2130 Syracuse "EASY" Washers

were ordered for 30 days' trial by readers of our advertising in one medium only. 112 only were returned from all causes. It must be assumed that the 2018 people who kept and paid for the washer did so because it was worth more to them than the money it cost. They all had the privilege of returning the "EASY" at our expense same as you will have if you try one. They kept it because it solved the washing problem for them. You will keep it for the same reason if you try it. They expressed their satisfaction in the most positive terms. We will show extracts from their letters upon your request. Ask for our free book. It tells you why the "EASY" is a woman's machine. Pages 2-20 tell you how to cut washing expense in half and save your clothes whole, white and sweet, the way you like them. Pages 32-34 tell you how washing and bleaching are done in one operation.

THE DRINKING HOUSE OVER THE WAY.

The room was so cold, so cheerless and bare, With its rickety table and one broken chair, And its curtainless window with hardly a pane; To keep out the snow, the wind and the rain. A cradle stood empty, pushed up to the wall, And somehow that seemed the saddest of all. In the old rusty stove the fire was dead; There was snow on the floor at foot of the bed. And there all alone a pale woman was lying, You need not look twice to see she was dying; Dying of want—of hunger and cold. She will tell you the story—the story she told: "No, ma'am, I'm no better, my cough is so bad; It's wearing me out, though, and that makes me glad, For it's wearisome living when one's all And heaven, they tell me, is just like a home. 'Yes, ma'am, I've a husband, he's somewhere about; I hoped he'd come in 'fore the fire went out; But I guess he's gone where he's likely to die. I mean the drinking house over the way. It was not so always, I hope you won't think Too hard of him, lady, it's only the drink. I know he's ind-heated, for oh, how the cried For our poor little baby the morning it died. You see he took sudden, and grew very bad. And we had no doctor—my poor little lad! For his father had gone—never meaning to stay, I am sure, to the drinking house over the way. 'And when he came back 'twas far in the night, And it was so tired and sick with the fright, Of staying so long with my baby alone, And it cutting my heart with its pitiful moan. He was cross with the drink, poor fellow, I know It was that, not his baby, that bothered him. But he swore at the child, as panting it lay, And went back to the drinking house over the way. 'I heard the gate slam and my heart seemed to freeze Like ice in my bosom, and there on my knees By the side of the cradle, all shivering, I stayed; I wanted my mother, I cried and I prayed— 'The clock it struck two 'fore my baby was still, And my thoughts they went back to the home on the hill. When my happy girlhood had spent its short day, Far, far from the drinking house over the way. 'Could I be that girl! I, the heart-broken wife, There watching alone, while that dear little life Was going so fast that I had to bend low To hear if he breathed, 'twas so faint and so slow. 'Yes, it was easy, his dying, he just grew more white, And his eyes opened wider to look for the light. As his father came in 'twas just break of day, Came in from the drinking house over the way. 'Yes, ma'am, he was sober, at least, mostly I think, He often stayed that way to wear off the drink, And know he was sorry for what he had done, For he set great store by our first little son. 'And straight did he come to the cradle bed where Our baby lay dead, so pretty and fair; I wondered that I could have wished him to stay. When there was a drinking house over the way. 'He stood quiet a while, did not understand, You see, ma'am, till he touched the little cold hand; Oh, then came the tears, and he shook like a leaf, And said: "'Twas the drinking had made all the grief. 'The neighbors were kind and the minister came, And he talked of seeing my baby again; And of the bright angels—I wonder if they Could see into that drinking house over the way. 'And I thought when my baby was put in the ground, And the man with the spade was shaping the mound, If somebody only would help me to save My husband, who stood by my side at the grave. 'If I stay not so handy, the drink! The men that make laws, ma'am, surely don't think Of the hearts they would break, of the souls they would slay, When they licensed that drinking house over the way. 'I've been sick ever since, it can not be; Be pitiful, lady, to him when I'm gone; He wants to do right, but you never would think How weak a man grows when he's fond of the drink. 'And it's tempting him here and it's tempting him there; Four places I've counted in this very square Where a man can get whiskey by night and by day, Not to reckon the drinking house over the way. 'There's a verse in the Bible the minister read: 'No drunkard shall enter heaven,' it said, And he is my husband and I love him so, And where I am going I want him to go. Our baby and I will both want him there; Don't you think the dear Jesus will hear to my prayer? And please, when I'm gone, ask some one to pray For him at the drinking house over the way. —Sturgis (Ky.) Democrat.

