How's this for a Snake Story?

On the farm of Alex. Huston, near the boundary line between Rostraver township, this county, and Elizabeth township, Allegheny county, Mr. Huston and his hired man had a terrifying experience with a colony of snakes, one day last week. In the branches of a hollow tree, two enormous blacksnakes were discovered, and the hired man climbed the tree to give battle. He succeeded in despatching both of them, and while thus engaged, Mr. Huston set fire to the interior of the trunk to see if others might not be hibernating there. The result was surprising beyond his expectations. In a few minutes the tree seemed alive with scorching snakes hastening down the trunk, and wriggling rapidly to the ends of the branches. It is recorded that the hired man descended with much greater rapidity than he had gone up. In their flight most of the reptiles fell to ground, where they were speedily slain, and when counted, the dead numbered eighty-five, measuring in length from two to ten feet.—Greensburg Argus.

AN Ohio man claims to have invented an airship that "will stay up for months." It will doubtless make a bit with men who occasionally find it necessary to dodge their creditors.

It appears to be generally conceded that the Arkansas Democrats will refuse to send Senator "Jeff" Davis as a delegate to Denver. This will cut out one of the most amusing features of the entire show.

The fact that San Francisco restaurants are charging outrageous prices for serving our sailors, should not surprise any one very greatly. Schmitz and Ruel are both once more at large, you know, and the restaurant keepers have to get even on somebody, don't they?

A Joy Forever!

That's what the superb Pittsburg Visible Typewriter is, and it doesn't cost a small fortune, either, as some do that are not nearly as up-to-date.

None Better At Any Price!

The Pittsburg Visible is practically fool-proof, and just a little better than necessary.

For sale at THE STAR office. Also typewriter paper and carbon paper. Prices fair.

Among the troubles of the average candidate for office, none is more distasteful than the man with the subscription paper. During the recent primary campaign in this county, the man with the subscription paper for his church was in evidence on all sides, and the candidate was made his victim. In speaking of this matter, the Somerset Standard truthfully says that the mere presentation of such a subscription paper to a candidate means that he must either contribute, and thereby violate the Corrupt Practices Act, or be put under the ban of the voters of the organization to be benefitted. An organization that employs this questionable method of raising money deserves only exposition and censure. In other words, it is a system of hold-up and blackmail that cannot be too severely condemned. It is on a par with some of the worthless advertising schemes that business men are frequently asked to invest in for the benefit of some church or other organization. It's a case of stand and deliver, or take the consequences. Liberty-loving, right-thinking men with the amount of grit that all men should have, will prefer to take the consequences and give all blackmailers a wide berth. The man who is always ready to "toady" to some organization on account of implied boycott or other calamity, is unworthy to bear the name of man. True patriots and men who make commonwealths and nations great are made of sterner stuff than he who quakes in his boots and "shells out" to every blackmailer who approaches him with a subscription paper.

If Anna Gould reads one-half the comments on her prince in the daily press, she is hardly likely to feel like a merry widow.

ILLINOIS is going to send a Lemon to Denver as one of the Democratic delegates. Needless to say, this lemon is also for Bryan.

When giving thanks for the blessings vouchsafed us, don't forget that the reporters have been unable to locate Evelyn Thaw for over a week.

A DEMOCRATIC candidate for Congress in Illinois has written an essay on the cure for a panic. We haven't read it, but it is probably another form of gold cure he advocates.

"WHAT is the difference, off hand, between a sanitarium and a sanitarium?" asks the Richmond Times-Dispatch. About $50 per week in favor of the latter, we think.

THE joke about the backwoods people who are still voting for Andrew Jackson can be indefinitely continued by simply substituting Bryan for Jackson, a decade or two from now.

A NUMBER of Southern clergymen want to separate prohibition from politics. That may be more or less hard to do, now that the politicians have found out what a good thing it is.
