Soda Water Girls

generally have good complexions. Summertime is a time when liquid nourishment is best, and while soda water is primarily merely a pleasant beverage, it is a mild tonic for the stomach, and with fruit syrups and ice cream, really contains a good deal of nourishment, and is much better than too much solid food in the torrid time.

We pride ourselves on our absolutely pure soda water.

The Plaintiff of Our Waste Basket.

The following was heard proceeding from the capacious, cavernous depths of our waste basket, several days ago:

"O dear! I am as full now as I can stick, and yet you keep piling in a lot more trash. And there comes another batch. Now, I should just like to know why that is put in here. Anonymous, is it? Well if anybody is simple enough to write an anonymous letter, I will strain a point and take it in.

"And that? Ah, I see! the writer thought that 'X. Y. Z.' or * * *, or 'A reader,' or 'A Friend,' was a signature. Well, it takes people some time to learn. "And what is that? Yes, yes; it is a postal card beginning: 'That article of yours on so and so, is an outrage in a (?) paper.' Well, it doesn't take much room; toss it in.

"My! but that is bulky; it makes me groan just to look at it. Oh, 'tis a very long and minute account of a Sunday school entertainment, giving the name of each scholar, the hymns in full, description of the presents, making somewhat more than a column. Sorry, sorry, I know you would gladly have put it in the paper instead of in me, if it had been of any reasonable length, and would have done the people good. Very sorry that the writer just shut them out by his long-windedness. "But why that was? Oh, so it is; rolled, isn't it? would take the best part of five minutes to get it open with the aid of a sharp knife; and by the time it was opened, the contents would be mutilated beyond usefulness. All right, poke it in.

"And that? Oh, I see; somebody has sent you a long, rambling account of something in the local paper, instead of putting the essence of it into half a dozen lines. Well, if the sender did not care enough about the item to take the trouble to put it in shape for publishing, I will make room.

"And now you are going to load me with another mass. Ah, I see! personal resolutions expressing unutterable affliction, sympathy and grief, which nobody was willing to pay a cent a word for. Shove them in.

"And here is something which does set very heavy, though I am used to such things. A long obituary, which is without the cent a word, and which is accompanied by a request to send half a dozen copies of the paper containing it, as 'none of us take the paper.' It is of no use; words fail me. Silence is the only adequate tribute to such colossal cheek."

Rev. I. W. Williams, Huntington, W. Va., testifies as follows: "This is to certify that I used Foley's Kidney Remedy for nervous exhaustion and kidney trouble, and am free to say that Foley's Kidney Remedy will do all that you claim for it." Elk Lick Pharmacy, E. H. Miller, proprietor. 8-1

Hooversville Loses Heavily by Fire.

On the 20th ult., the borough of Hooversville, this county, was badly damaged by fire. The loss is estimated to be between $20,000 and $30,000, fourteen buildings being consumed. The fire originated in a barn owned by Allen Clark, and is said to have been caused by some lads who were playing in the building at the time with fire-crackers and matches.

The properties destroyed and the amounts of damage, approximately, are as follows: Livery stable of Daniel Ober, $7,000; two frame houses of S. L. Lenhart and Mr. Matthews, each about $800; residence of Daniel Ober, $3,500; hardware store and barn of Daniel Shaffer, $5,000; residence of Dr. C. R. Bittner, $3,000; residence of I. M. Hoover, $3,000, and minor losses on adjoining properties.

It was at first thought that the Co-operative Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Berlin, of which J. J. Zorn is secretary, would be a heavy loser by the Hooversville fire, but Mr. Zorn says his company's loss will amount to but a few hundred dollars, as it luckily happened that their risks were on the opposite side of the street from the burned buildings.
