THOUGHT-SEEDS.

From Everywhere.
Pride often goes a good ways toward preventing a fall.
A man is known by the company that is willing to keep him.
A soft answer can stir up anger if it is modulated for the purpose.
A fool and his foolishness as well as his money, are soon imparted.
When your mother is cruel to you, Nature is taking a good deep nap.
It is true that "blood will tell," but there is no use of making it shout.
Lean too much upon the approval of people, and it becomes a bed of thorns.
It is not so bad—this ending where you begin—if you took care to begin well.
Poverty is one of the chief nursing-grounds of the future brains of the world.
Watch the teacher of your child—and watch the person that watches the teacher.
Be careful with your jokes; you do not know which of them will be taken in deadly earnest.
Sympathy and kindness are never wasted; if they have no effect on the recipient, they at least benefit the bestower.
The reason the word "guarantee" is used so often and means so little nowadays, is that it is not enforced times enough by the law.
Most people carry sticks not with which to help themselves along, but to knock others down, so they can run over them and get ahead.
There be men who are thoroughly equipped for great success, with only one lack—ambition; and on account of this lack they are failures.
