WHAT PIGS CAN BE TAUGHT.

In France They Hunt Truffles and Draw the Plow.

Owing to its obstinacy and seeming stupidity the pig is usually classed among the dull animals. Take, however, is not a just estimate of its intelligence. "Learned" pigs that could pick out letters of the alphabet have been exhibited at fairs. Throw a pig into deep water, and it will begin swimming ashore at once, which is more than most men are able to do. In France they have been trained to hunt for truffles (which are hidden underground) and to draw the plow. They have even been taught to act as pointers. In most cases they are trained by means of reward for success. In pointing, for example, when they spot the bird, they drop their tail and ears and sink on their knees and do not rise until after the bird has risen they are rewarded with pudding.

Fear of the Law.
The literal strictness of German rules and regulations has always been a matter of amusement to other nations which do not insist so rigidly on the letter of the law. A writer in the Washington Star recently told a story illustrating this point. Two men, Schmidt and Krauss, met one morning in the park.
"Have you heard," said Schmidt, "the sad news about Muller?"
"No," said Krauss. "What is it?"
"Well, poor Muller went boating on the river yesterday. The boat capsized and he was drowned. The water was ten feet deep."
"But couldn't he swim?"
"Swim? Don't you know that all persons are strictly forbidden by the police to swim in the river?"

Penholders Made from Packing Jox.
Both ingenuity and economy are represented by a practice reported from Calcutta, India. A firm in that city imports drugs in wooden boxes from the United States and England. It then works up good material from the packing cases into penholders. Both the city and provincial governments buy these products, but the penholders are said to be rather crude. Labor is so very cheap in India that it would be hard to compete with any manufactured article there, but inexpensive penholders made in large quantities in America might have a chance of selling in that far-off land, nevertheless. A great saving in cost always results from the use of machinery.

Slang in England.
Hotten's division of slang terms for impropriety would be useful in police courts if fashion did not so quickly change in this respect. The following were classified as denoting mild intoxication: Beery, bemused, boozey, buzzy, buzzy, corned, foggy, fou, free, lacy, elevated, kisky, lussy, mooncy, muzzy, muzzy, on, screwed, stewed, tight and winey. In an intermediate class stood podgy, beargered, blood, but, primed, lumpy, muddled, ploughed, obfuscated, swipy, three sheets in the wind and topheavy.

Farming.
"Farmers Raise Money" is the headline of an article in the Mexico Ledger. No trouble nowadays to raise money. All he has to do is to pick up a chicken or a dozen eggs or a stick of cordwood or a peck of corn or half a dozen potatoes and bring 'em to town and sell 'em and his fortune is made.—Louisiana Mo., Press-Journal.

Drives Away Fever.
An eminent Spanish scientist has made the recent discovery that the sunflower yields a splendid febrifuge that can be used as a substitute for quinine. Accordingly, the sunflower should not only, by its growing, exert great fever-dispelling effect, but also yield a product which is used advantageously in all fevers.

Wasps Capture Flies.
Wasps prey on flies—a fact which is well known in Italy. On any summer or early autumn day in the Tuscan country parts, when the luncheon table is blackened by flies, one may see a wasp sail in at the open window, select a fly, roll it over, curl it up and carry it out into the sunshine and soon return for another.

Ballasted with Gold.
A section of the Canadian Northern Railway running northwest from Sudbury and crossing at Vermilion river, is unique in that it is ballasted with gold. Every yard of the gravel used for ballast has been found to contain from 50 cents' worth to a dollar's worth of the precious metal, in the shape of fine dust.

Government Runs Bars.
In some parts of Russia the barrooms are run by the government, according to a recent law. It is the rule for all males to remove their hats when in a government building, and it is ludicrous to see the patrons of the barrooms standing, hat in hand, while waiting for the barkeepers to serve their toddy.

A Sharp Answer.
"I am not happy with my husband. Can I get a separation?" asked a lady of a lawyer. "His life is insured in your favor, isn't it?" "Yes; I made him do that before we married."
"Well, don't separate. He'll live long or away from you!"

Educated to Housework.
Housework and marketing is part of the education of a Belgian girl. She is taught these subjects in the public schools.

A DOUBLE INDISPOSITION.

Violet—They say Clara Kickhigh was bad off for a while at the performance the other night.
Phonema—Humph! She was worse on.

JUST SO.

Visitor—What is that unsightly building?
Native—The Blind Asylum.

GOOD AS NEW.

