified.

"REGULAR AS THE SUN"

The Fool Killer Negligent.

It is evident that the fool killer is overlooking his duty at Wilmington, Del. Last Friday Kitty Clover, described as "a big cat that for 11 years had been the delight of the household of Mrs. Dollie Hudson," died. Dr. J. R. Mehaffy pronounced it a case of heart failure. An undertaker was sent for. He provided a satin-lined casket with silver trimmings and a plate inscribed "Kitty Clover Zerhey, Aged 11 Years." The "remains" were installed in state, neighbors calling to view them, and at evening the cat was buried in the back yard, application for a resting place for her in Riverview cemetery having been rejected.

Affection for animals or household pets is to be admired rather than deplored, but when it is carried to this extreme it is shocking to the ordinary sense of decency. It is making a shameful mockery of the most solemn rite in the calendar of human experience, to say nothing of the feeling of resentment that such displays naturally arouse in the minds of the worthy poor, who are with us always, many of them too often lacking even affectionate regard, says the Pittsburg Gazette Times, and so say we.

To Work Prisoners.

Somerset, Aug. 15.—There is a movement on foot here to give prisoners at the county jail work. A board has been organized, and at a recent meeting Josiah Specht and Robert Augustine, both County Commissioners, were elected respectively President and Secretary of the Board, and Sheriff W. C. Begley was chosen Superintendent.

Various attorneys state that prisoners may work if they so desire, but that it is impossible to force them to work.

Grand Home-Coming for the Sons and Daughters of Maryland.

Many persons born and reared in Maryland have emigrated to other states to live, but once a Marylander, always a Marylander, is the thought that comes to most of them, at times, no matter whether they have roamed.

No true son or daughter of Maryland can ever forget her majestic mountains, her beautiful vales, her green fields and her clear, sparkling streams; and ever and anon there comes a yearning to return to the scenes of old, to wander back to the dear old state that figured so prominently in the early history of our great country.

"Maryland, my Maryland," how we love thee! How we dote on the good old days spent among thy green hills and leafy bowers! How in our fancy we wade again thy babbling brooks and chase anew the gaudy-colored butterflies over thy clover-scented meadows!

Brother Hamill, of the Oakland Journal, has the following to say concerning the Maryland Home-Coming, and all Marylanders should comply therewith:

"The home-coming movement that has been inaugurated by Governor Warfield is for the purpose of getting many of these old comrades of earlier days to pay us a visit, and to entertain them well when they come. A registry bureau has been established by the Maryland Home-Coming Association at its headquarters, 602 Fidelity Building, Baltimore, and Secretary Burroughs has his corps of clerks engaged in compiling a list of all former Marylanders of whom information can be secured. This list is growing rapidly, and is being entered up in two dozen books. To every person whose name is contained in these volumes there will be sent an invitation to Old Home Week, over the signature of Governor Warfield.

Everyone who knows of former Marylanders now residing out of the state is urged to send names and addresses at once to headquarters, for it is desired that no one be overlooked when the invitations go out. The invitations themselves will be interesting souvenirs for those who receive them.

"The readers of this paper are requested to send in names as early as possible. Send one name, or a dozen or a score. See to it that none of your former friends and neighbors are overlooked. Even if some of them cannot come home they will appreciate the fact that their people in the old state have not forgotten them."

No Money in Poetry.

A North Missouri farmer, whose hog was killed by a train, wrote the company's claim agent for a settlement. Being somewhat of a "poet," he penned his communication thus:

DEAR SIR:—
My razorback strolled down your track
A week ago to-day,
Your Twenty-Nine came down the line,
And snuffed his light away.
You can't blame me—the hog, you see,
Slipped through the cattle gate.
So kindly pen a check for ten,
This debt to liquidate.

He was rather surprised a few days later to receive the following:

SIR DEAR:—
Old Twenty-Nine came down the line,
And killed your hog, we know,
But razorbacks on railroad tracks
Quite often meet with woe.
Therefore, my friend, we cannot send
The check for which you pine;
Just plant the dead; place over the head—
"Here lies a foolish swine."
