

TRUST A WELL BRED WOMAN

To know where to get the best of everything. She knows that, especially in drugs, medicines, toilet articles and stationery, there's never anything gained, and frequently much lost by using something cheap and inferior.

We have quite a crowd around our place, but there's always room for one more, and our clerks are of the spry kind. They don't keep a customer hanging around half a day before being waited upon.

Sally's Birthday Gift.

By Abbie Tibbetts.

"You have never given me a nice birthday present yet, grandma," declared Sally fractiously. "You've always given me boxes of thread or packages of needles or something of that kind. But you always give Lucy a nice present."
"My money is my own," returned Grandma Brooks, rebukingly. "And my dear granddaughter Lucy is always respectful toward me."
"I think I'm the one who takes care of you, grandma—I take care of your house, anyhow. I should think you might give me a set of furs, or something," she added disconsolately.
"I'm afraid, Sally, you have inherited all the imperfections of your mother. She was an unending trial to me from the day she was born till she ran away to be married."
"I don't wonder my mother ran away from you," flashed Sally. "I should run away myself only—one thing I don't do."
"And then further speech was checked by a sob."
"Only Wesley Burbank is a very prudent young man," Grandma commented with a chuckle. "He prefers to wait; he thinks I'll probably leave you a lot of money sometime. But if I should you would spend it on furs and things, or lose it as your mother used to do before you. She actually lost $1,000 in bills once which I was sending by her to the bank."
"And just because my mother happened to lose that, I suppose I can never have any furs," wailed Sally, recurring to the original theme of the controversy.
"You might get something from the old cedar chest in the garret; there is a muff and boa which your mother used to wear."
"And which moths have probably devoured ages ago," declared the unappeased Sally.
"You can find out by looking," her grandmother returned indifferently. Sally did not feel very hopeful as she presently ascended the stairs to the murky little garret. And she felt still less hopeful when she lifted the lid of the cedar chest. And there, near the bottom, wrapped in rusty paper, were the muff and boa—not so ravaged by moths as might be presumed.
"I can trim off the eaten edges and make quite a passable article of this," Sally mused as she twirled the big muff in an interested inspection. "But what in the world is in the lining?" she asked herself, cautiously fingering something which was neither fur nor wadding, and shrinking with a little nervous dread of an ambushed mouse.
But that she warily drew forth at length was not a mouse. What she gazed upon with incredulous eyes was a roll of bills which, of course, must be the $1,000 which her mother had lost so long ago.
How long Sally stood dazed in that dim old garret she never knew. It was her hour of temptation. By the right of her long unpaid and thankless drudgery, the money was hers. With it she and Wesley could begin life so delightfully—but all the same the money belonged to her grandmother.

HOW TO AVOID PNEUMONIA.

You can avoid pneumonia and other serious results from a cold by taking Foley's Honey and Tar. It stops the cough and expels the cold from the system, as it is mildly laxative. Refuse any but the genuine in the yellow package. Sold by all Druggists. 2-1

New Railroad for Somerset County.

From Pittsburg comes the following rumor concerning another Somerset county railroad:
Announcement is made that the location of the proposed new line from Rockwood, on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, to Bakersville, has been made, but nothing has been done toward starting construction. It is probable that work will not be started until spring. Charles F. Hood, of Conneville, is president of the new company, which is known as the Rockwood & Bakersville Railroad Company, the charter having been granted several months ago. Comparatively little grading will be required, and it is expected that the road will be ready for operation next winter.

RANK FOOLISHNESS.

"When attacked by a cough or a cold, or when your throat is sore, it is rank foolishness to take any other medicine than Dr. King's New Discovery," says C. O. Eldridge, of Empire, Ga. "I have used New Discovery seven years and I know it is the best remedy on earth for coughs and colds, croup, and all throat and lung troubles. My children are subject to croup, but New Discovery quickly cures every attack." Known the world over as the King of throat and lung remedies. Sold under guarantee at E. H. Miller's drug store. 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free. 2-1

To Survey Somerset County.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 14.—Congressman A. F. Cooper had a conference today with Director Smith, of the Geological Survey, in an effort to have a government mineralogical survey of Somerset county. There are no government surveys of Somerset, and one is greatly desired, because of the big deposits of steam coal underlying that region.
It was suggested by Mr. Cooper that it would be necessary to have some arrangement made with the State Survey Board before the government could take any decisive action.

IT DOES THE BUSINESS.

Mr. E. E. Chamberlain, of Clinton Maine, says of Bucklen's Arnica Salve: "It does the business; I have used it for piles and it cured them. Used it for chapped hands and it cured them. Applied it to an old sore and it healed it without leaving a scar behind." 25c. at E. H. Miller's drug store. 2-1

A CURE FOR MISERY.

"I have found a cure for the misery malaria poison produces," says R. M. James, of Louellen, S. C. "It's called Electric Bitters, and comes in 50 cent bottles. It breaks up a case of chills or a bilious attack in almost no time; and it puts yellow jaundice clean out of commission." This great tonic medicine and blood purifier gives quick relief in all stomach, liver and kidney complaints and the misery of lame back. Sold under guarantee at E. H. Miller's drug store. 2-1

Damage Suits for Water Famine.

If the Somerset farmers have a right of action against coal companies for the drying up of their springs and other sources of domestic water supply, and such has been declared to be the law, the interesting question arises whether or not towns and cities have not a similar legal remedy against lumbermen who denude the land of forestry and dry up the larger sources of domestic water supply.
The cases are analogous, except that the communities would seem to have the more equitable right. The farmer sells his coal and sues for damages caused by its taking away. The communities have no traffic with the lumbermen, and owe them not even this moral obligation, if it can be so called. The water question is becoming bigger and wider as the years go by, says the Conneville Courier.

AN INSIDIOUS DANGER.

One of the worst features of kidney trouble is that it is an insidious disease and before the victim realizes his danger he may have a fatal malady. Take Foley's Kidney Cure at the first sign of trouble, as it corrects irregularities and prevents Bright's disease and diabetes. Sold by all Druggists. 2-1

Cough Caution

Never, positively never poison your lungs. If you cough—even from a simple cold only—you should always heal, soothe, and ease the irritated bronchial tubes. Don't blindly suppress it with a stupefying poison. It's strange how some things finally come about. For twenty years Dr. Shoop has constantly warned people not to take cough mixtures or prescriptions containing Opium, Chloroform, or similar poisons. And now—little late though—Congress says "Put it on the label. If poisons are in your Cough Mixture." Good! Very good! Hereafter for this very reason, mothers, and others, should insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. No poison marks on Dr. Shoop's labels—and none in the medicine, else it must by law be on the label. And it's not only safe, but it is said to be by those that know it best, a truly remarkable cough remedy. Takes no chance then, particularly with your children. Insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Compare carefully the Dr. Shoop package with others and note the difference. No poison marks there! You can always be on the safe side by demanding