A BOOST FROM NEVADA.

Our Political Platform Read With Interest in the Far West—Sam Kimmel's Mining Prospects.

WELLINGTON, Nev., March 11, 1908.

Mr. P. L. Livengood, Elk Lick, Pa.
My DEAR COUSIN:—I read your announcement in THE STAR, as a candidate for the State Legislature, with much pleasure. Therefore, I feel like offering congratulations, for I admire the stand you have taken; first of all that you only ask for a seat by means that are honorable and manly. Also the stand you have taken in regard to the liquor traffic; local option, in my opinion, is one of the first steps towards national prohibition, which I heartily endorse, and may God speed the day for its realization. The liquor traffic is a nuisance, a blot on civilization and the principal foundation for much unhappiness, poverty and crime in our fair land. Our penal institutions are crowded with unfortunates that can trace the beginning of their criminal careers by imbibing too freely of the flowing bowl.

No right thinking people will deny the above assertions, because they are the simple and naked truth. I do hope the majority of the voters of Somerset county are of the proper thinking kind, and will express their true sentiments at the polls in accordance, and elect to office such candidates that are seeking honorable places by honorable means only, to represent the state and county, or rather its people, by showing their colors before election and abiding by them thereafter. Any candidate that is trying to "carry water on both shoulders" before election, is only fit to misrepresent the people and office, and should be made go away back and sit down.

If I had any idea that you are seeking a seat in the Legislative halls of your great commonwealth simply to become a grafter and a bribe-taker, and for personal gain only, I would not wish you success. However, your past journalistic career should be sufficient proof to the voters of Somerset county that you are neither a dodger, nature-fakir, mollycoddle or grafter. Therefore, no voter expressing the true sentiment can fail to admire your principles, ability and honesty, and vote in accordance. I am yours very truly,
S. A. KIMMEL.

P. S. Have been engaged the past year at prospecting for the "precious stuff," and in developing a claim since July 1st. Am one of the discoverers and locaters of a number of what would indicate to be copper mining claims, judging from surface outcrops and assays. Mr. Warren, my mining partner, and myself, have been directing our finances, and other necessary energies in driving a tunnel, and have accomplished more than 400 feet of tunnel and other lateral work since July 1st. We have developed an ore body 30 feet wide. Conservative sampling shows 4 feet to carry 20 per cent. zinc. The remainder averages 18 per cent lead and 5 per cent zinc, and carries gold values up to $5 per ton, and a small percentage of copper and silver.

The unfortunate part for us is that it turned into lead and zinc instead of copper. A copper proposition of such magnitude and same percentage would mean a regular and profitable producer, one we could operate without forming a stock company, and would be much sought after by the copper kings, although 35 miles from railroad, and the nearest smelters at San Francisco and Salt Lake City.

Perhaps we are in the field too early for the kind of ore we have developed, or maybe our tunnel is either 400 feet too long or driven 400 years too soon. If you are elected to the Legislature, would like to have you use your good influences towards having about two cubic miles consisting of our mining possessions removed to the vicinity of Pittsburgh. More Evidence Against the Crime of Vaccination.

A victim of vaccination, a 9-month-old girl, died in Philadelphia on Friday night from blood poisoning, which is declared to have been the direct result of her inoculation with the vaccine virus, three weeks ago. Before she was vaccinated, the baby was strong and healthy, but two days after the operation, sores broke out in various parts of the body, and the doctor who was called in and who treated her up until the time of her death, said that the blood poisoning was caused entirely by vaccination. The matter has been brought to the attention of the secretary of the Anti-Vaccination League, and it will be investigated thoroughly. The secretary declared that the case was only one of hundreds where small children were made the victims of the practice of vaccination. The league is endeavoring to have vaccination entirely abolished.—Alexandria Gazette.

For Assembly, vote for P. L. Livengood, the candidate who is pledged to do all in his power for the repeal of Pennsylvania's compulsory vaccination law, if nominated and elected. These vaccination murders must cease.
