

VALUE OF FRUIT EATING.

Serves as Natural Stimulus to the Digestive Organs.

A writer in the Family Doctor says in regard to fruit eating: "We are all quite ready to agree that fruit forms a food of great value, but we display great lack of judgment in the manner in which we take advantage of its valuable qualities. Most people, instead of taking fruit on an empty stomach, or in combination with simple grain preparations, such as bread, eat it with oily foods generally cream. Then, perhaps, the whole mass is washed down with tea, coffee, or other liquid. To do its best work, fruit should be eaten either on an empty stomach or else with but a merely, never with vegetables. Eaten in the morning, fruit is very refreshing and serves as a natural stimulus to the digestive organs; but even when eaten at the proper time, its good effects are generally counterbalanced by its being saturated with sugar. Very few kinds of fruit, if thoroughly ripened, require any sugar, particularly if eaten raw."

Fulfilling His Agreement.

Having become tired of living in rented houses, Mr. Gwimple had bought a home of his own. Not having enough money to pay for it outright, he had made a cash payment of a thousand dollars, and given a trust deed on the property for the remainder. One night, not long after he had taken possession of his new home, Mrs. Gwimple roused him from a deep sleep.

"Gerald," she said, "somebody is trying to get into the house!" Mr. Gwimple crawled out of bed and started down-stairs. "What are you going to do?" she asked him. "I'm going to let him in," he answered, half-awake. "To let him in? Who?" "The man that holds the trust deed on this property," he mumbled. "The document I signed binds me to admit him to the premises at any hour of the day."

The History of Niagara.

Dr. J. W. Spencer, who has made a specialty of the study of the geological history of the Niagara gorge and falls, returned to this subject at the July meeting of the American Association. He believes that about 3,500 years ago the drainage of Lake Huron was turned into Lake Erie, thus vastly increasing the eroding power of Niagara. It had taken 35,000 years for the gorge to eat back from Lake Ontario to the point where the falls were situated when the Huron discharge was added. Five hundred years after that the falls reached the Whirlpool. Between 2,000 and 2,500 years ago they were passing the site of the Whirlpool Rapids. The rapids themselves were completed less than 30 years ago.

Bravery and Cowardice.

Cowardice is often ignorance. Are any men brave, more ready to take their lives in their hands, to reckon death as one of the daily encounters than the deep-sea fishermen? Yet a group of these men, brought to London by one of their missionaries, have been seen too terrified to cross the street. The police had to stop the traffic to allow them to cross. The quick, quarrelsome, fearless Cockneys who laughed at them—how would they feel in a freezing storm in the North Sea? A spider may terrify the most courageous women and a V. C. shrink from a cat. Every hero has his weakness, and we may believe every coward has a point where he comes to bay and will fight the world.

A Steady Worker.

A gentleman seeing a colored man of his acquaintance starting on a fishing excursion, says a writer, in Judge, thought it an excellent time to reproach him for his laziness. "Rufus, you old loafer," said he, "do you think it's right to leave your wife at the wash-tub while you pass your time fishing?" "Yassah, jedge; it's all right. Man wife don't need any watching. She'll sholy wux jes' as hard as I. I was dah."

Smokers Restricted.

There was a time not so long ago when even men only smoked on sufferance and in banishment. In country houses the smoking-room was too often a small dark hole on the sunless side of the house, to which the votary of the weed betook himself as to some dreary retreat, divided between his cravings for a pipe and his desire to get into more cheerful surroundings. To-day indiscriminate smoking prevails.

The Park.

Two small girls from the slums, each with a tiny baby brother in her arms, stood peering through the iron railings of a city park. Said one: "Could we go in the park, tink?" "Tain't no park," replied the other contemptuously, "dat's grass."

Heavy Funeral Bill.

New York City pays a large funeral bill. It costs the city $32.50 to bury each of the unclaimed bodies that pass through the morgue, and there are about 9,400 of them in the course of a year.

Hard-Working Person.

As a matter of fact, a member of a glee club works harder than a member of a notification committee and does not get nearly so much credit.

Good Advice.

Keep one lock on your pocketbook and two on your tongue.

NATURAL.

Mason, the lawyer, they tell me, is a pretty hard character. "Case hardened, I suppose."

HARD LUCK.

Reggy—(2 a. m.)—Wonder what that noise is under my bed. Can it be Sport? Good old fellow! Good doggie! Bad Bill, the housebreaker, (aside)—"Tink o' me luck—having to lick the dood's hand!"

MUSICAL NOTE.

"Owing to the weather, there was a very small—but, at the same time, a most appreciative audience present at the afternoon recital."

