DR. WILLIAMS' FLY AND INSECT DESTROYER

Protects Horses and Cattle from Fly Pests and Vermin. Guaranteed to Kill the Flies. Perfectly Harmless. A Grand Disinfectant and Easily Applied.

It is possible to have positive freedom from flies, lice and vermin which usually affect fowls, cattle and all live stock. This is the first preparation which actually does all that's claimed for it. Farmers, who have spent many weary summers fighting flies and insects, and the following winters endeavoring to be rid of lice and vermin in poultry houses, will find Dr. Williams' Fly and Insect Destroyer their "right-hand man."

After using this exterminator according to directions you will notice a decided improvement in all your stock. Where no agency has been appointed a sample tin free for your grocer's or hardware dealer's name.

The HOME LIBRARY of MEDICINE

6 VOLUMES—ILLUSTRATED
Half Leather Style Binding

The Final Household Encyclopedia of Medicine, Disease, Sanitation, Hygiene, Physical Culture and Long Life

THE GREATEST THING IN LIFE

Health being the greatest thing in life, it is astonishing that the one necessary reference work has not long ago been written, especially since the last generation has seen such revolutions in medicine, surgery and sanitation that no layman, and scarcely any one physician, can keep up with them. As a supplement to the physician's work, as a resource when a physician cannot be had, as an educator in the art of living, the Home Library of Medicine has received the most enthusiastic reception ever accorded a special encyclopedia.

THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS CO., 13 Astor Place, New York

Before this physicians have discouraged such works, and rightly. Now that a really standard household medical library is at hand to aid in the work of showing intelligent people how to live vigorously and happily, the best physicians are welcoming it with the highest praise. It is written so that any man, any woman and any household can understand and use it. Associated with Dr. Kenelm Winslow, a former Harvard Professor, in this work, is a notable board of 23 eminent specialists—landmarks in the medical profession.

EVERYBODY CAN UNDERSTAND and USE IT

Every important illness, small and great, is described as clearly and concisely as possible, and under each disease the reader is instructed what to do, whether to consult a physician, what to do until the physician comes, and what to do if a physician cannot be had. The remedies and treatment resulting from the very latest scientific knowledge are given; all data concerning prescriptions, etc., have been rigorously revised and safeguarded by the most famous specialists.

We are not book publishers and we do not have to make a profit out of this set other than the widened recognition of the REVIEW OF REVIEWS as the magazine most closely up to the times, a magazine that consistently helps in living and thinking. The six handsome volumes would be cheap at ten dollars, and this will be their price when they are put on sale at the book stores.

A Good Colt.
M. J. Glatfely recently sold a colt 17 weeks old that weighed over 600 pounds, to a Mr. Hillegass, at Dividing Ridge, this county. The colt was sired by Rudolph, a handsome black Percheron stallion owned by Norman B. Keim, of Elk Lick.

If any other person has a colt larger for its age than the Glatfely colt, we would like to have it reported to THE STAR.

A CERTAIN CURE FOR CROUP—USED FOR TEN YEARS WITHOUT A FAILURE.

Mr. W. C. Bott, a Star City, Ind., hardware merchant, is enthusiastic in his praise of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. His children have all been subject to croup and he has used this remedy for the past ten years, and though they much feared the croup, his wife and he always felt safe upon retiring when a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy was in the house. His oldest child was subject to severe attacks of croup, but this remedy never failed to effect a speedy cure. He has recommended it to friends and neighbors and all who have used it say that it is unequalled for croup and whooping cough. For sale at Miller's Drug Store. 11-1

Raspberries in October.

Raspberries in October are certainly a freak of nature, if not a luxury. On Tuesday morning Mr. H. M. Schrock walked into the office with a bunch of raspberries plucked from a bush the same morning. They were in all degrees of ripeness, from green to dead ripe. They were well developed berries and perfect fruit.—Meyersdale Republican.

A Lemon for Delinquents.

