Leaped to Death. Lenox, Mass.—Six people lost their lives, three others were badly burned and a property loss of between $200. 000 and $300,000 was caused by a fre-in the heart of the business section of this town early Sunday. Pour business blocks, two dwell-ings and two other structures were restroyed in a section bounded by Franklin, Main, Housatonic and Church streets. The dead are: Ed-ward C. Ventress; Alse Leetrician; Mrs. Edward C. Ventress; Miss Leslie Ven-tress, aged 12; Miss Leslie Ven-tress, aged 12; Miss Leslie Ven-tress, aged 12; Miss Leslie Cock, book-keeper, and Miss Mary Sparks, school teacher. The injured are: Mrs. Catherine Root, and her two sons. George and Arthus, severely burned. The loss of life occurred in the clifford building, where the blaze started, and resulted primarily from a series of explosions among the tur-pentine, paints, oils and dynamite stored in the cellar of a hardware frm. The death of Miss Alice French stored in the cellar of a hardware firm. The death of Miss Alice French was one of the plitiul tragedles. While the fire in the Clifford block was at its height a woman was seen to climb out of a fiame-filled room onto the veranda on the second story, with her night clothing and her hair ablaze. Staggering to the railing, the woman leaped to the sidewalk be-neath, landing in a heap within five or six feet of the blazing walls. Some of the horrified onlookers at-tempted to rush in to drag her out, but the intense heat drove them back, and not until the fiames had practical-ly died out, several hours later, was the body recovered. The bodies of the other victims have not been re-covered.

son offered as his basic legal proposi-tion. It could not be contended, was an-other contention, that because of the defendant's great capitalization it could be deemed a monopoly. Legal-ly it mattered not whether a man's profit was 20 or 70 per cent so long as he did not in earning his profit close the avenues of trade against his competitors. There was like-wise, he said, no bar to the acquisi-tion of great wealth under any exist-ing law that he knew of. Another point urged upon the court was that the defendants had the right to produce, transport, refine, market and sell their petroleum products and incidentally to make all the money they could, a pleasure guaran-teed all citizens under the Constitu-tion, so long as they made no at-tempt to monopolize. Such a thing, as monopolization was not, he added, within the purview of the Sherman act, unless it be the unlawful ex-clusion of others from the trade. Real Monopoly Impossible. There Awhile. Kansas City, Mo.—The woman kid-naper in the Willie Whitia case at Sharon, Pa., lived in Kansas City in the spring and summer of 1907, and was under arrest there. Mr. Watson represented the gov-ernment in the Northern Securities case and is credited with having won that suit for the government. In his interpretation of the decision in that oft-quoted authority Mr. Watson in-sisted that in the present case and that suit two separate and distinct principles of law were involved, and that under no stretch of the imagin-ation could they be identical. The fendants could not be held for their conduct of years past, and that the only point the court could consider was whether it was acting in restraint of commerce, engaging in unfair com-petition, or doing any of the many of November, 1906, the day the peti-tion in the present case was filed.