Billy—So you 'uns has got a new baby, huh?
Milly—Well, he looks a tiny bit shop worn but Pa says he'll wear out two men like him.

A VICTIM OF CIRCUMSTANCES.

"Is it true that Long threw up his position as purser of the liner after the first trip?"
"Yes, he found he could not hold it down."

DRAWING THE CLOTHESLINE.

"For all your washing," said the tramp.
"I do not care a bit."
The time that I object to is when I'm ironed after it."

BOTH WERE SOLD.

An Instance Showing That Hospitality is not Always Appreciated.

Southern hospitality is proverbially generous. In "The Old Dominion" Mr. Thomas Nelson Page recounts an instance showing that this hospitality was not always appreciated. A guest asked the loan of a horse to carry him to his next stopping-place, a town which lay at a considerable distance. The host accordingly lent him his horse, and sent along a negro boy—it was before the war—to bring the horse back.
After several days the boy was still missing, and some one was sent to hunt him up. The messenger found him at last, and demanded why he had not returned with the horse.
"Caus'd dat gent'man done sell de horse," was the reply.
"Well, why didn't you come back and say so?"
"Hi! He done sell me, too," said the boy.

Calling the Deaf.
"To waken a deaf person who wishes to be called at a certain time in the morning is about the hardest proposition a hotel clerk runs up against," said a member of that fraternity. "To ring the telephone is useless because the man can't hear. Knocking, for the same reason, is futile. Now and then a guest who has lost his hearing suggests that he leave his door open so we can walk right in and shake him, but even if he does appear to be dead game there are so many chances of somebody less guileless than ourselves walking in ahead of us that we can't consent to that simple expedient."
"It seems to me the man who can patent a device for waking the deaf is sure of fame and fortune, not to mention the gratitude of the brotherhood of hotel-clerks."

A Substitute.
Irish wit is as excellent as it is proverbial. A writer in the Mariner's Advocate tells the story of a ship doctor on an English liner who notified the death-watch steward, a Hibernian, that a man had died in stateroom forty-five. The usual instructions to bury the body were given. Some hours later the doctor peeped into the room and found that the body was still there.
He called the matter to the attention of the Irishman, who replied: "I thought you said room forty-six. I went in there and saw wan of them in a bunk. 'Are ye dead?' says I. 'No,' says he, 'but I'm pretty near dead.' So I was getting ready to bury him."

A Few Things Worth Knowing.
Cork will not rise if sunk twenty feet below water.
The negro republic of Liberia has twenty-two species of rubber trees.
Korea, with a population of 20,000,000, consumes 840,000,000 cigarettes yearly.
Sixty years ago the use of flint and steel to produce a fire was not wholly unknown.
Vegetarian experts assert that one acre of land will comfortably support four persons on a vegetable diet.

Original New England.
The original New England was on the Pacific, and not on the Atlantic coast. When Sir Francis Drake landed on American shores in 1579, he took possession of the country for Queen Elizabeth, calling it "Nova Albion," meaning New England. The States of New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Maine, Connecticut, Rhode Island and Vermont have, therefore, appropriated the name which should belong to California.

Third Class Express.
One of the most popular trains in India is a third-class express on the East Indian line. First and second class passengers are not admitted to it. Its success lies in the fact that it is strictly a third-class express. The train is the pride of the general manager, and pays well. It is always crammed full, though no passenger has a ticket for a journey shorter than 200 miles.

A Queer Fish.
The mud-skipper is one of the queerest fishes alive. It really is a fish and lives in the water, but it can climb out on to the shore and crawl. It likes to clamber up on to roots of trees and perch there. Another funny thing about it is that it breathes with its tail! The skin there is very thin, and the fish breathes through it quite easily.

The Barrister's Back Pocket.
Old-time barristers in England did not openly receive fees for their services. An early method of collecting fees was the pocket which in mediaeval times a barrister used to have placed in the back of his gown, into which the solicitor would surreptitiously slip the fee.

Bad Memory.
"It must be nice to be a hero," remarked the quiet man. "It is for a minute," replied Senator Badger. "After that the hero wonders at the world's bad memory."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Protection Against Rabbits.
Australian farmers imported last year, as a protection against rabbits, 1,500 miles of wire netting, which costs $122 to $145 a mile.

Oyster Shell Records.
The British Museum contains books written on oyster shells, bricks, tiles, bones, ivory, lead, iron, sheepskin and palm leaves.
