EXPLORER PERISHES IN ARCTIC REGIONS

Mylius Erichsen and Party Are Carried Out to Sea on Ice Floe.

Attempted to Cross a Region Devoid of Both Animal and Vegetable Life.

Copenhagen .- Mylius Erichsen, the Danish explorer, has met his death in the far north. According to informa tion received in a telegram to the committee of the Denmark-Greenland expedition, Brichsen and two compan-ions that sailed with him from Co-penhagen June 24, 1906, to the north-eastern coast of Greeniand, perished by a snowstorm.

Minneapolis.—Three children aged one, two and four years, respectively, were bure of to death. The mother, Mrs. Frank Lindberg, left the house in the morning to go shopping. She locked the children in a room. The house caught fire and was burning flercely before the neigh-bors heard the screams of the chil-dren. It was then too late to rescue the little ones.

penhagen June 24, 1906, to the norm-enstern coast of Greenland, perished by a snowstorm. The three men were on an ice floe when they were overtaken by the storm. The floe drifted out to the sea. The provisions of the explorers soon became exhausted. They drift-ed for some days, growing weaker and weaker. Then the floe was fin-ally driven back to land, the three men did not have sufficient strength to make the effort necessary to re-turn to the station. The Esquimau, who brought in the news of the dis-aster arrived at the station in a dy-ing condition and succumbed imme-diately after making his report. Mr. richeren planned this last trip and this was the most adventurous portion of his undertaking, to cross the ice cap of Greenland at its broad-est part by means of snowshoes, dog sledges and an automobile. He pro-posed to set out about March, 1908, accompanied by one of his staff and two Greenlanders, belonging to the crew. Other members of the expedi-tion, with fully loaded sledges, were to go with him the first third of the journey. After leaving his compan-lons, Erichsen and the three men he planned to take with him, were to proceed to the unknown ice dome of the interior, which rises at its high-est point, to 10,000 feet above sea level. Mylius Erichsen had devoted sev-eral years to the exploration of Greenland. His first expedition re-turned from that country in Novem-ber, 1904, after two years and a half in the north. The expedition that sailed from Copenhagen two years ago was supported financially by the Danish government and als plans had been approved by many societies and scientists, including the American Geographical society.

Many of the finer residents of the city and hundreds of shops in the bazars have been footed, the loss in this direction being placed at more than $1,000,000. The American missionaries in the city have been exposed to stray bul-lets, but, although they have had some narrow escapes, none of them has been injured. A very bitter feud is going on be-tween the constitutional progressives, who hold 11 wardens of the city, and the reactionaries, who hold one large warden.
