FIRE INSURANCE

Can you afford to have your dwelling or household goods go up in smoke without a cent of insurance with which to cover your loss?

Do It Now!

Call on E. H. Miller, at the Elk Lick drug store, and have him show you how small the cost would be to have a policy written insuring you against such losses.

W. B. Cook & Son.

Twice, But Never Again!

You get one temporary set of teeth, and one so-called permanent set. That is, they are pretty nearly permanent if you treat them well.

If you don't, you take your food in liquid form, or you wear "store teeth." Good brushes, a safe dentifrice, an antiseptic mouth wash and gargle, not only preserve the teeth from decay, but they make you feel a lot fresher in the morning.

We have the best of all three needful things.

B. & O. Train Suffers Peculiar Accident Near Garrett.

Chicago and New York express train No. 6, which leaves Connellsville for the East at 9:40 o'clock, was wrecked this morning two miles west of Garrett and 15 people were injured, three of them seriously. The wreck was one of the most peculiar in the history of railroading. As the train was speeding over the long stretch of good track west of Garrett, the heavy Pullman chair car attached to the rear of the train jumped the track on a slight curve.

After leaving the track it bounded over on its side and was dragged along the track for a distance of 300 feet before it became uncoupled from the train. At this juncture a small embankment was encountered and it rolled over this, lighting almost upside down.

The passengers were thrown violently from their seats, and as the big car was hauled over the rails and bounded over on the rough ground they were thrown about in every direction and severely injured. The observation platform of the train was well filled with passengers enjoying the delightful ride through the mountains, and the sudden contact of the coach's wheels with the ground threw them in all directions.

The train was quickly stopped and the officials hastened to call all the physicians in the neighborhood. They arrived from Meyersdale, Garrett and Berlin, and were soon busily engaged in dressing the wounds of the injured passengers. The wreck occurred at 11:10 o'clock and the train was able to proceed with the injured to Cumberland shortly after 12 o'clock. At this point ambulances and doctors had been summoned to meet the train and take such of the injured to the hospital as needed that care.

A relief train was hastily made up here at noon and a number of physicians ordered to the scene of the wreck, but advices from Garrett stated that all the injured had been given medical examination and had been taken aboard the train to Cumberland. The special train, however, left here with officials to investigate the cause of the wreck.

The train was in charge of Conductor George Bishop and Engineer Frank Hughes, two of the oldest men in the service. The train was drawn by engine No. 2111, carrying seven cars. The observation car was a total wreck.—Connellsville Courier, May 29.

BUCKLEN'S ARNICA SALVE WINS.

Tom Moore, of Rural Route 1, Cochran, Ga., writes: "I had a bad sore come on the instep of my foot and could find nothing that would heal it until I applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve. Less than half of a 25 cent box won the day for me by affecting a perfect cure." Sold under guarantee at E. H. Miller's drug store. 7-1

Shamrock Mines Near Rockwood Change Hands.

Rockwood, May 30.—The Iron City Coal & Coke Company, of Pittsburg, of which E. E. Pool was the head, and which concern was operating mines at Shamrock about two miles north of here, have sold their interests in this county to the Pittsburg-Cambria Coal Company, which has its office in the Bakewell building, Pittsburg. These interests include 200 acres of coal, sixty-five miners' houses, a complete mining equipment, with a capacity of 500 tons a day. The new firm has already commenced improvements and is now opening a new slope at Shamrock, which will increase the capacity to 1000 tons a day. The consideration in this deal is said to have been $25,000.—Connellsville Courier.

Meyersdale Wants Free Delivery.

In keeping with his past spirit of progress Postmaster Naugle was engaged yesterday in the work of circulating a petition requesting that the Postoffice Department establish free delivery in this city, and the petition is being very generously signed. The gross receipts of the office for the year ending March 31, 1908, were $10,296.97. The minimum amount of business entitling a town to free delivery is $10,000, which leaves us a balance to the good. The borough authorities have consented to post street signs and property owners will cheerfully number their houses. By all means let us work together to secure free mail delivery.—Meyersdale Republican.

The News from Addison.

June 1st, 1908.—Last Saturday the old soldiers and everybody in general, in this vicinity, observed Decoration day. The Old Fellows and Knights of Pythias were invited to march with them, and the invitation was accepted. There was a good turn-out of both orders. An excellent drum corps, of Scottsdale, Pa., furnished the music for the day, while the orator for the occasion was the Hon. Judge Van Swearingen, of Uniontown, Pa. Mr. M. H. Dean, of Addison was chairman. The turn-out was large, but rain interfered and cut the parade and services shorter than they otherwise would have been.

On Sunday, the 14th inst., the Knights of Pythias, of Addison, will have their memorial services at 2 o'clock p. m. They will meet at the I. O. O. F. Hall, and from there they will go to the cemetery. After the service at the cemetery is over, they will assemble at the M. E. church, where they will listen to a special sermon on the principles of the order, by Elder Paul, the local M. E. pastor. The Listonburg Brass Band will furnish music for the occasion. All are invited.