WON OUT.

Gent—"What's the matter sonny? Boy—Willie and me was seeing who could lean farthest out of the window and I won."

DEVOTION.

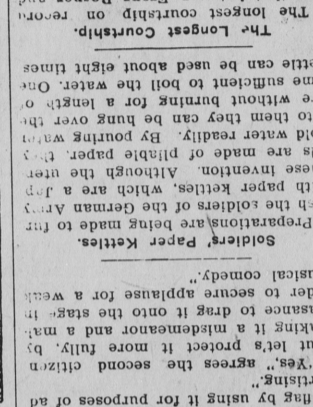

He was stuck to him through the window and thin. "Yes he trained him down from 200 to 120 pounds."

HIGH ART.

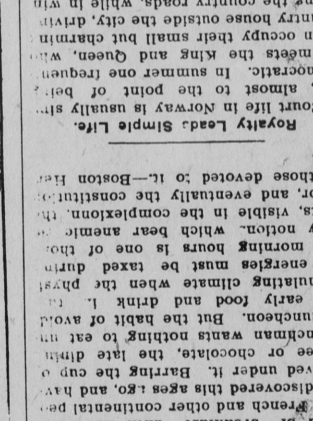

"He must be pretty old; doesn't his hair give his age away?" "No; he manages to keep it dark."

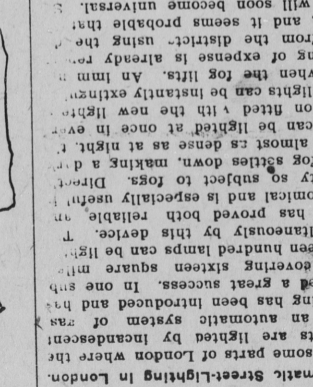

Myrtle—What made the doctor say you would have to go to some very quiet place this summer? Gladys—The only reason I can think of is that he don't know of all the lovely clothes I have.

AN ACQUIRED FACULTY.

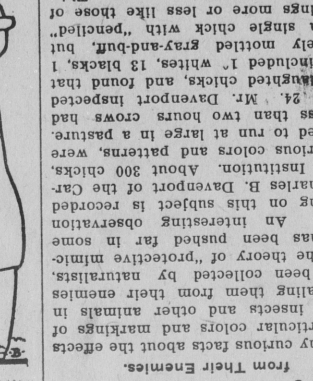

Mrs. Gramercy—Do you think intuition is a good thing for a woman to possess? Mrs. Park—It is when she has it so well developed that she can tell when her shirt waist isn't all right at the back.

THE ANGRY DEEP.

I like to get into a yacht and write a lot of tommy-rot. About the anger of the seas when smarting from a spanking breeze.

HE COULD.

De Broke (signing his name in the hotel register)—Can I put up here to-night? Clerk—Yes, sir, in advance.

COLOURS THAT PROTECT.

Markings of Birds to Conceal Them from Their Enemies. Many curious facts about the effects of particular colors and markings on birds, insects and other animals in concealing them from their enemies have been collected by naturalists. and the theory of "protective mimicry" has been pushed far in some cases. An interesting observation bearing on this subject is recorded by Charles B. Davenport of the Cornell University. About 300 chicks, of various colors and patterns, were allowed to run at large in a pasture. In less than two hours crows had killed 24. Mr. Davenport inspected the slaughtered chicks, and found that they included 17 whites, 13 blacks, 11 blue-grays, 11 grays, and 11 spotted. The blue-grays and grays were the most numerous. Dangers of No Breakfast. The no-breakfast habit is harmful enough to provide a hearty meal is the need of breakfast, until noon. The French and other continental people, almost to the point of being democratic. In summer one requires them occupy their small but charming country houses outside the city, drive along the country roads, while in winter they are in the city, driving in the city. It is by no means uncommon to meet them coasting down the hill, upon skis, or upon sleds, or upon rollerskates, or on sleds, or upon rollerskates, or on sleds, or upon rollerskates.

More Protection. I call it splendidly protective, says the first citizen, to have a law for bidding the desecration of no national monument. I call it splendidly protective, says the first citizen, to have a law for bidding the desecration of no national monument.

Soldiers' Paper Kettles. Preparations are being made to furnish the soldiers of the German Army with paper kettles, which are a new and useful invention. Thought Microbes In a Drop of Ink.

When applied to the newspaper page they make people think twice. First, people think there's a man who keeps up with the procession. Second, they think he must keep good goods on hand. Again, if the home paper has enough drops of advertising ink on its surface to make a proper showing the outsider thinks this must be a pretty lively town. Thus a drop of NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING INK is a good thing for the town.
