Venus Has No Day.

Venus Has No Day. Inhabitants of Venus, if there are any, must find it extremely difficult to establish units of time. Venus al-ways turns the same face toward the sun, so the planet has no day, and the lack of a moon, deprives it of a month. Finally, it has no year, for its axis of rotation is perpendicular to the plane of its orbit and the latter is almost circular.

For months I had tottered about on crutches, a discour-aged and despairing man. I was prac-tically crippled with lumbago. I decided to try Doan's Kidney Pills and a short wille after I began using them I was able to walk. After taking seven boxes I threw away my crutches and the lumbago has not returned from that day to this. Through using Doan's Kidney Pills I am to-day a healthy man." man.

Wise poultry keepers do not feed milk, sweet or sour, in troughs or open vessels. They get the whole good in milk products into a crumbly mash. Slop the hogs, but not the chickens or turkeyz.—Farmors' Home Journal. New York.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s "Weekly Review of Trade" says: "Already the price readjustments are beginning to work toward the expected improvement in demand, and this and President Taft's inau-gural declarations favorable to 'that measure of stability,' which is 'essen-tial to the life and growth of all busi-ness,' are important contributions to The is no greater need of the to-bacco growing sections of our terri-tory than a system of crop rotation that will increase soil fertility and the production of tobacco without mess,' are important contributions to financial and trade confidence, and make stronger the hope of full indusness, are important contributions to financial and trade confidence, and make stronger the hope of full indus-trial recovery. "Both in sentiment and amount of new business in sight the iron and steel trade shows some gain. New business that is being figured on ag-gregates a good volume. "Dullness is still pronounced in pig iron, with quotations on a lower basis. "In spite of the upward tendency of raw material, buyers of cotton goods make a determined effort to se-cure a lower level of quotations. There is an entire absence of export demand from China, although it is believed that sellers will now accept proces that were refused in January. No new business is reported in wool-en goods, but it is believed that buy-ers will eventually need considera-bly more merchandise to meet their season's requirements. Trade in wool goods, such as kerseys and thibets, is exceedingly quiet, but dress goods are generally well sus-tained, with staple lines leading in strength. "Quiet conditions continue in the New England shoe market. New or-ders are small and for immediate re-quirements only, and there is no dis-position to contract ahead for large quantities. Some factories are still busy on old orders, but a number have laid off part of their cutting staff. The demand for hides conti-nue selack, with a further seasonable weakness in prices on both packer and country hides." MARKETS.

Thought Her Disfigured For Life —Used Cuticura: No Scar Left. "My baby was sitting beside the fender and we were preparing the breakfast when the frying-pan full of boiling grease was up-set and head. Some one wiped the scald with a towel, pulling the entire skin off. We took her to a doctor. He tended her a week and gave me some stuff to put on. But it all festered and I thought the baby was disfigured for life. I used about three boxes of Cuticura Ointment and it was wonderful how it healed. In about five weeks it was better and there wasn't a mark to tell where the scald had heen. Her skin is just like velvet. Mrs. Hare, 1 Henry St., South Shields, Durham, Eng-land, March 22, 1008." Elaborate Thermometer. Some curious thermometers were made. Otto de Guericke, Burgomas-ter of Magdeburg, made one which was 20 feet long and gorgeous with blue paint and gilt stars. It con-sisted of a large globe fastened to a tube, both of copper. The tube was bent upon itself to form a very nar-row U, in which was placed the re-quisite amount of alcohol. One arm of the U was shorter than the other and open at the top. On the liquid was a foat, to which was attached a cord passing over a pulley. At the other end of this cord was hung a gilt angel, its finger pointing to a scale on which the degrees were painted.

Recently, in the presence of a number of farm neighbors, Frank Hardart, Jr., of Glenloch, Pa., gave an exhibition of the use of his autoan exhibition of the use of his auto-mobile to grind corn, cut fodder and other things where power was need-ed. He had jacked up the auto from the ground, and used one of its wheels revolved by the auto engine as a driving wheel for the belt to operate the feed grinder and fodder cutter. It is likely that many uses for the auto will be found when the roads are too bad for travel, and when power is needed and can be utilized in the operation of farm ma-chinery.—Epitomist.

INSTRUCT THE COLTS. The first year of a colt's life should be devoted to instruction. It will learn more easily when six months old than when a year old. It can al-so be controlled more easily. Hence it is wise to handle the colt early. Its early training should not stop with breaking to the halter. It should be handled until it will drive as well as lead. To teach it all this and to keep it from forgetting what it has learned, is a little trouble, but if it is of good stock the trouble will be paid for. Practice a little common sense with the young stock and note the high rate of interest coming back to you as the result of the invest-ment.
