Full Sets of False Teeth for Dogs.

News comes from London that many dentists there have established "parlors," for the treatment of dogs, and that the paironage of the owners of "show dogs" has made the innovation a profitable one. A defective tooth may lose the prize to a dog otherwise perfect as to "points," and it is now a common practice with fanciers to send their pets to the dentist as regularly as wise parents send their children. Single new teeth from $4 to $5 each, while as much as $135 is paid for a full-set for a beloved old canine member of a household.

It was realized about 15 years ago, more or less, that a series of earthquake observatories, with delicate instruments, could obtain records of shocks in any quarter of the globe, and identify the spot with certainty, even if there were no witnesses of the acual occurrence. From the records of these observatories it appears that there are every year some 30,000 minor shocks of earthquake in different localities.—Current Literature.

LITTLE GIRLS AS JURORS.

All in Favor of Whipping For the Incorrigible Boy.

Judge Van B. Prather, of the Probate Court of Wyandotte County, is a busy man, but he took five minutes off yesterday afternoon to speak to a bevy of little girls from Toad-a-Loup, a suburb of Armourdale, who had come to the Juvenile Court as witnesses in the case of Ezra Moulton, charged with incorrigibility.

While the lawyers were arguing the case before Probation Officer W. W. Lacey, Judge Prather invited the witnesses into his private office. "Now, little girls," said the judge gravely, when the youthful visitors were all seated in an expectant circle, "most of you came here in behalf of the defendant, little Ezra Moulton. I have written my decision on a silp of paper. You will each take one of these slips and write on it your opinion as to what the punishment of Ezra Moulton should be—a good whipping by his mother here in the courtroom or several long years in the house of correction."

When Judge Prather returned to the office after leaving the jury to meditate a few minutes he found them all in favor of the whipping.

"That was what I had written," said the judge, triumphantly. "The jury is dismissed."

Mrs. Moulton, however, refused to whip her child in the courtroom, and so was allowed by the court to take him to the back porch, where in a few minutes the judicial decree was allowed by the court to take him to the back porch, where in a few minutes the judicial decree was Wagner's Opera Cut.

After the performance of the "Gotterdammerung" in Paris recently according to Figaro, complaint was entered by Wagner enthusiasts because the opera had not been performed in its entirety. The directors, Massager and Broussau, made reply in an open letter to the effect that to render the complete work several times in one week would overtax the performers, and "inasmuch as we give four hours and twenty minutes of music, we should not be blamed for omitting parts which could be rendered in seventeen minutes."

FINANCE AND TRADE REVIEW

BUYING STILL RESTRICTED Industrial Operations, Also, Far Below Normal in Most Directions. Tariff Bogy Blamed.

Bradstreets sums up the situation as follows:

"Trade is quiet as a whole, and industrial operations are still below normal in most lines. Conservatism in buying is still marked, and there is also present the feeling of disappointment hitherto noted at the failure of spring trade to open up more rapidly. Some measures of trade volume showed slight recessions in January from December, but the failure record was an encouraging one, and the improvement over the same month a year ago, when business was at a low ebb, is general and marked. Collections are little changed, and classed as fair, as a whole.

"The disposition in many lines is still to attribute slowness of demand in opening up to fear of tariff revisions, but there is manifest now a disposition to recognize more fully the play of natural requirements proceeding from reduced earning power of the community.

First, probably, in point of activity at present are the demands for fertillizers, sedds, implements and similar goods, this being most misted at Vestern centers.

"The leather trades are fairly, active and the shipments of shoes are making a far better exhibit than some time ago, or than in the same period a year ago.

"In the manufacturing industries such as fron and steel, business is quieter. Some large orders for rails have been placed, but pig from is weaker and finished products are less active and finished products are less active despite concessions in many lines.

"Business failures in the United States for the week ending February active despite concession.

"Business failures in the United States for the week ending February 4 were 286, against 311 last week; 272 in the same week of 1908; 198 in 1907; 204 in 1906, and 207 in 1905. Canadian failures for the week number 37, which compares with 42 last week and 50 in this week last year."

Troubles Cured by Cuticura.

"When my little Vivian was about six months old her head broke out in boils. She had about sixty in all and I used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment which cured her entirely. Sometime later a humor broke out behind her ears, and spread up on to her head-until it was nearly half cowered. The humor looked like a scald, very red with a sticky, clear fluid coming from it. This occurred every spring. I always used Cuticura Soap, and Ointment which never failed to heal it up. The last time it broke out it became so bad that I was discouraged. But If continued the use of Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent until she was well and has never been troubled in the last two years. Mrs. M. A. Defining Toptometrist."

An optometry bill will be presented in the Pennsylvania legislature—this winter! It will be designed for the protection of the public no less than for the safeguarding of the profession of optometry. This bill will be similar to one passed by the degislature of New York state and signed by Gov. Charles E. Hughes. It will bring into prominence a word that is becoming generally used throughout the United States. Soon everybody will be using "optometrist." What is that? It is the name adopted by the American Association of Opticians at its convention at Milwaukee, Wis, to designate those skilled in the practice of optometry and optometry is the employment of any means other than the use of drugs for the measurement of the powers of vision and the adaptation of fenses for the aid thereof. Governor Hughes, when signing the New York Optometry bill, said: "The practice of optometry exists and will continue to exist, and unquestionably it forms a proper subject for regulation; I, therefore, approve the bill."

Predicting Earthquakes.

Thomas A. Jaggar, a professor in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, suggests in a magazine article that the nations of the world unite in the study of cruthquakes and role canic actions in order to gain, the scientific knowledge necessary to forcast the recurrence of these natural disturbances, to determine where the danger zones he and to warn the inhabitants of an endangered locality when to prepare for the worst. Something on this line has been done in the past, but very little. Certain scientists now claim to have forefold the recent carthquake that laid low Messing and Reggio, but if their prophecies were made public they were practically ignored.

The Ingenuity of Inventors.

The ingenuity of Inventors and manufacturers is ever at work in the endeavor to reduce the expense of production and at the same sime to improve the quality of articles having a large sale. This is not only beneficial to the purchasing public but it inures to the benefit of the producer in increasing sales and preventing competitions. This has been so in the case of farm machinery, clothing, shoes, bicycles, etc., and now it is apparent in the safety razor field. Thou, sands of this style of razor have been sold at from $1.50 to $5 each and givlen, satisfaction. Recently manufacturers have applied more scientific principles and improved methods in their manufacture, and the result is seen in the "Shrp Shavr" razor, which is sent postpaid for twenty-five cents in stamps by the Book Publishin House, ol 134 Leonard estreet. New York. It is superior to any razor, sold, being bought largely by those already owning the highest priced razors. Not every one knows that the best results are obtained by having two or three razors and alternating them in use. This practice of atternating possibly accounts for the very large sale of this low priced implement.