The editor sat in his office whence all but him had fled, and he wished that every deadbeat was in his grave—stone dead. His mind then wandered far away to the time when he should die and his royal editorial soul go scooting to the sky, when he'd roam the fields of paradise and sail over jasper seas, and all things glorious would combine his every sense to please. He thought how then he'd look across the great gulf dark and drear that'll yawn between his happy soul and those who swindle here, and when for water they would call and in agony they'd caper, he'd shout to them, "Just quench your thirst with the due that's on your paper."—Ex.

A QUICK AND SAFE REMEDY FOR BOWEL COMPLAINTS.

Twenty years ago Mr. Geo. W. Brock discovered that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was a quick and safe cure for bowel complaints. "During all of these years," he says, "I have used it and recommended it many times and the results have never yet disappointed me." Mr. Brock is publisher of the Aberdeen, Md., Enterprise. NAVAL GLORY OF THE NATION.

Excellent Opportunity for Maryland Home-Comers to see the Grandest and Greatest Naval School on the Face of the Globe.

[Special to THE STAR.]

Baltimore, Oct. 8th.—When the hosts of natives and former residents of this state return for Maryland's Old Home Week celebration, October 13th to 19th, they will find their friends and relatives here have not overlooked arrangements to give them an opportunity to visit the State Capital and enjoy an inspection of the grounds and buildings of the magnificent new Naval Academy.

While the big training school for the future Paul Joneses, Farraguts and Deweys is a national institution, Maryland naturally takes a great deal of pride in the establishment, and Marylanders feel that they have more than a half interest with Uncle Sam in the sturdy youths who are learning the art of war here, and in the cause they represent.

While Baltimore is to be the headquarters of the home-comers during the great reunion, one day has been set apart for a visit to the ancient capital of the old commonwealth, Annapolis, and it will be upon the occasion of this pilgrimage of home folks and home comers to that historic city that a general inspection of the indescribably beautiful grounds and structures of the Naval Academy will be made.

On Patriotic Day of Old Home Week, excursions will be run by rail and water from this city and all other parts of the state to Annapolis, and it is estimated that the quaint old town will be besieged by such a host as never before visited it.

The buildings of the great training school are not short of all that is magnificent and superb. The United States government has just about completed the expenditure of $10,000,000 in making them the most perfect structures in the world for the purposes for which they are designed. Whether viewed from land or from water, they present a massive and majestic appearance. Hundreds of persons have traveled across the ocean for a sight of them, and they will doubtless ever remain one of the principal points of interest for those who pride themselves on the achievements of their country.

Patriotic citizens will find another absorbing feature of interest in the Old Home Week program, which is to be the bombardment of Fort McHenry, a realistic reproduction of the historic engagement of a century ago. The government has consented to lend several warships to assist in this spectacular production.

Two's a Plenty, Four's a Crowd When in a Buggy.

Last Saturday night two couples drove into town perched in a light buggy drawn by two Berlin livery horses, and they were promptly arrested after arriving here, for the owner of the buggy and team wanted them "pulled in" and held until they made satisfaction for overdoing his horses and vehicle.

The couples consisted of two young men answering to the names of H. J. McQuade and F. J. O'Brien, of Berlin, and two girls from Coal Run giving their names as Miss Eaton and Miss Hotchkiss.

Of course, the buggy was well filled, as were also some of the occupants, if all reports are true, and they all seemed to be out for a high old time. The young men spent the night in the little borough hotel on the hill, and the girls were comfortably quartered at Hay's hotel until the next day, when they were escorted home by an officer. The young men were allowed to depart in peace, unattended, after they made satisfaction with the Berlin liveryman.

One of them first called on the editor of THE STAR, however, and proceeded to tell him just how he should deal with the affair in case it should be written up as a matter of news. Of course we obeyed his instructions—"nit." For the life of us, we can't understand why it is that so many young people who continually insist on making asses of themselves in public, should be so timid about seeing their names mentioned in a newspaper. No mercy is due those who have no mercy on either themselves or on the poor horses they so frequently abuse.

Cruelty to animals should be punished by imprisonment, and silly young girls who delight to ogle, giggle and associate with worthless young men, should be bent over the parental knee and vigorously caressed with a barrel stave, and the application should be made on the bare skin.
