MIX THIS.

Prepare it at Home By Shaking Ingredients Well in a Bottle.

What will appear very interesting to many people here is the article taken from a New York daily paper, giving a simple prescription, as formulated by a noted authority, who claims that he has found a positive remedy to cure almost any case of backache or kidney or bladder derangement, in the following simple prescription, if taken before the stage of Bright's disease:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and again at bedtime.

A well-known druggist here at home when asked regarding this prescription, stated that the ingredients are all harmless, and can be obtained at a small cost from any good prescription pharmacy, or the mixture would be put up if asked to do so. He further stated that while this prescription is often prescribed in rheumatic afflictions with splendid results, he could see no reason why it would not be a splendid remedy for kidney and urinary troubles and backache, as it has a peculiar action upon the kidney structure, cleansing these most important organs and helping them to sift and filter from the blood the foul acids and waste matter which cause sickness and suffering Those of our readers who suffer can make no mistake in giving it a trial.

As a result, her jails, penitentiaries, work houses and alms houses are also the fullest and the same can also be said of her lunatic asylums. Yet, with all this, Pennsylvania is, taking it all in all, the greatest and most useful state in the Union. #### A GREAT SPEECH.

Colonel Henry Watterson made a speech at the opening of the Bluegrass Fair, at Lexington, Ky., that would make him famous, were he not already famous. Following are some of the good and true utterances he made in his speech on the said occasion:

WARNING AGAINST "ISMS." "I protest against that religion which sands the sugar and waters the milk before it goes to its prayers. I protest against that morality which poses as a saint in public to do as it pleases in private. As the old woman said of the old man's swearing, "If there is anything I do hybominate, it is hypocrisy."
In my opinion those things which threaten Kentucky are not the gentlemanly vices of the race course and the sideboard, but perfidy and phariseeism in public and private life.

"I warn our people against the intru-sion of certain 'isms' which describe themselves as 'progress,' and muster under the standard of what they call 'God and morality,' but which, fifty years ago, went by a very different name; 'isms' which take their spirit from Cotton Mather, not from Jesus Christ; 'isms' which, where they cannot rule, would burn at the stake; 'isms' which embrace the sum of all fanaticism and intolerance.

NO ANGELS BY LEGISLATION.

"I refuse to yield to these. Holding the ministry in reverence as spiritual advisers, rejecting them as emissaries of temporal power. I do not intend, if I can help it, to be compelled to accept a rule of modern clericalism, which, if it could have its bent and sway, would revive for us the priest-ridden systems of the Middle Ages. I do not care to live in a world that is too good to be genial; too ascetic to be honest; too procriptive to be happy. I do not believe that men can be legislated into angels, even red-nosed angels.

The blue laws of New England, dead letters for the most part, did more harm to the people, while they lasted, than all the other agencies united. I would leave them in the cold storage to which the execration of some and the neglect of all consigned them long ago, not embalm and import them to Kentucky to poison the meat and drink and character of the people. I shall leave my home life, my professional career and my familiar associates to say whether I do not place, and have not always placed, the integrity of man, the purity of woman and the sanctity of religion above all earthly things; but I hope never to grow too old to make merry with my friends and forget for a little that I am no longer one and twenty. When the time arrives for me to go to my account, I mean to go shouting; to go with my flag flying.

FOR OLD KENTUCKY.

"I want to live yet a little longer to tell the truth and shame the devil, but if obscurity and adversity and neglect shall overtake me, it will be a comfort even in the valley of the shadow of death, that from first to last I fought not for the speckled gospels of the short-haired women and the long-haired men of Babylon, but for the simple manhood and lovely womanhood of Old Kentucky-never New Kentucky but always and forever, Old Kentucky -your birthright and mine.

A Hot Time at the Fair.

It is said that not less than 8,000 people and over 800 vehicles passed through the gates at the Meyersdale Fair and Races, last Thursday. It is also reported that about 8,888,888 "cuss" words were reeled off over one decided to comply with the Two-Cent Fare law, pending the decision on the constitutionality of the act in the Suball umpire—destined to be "cussed" loudly and long, all of which adds to a man's prominence and popularity.

THE TROLLEY.

Track Almost Completed-Cars Will

The track of the Pennsylvania & Maryland Street Railway Company is almost completed between Salisbury and Meyersdale. The track-layers are now within a very short distance of the Northern boundary line of Salis-bury, and it is likely that the last rail between the two towns will be spiked down by this evening, except at the railroad crossings.

The poles are nearly all erected, and most of the wire is strung. Some track in both boroughs is yet to be laid, some ballasting to be done along the line, county road crossings to be put in good condition, etc., all of which will be rapidly pushed to completion, and it now looks as though cars will be running at an early date, probably by Nov. 1st or sooner.

Negro Shoots Two Men in Meyers-

A shooting affray occurred in the bar room of the American House, in Mey-ersdale, last Thursday evening, when Henry Hudson, a negro, shot Joseph Eden, another negro, and Robert F

Rae, a white man. According to reports, Hudson blamed Eden for being too intimate with his (Hudson's) wife, and for that reason opened fire on him with a revolver. Eden tried to shield himself behind Rae, an innocent person, and the result was that two bullets intended for Eden took effect in Rae's arm. Another bullet entered Eden's breast, but it is believed that neither of the shots will prove fatal. Hudson is now in

Rowdies Pull Burgess Welfley's Whiskers.

The following news dispatch from omerset appeared in Monday's Pittsburg Gazette Times:

"When you point the town red you must pay for your paint." This edict Burges W. H. Welfley gave out to young men when he took office here nearly 25 years ago, and he has since stood by it. He is today nursing bruises and preparing bills for several alleged "painters."

Late last night the 75-year-old bur-Late last night the 75-year-old burgess noticed several intoxicated men fighting in a street. No policemen were present, and when the burgess attempted to make arrests he was handled roughly. Among the indignities he suffered while pinned down in the gutter was the pulling of his whiskers. The men escaped, but Welfley thinks he knows his assailants, and arrests are likely.

Somerset's venerable burgess should follow the style of the Burgess of Salis-bury, who wears neither whiskers nor hair on his head. If the above news item is true, no doubt the Somerset burgess is of the opinion that there are worse forms of punishment than having one's leg pulled.

According to late and reliable reports, the above sensational item from the Gazette Times is far from the truth, as most Somerset county dispatches to the daily papers are, and some people are beginning to think that certain correspondents to the city papers are the most conscienceless and abandoned liars on this side of hades, their final home. The latest reports have it that a drunken man clutched at and clung to Burgess Welfley's whiskers for a brief period, merely to have something to hold on to, and not with any intention to do bodily harm.

A CERTAIN CURE FOR CROUP-USED FOR TEN YEARS WITH-OUT A FAILURE.

Mr. W. C. Bott, a Star City, Ind. hardware merchant, is enthusiastic in his praise of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. His children have all been subject to croup and he has used this remedy for the past ten years, and though they much feared the croup, his wife and he always felt safe upon retiring when a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy was in the house. His recommended it to friends and neigh-