Hiram Largent, agent for the U. S. Express Company at Morgantown, W. Va., who was just recently married, was here with his new bride, Decoration day, returning home on Sunday.

THINKS IT SAVED HIS LIFE.

Lester M. Nelson, of Naples, Maine, says in a recent letter: "I have used Dr. King's New Discovery many years, for coughs and colds, and I think it saved my life. I have found it a reliable remedy for throat and lung complaints, and would not more be without a bottle than I would be without food." For nearly forty years New Discovery has stood at the head of throat and lung remedies. As a preventive of pneumonia, and healer of weak lungs it has no equal. Sold under guarantee at E. H. Miller's drug store. 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free. 7-1

Berlin Bottling Works Destroyed.

In some unknown manner a serious fire occurred in the plant of The Square Deal Bottling Works on North street, at about one o'clock, Tuesday morning. The fire was first discovered by William Spencer, who lives close to the building. Mr. Spencer sounded the alarm, and in a very short time, the "fire laddies" were on the scene, with the hose cart, and while they succeeded in putting out the fire in a few minutes of time, the building was completely gutted, and the main part of the contents entirely destroyed. In fact everything in the building was entirely destroyed, or reduced to almost irreparable damage. The loss of the contents will run in the neighborhood of $1,000, while the amount of insurance carried on the stock could not be learned.—Berlin Gleaner.

A GRAND FAMILY MEDICINE.

"It gives me pleasure to speak a good word for Electric Bitters," writes Mr. Frank Conlan, of No. 438 Houston St. New York. "It's a grand family medicine for dyspepsia and liver complications; while for lame back and weak kidneys it cannot be too highly recommended." Electric Bitters regulate the digestive functions, purify the blood, and impart renewed vigor and vitality to the weak and debilitated of both sexes. Sold under guarantee at E. H. Miller's drug store. 50c. 7-1

Trouble at College.

A Boy's Surprise.

At the time of which I am speaking I owned a dog, called Watch, who was my constant companion, and who had never up to that time met his match. So that with the old long rifle, the dog, and such a good opinion of my own fighting qualities, I was not a bit frightened when I ran afoul of my first wildcat. I found him in an oak tree, at what we called the stone quarry; the quarry had never been worked to any extent, but the stone lay in ledges, of which there were four or five, and on each ledge there was five or six feet of smooth and level surface. Then it was four or five feet of a drop to the next ledge, and so on down. The oak tree in which the cat had taken refuge grew at top of the highest ledge, and when standing upon that ledge I was within thirty feet of the cat, which was on a limb directly over the ledge on which I stood.

Making sure that Watch saw the cat, and was ready for business, I pulled up the old Kentucky, took aim at the place where his heart ought to have been, and blazed away. The cat went up into the air, and came down directly upon old Watch, and I chuckled to think what would happen to that cat when Watch got a grab at him. But for some unaccountable reason Watch failed to get his hold, was knocked head over heels, and then the cat came my way, striking me on the left breast and shoulder, knocking me clear off that ledge and down upon the next one, the cat going over with me and disappearing in a hole in the rocks.—Forest and Stream.

A Colorado Epslode.

I went down town, thinking that things were coming rather fast, and went to the stable to see how my horse looked after his hard ride. Just as I got to the stable here was a long cowboy—a stranger to me—saddling up my horse.

"What are you going to do with that horse?" I asked. "I am going to ride him," he replied. "No you are not; he is my horse," I said. "He is not. He belongs to Brown, the stable man," was his answer, and he started to mount him.

The horse jumped and I grabbed at the bridle, the long cowboy hit me and we quit the horse, and at it we went with our hands.

In about ten minutes Brown, the stable man, and the marshal arrived, pulled us apart, and got our guns. Neither of us had thought of them, as the pace was too fast, I guess. Brown had forgotten my horse and told the cowboy to take the gray horse. He had naturally chosen the best one. We both looked as if we had been in a cyclone. So we washed up, agreed it was a nice fight, and parted good friends. I had a black eye and felt sore all over, and he was mused up some. I think I could have licked him if they had let us alone.—Forest and Stream.

Given Light Sentence.

John Lake, J. P. Hartel and Geary Johnson, three young men who were in the county prison for a number of weeks, charged with robbery, on Monday went before Judge Kooser and entered a plea of guilty. The offense was committed near Ashtola, and consisted of holding up of Italians and taking beer from them.

At the time of the arrest the above men were thought to be bad characters, but an investigation has developed that they come from good families, and that they have held responsible positions. Their last employment was with a railroad company near Bessemer, and being out of employment, they came to this county. Judge Kooser fined them $25 each, and sent them to jail for one week.—Somerset Standard.

Elected a Superintendent.

At a meeting on Saturday, the County Poor House Directors entered into a contract with Dr. J. J. Emmens, of Holidaysburg, who will take charge of the County Home as General Superintendent. Dr. Emmens has had several years experience in the Blockley Institute for the Insane in Philadelphia and at the Insane Hospital in Blair county. Dr. Emmens will take charge next week. John Mowry, who has been the steward of the county institution for more than a year, will take charge of the farm.—Somerset Standard.
