THE HONEST FARMER.

For centuries there has been much written and printed concerning "the honest farmer." So much, in fact, that some gullible people have come to believe that to be a farmer is to be an honest man, and some people doubtless believe that there are no dishonest farmers. But there are tricks in all trades, professions and vocations, and the farmers are made up of honest men and rascals, just the same as other classes. For example, we cite you to the fact that representatives of the state pure food department recently made the discovery that some of the Lancaster county farmers were selling milk that was 80 per cent. water, or rather selling water under the name of milk that contained 40 per cent. of the latter. How is that for the thrifty farmers of Lancaster county, the wealthiest agricultural county in the United States? In the sale of their milk, the thriving Lancaster county farmers were not only robbing fathers and mothers, many of them poor working people, of hard earned money, but they were also robbing, in some cases, sickly babes of the nourishment they were badly in need of. No doubt many lives of sickly babies were sacrificed to the greed of the wealthy farmers who were robbing the milk of its nourishment by adding 60 per cent. of germ-laden water. Such rascality is awful and the perpetrators thereof are lower morally, and even more despicable than horse thieves, State Capitol "trimmers" and highway robbers.

RULES OF THE ROAD.

Adopted by The Farmers' Anti-Auto Society.

1. On discovering an approaching team, the automobilist must stop off-side and cover his machine with a blanket painted to correspond with the scenery.
2. The speed limit on country roads this year, will be secret, and the penalty for violation will be $10 for every mile an offender is caught going in excess of it.
3. In case an automobile makes a team run away, the penalty will be $50 for the first mile, $100 for the second mile, $200 for the third mile, etc., that the team runs; in addition to the usual damages.
4. On approaching a corner where he cannot command a view of the road ahead, the automobilist must stop not less than 100 yards from the turn, toot his horn, ring a bell, fire a revolver, halloo, and send up three bombs at intervals of five minutes.
5. Automobiles must again be seasonably painted—that is, so they will merge with the pastoral ensemble, and not be startling. They must be green in spring, golden in summer, red in autumn, and white in winter.
6. Automobiles running on the country roads at night must send up a red rocket every mile, and wait ten minutes for the road to clear. They may then proceed carefully, blowing their horns and shooting Roman candles.
7. All members of the Society will give up Sunday to chasing automobiles, shooting and shouting at them, making arrests, and otherwise discouraging country touring on that day.
8. In case a horse will not pass an automobile, the automobilist will take the machine apart as rapidly as possible and conceal the parts in the grass.
9. In case an automobile approaches a farmer's house when the roads are dusty, it will slow down to one mile an hour, and the chauffeur will lay the dust in front of the house with a hand-sprinkler worked over the dashboard.

Files Suit Against B. & O.

United States District Attorney John W. Dunkle has filed suit in the United States circuit court against the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company for violations of the Government safety appliance act. Judgment to the amount of $2,200 is asked for 22 distinct alleged violations in not having in use the required air brakes on certain trains near the Sand Patch tunnel. It is alleged that portions of the train were operated by hand brakes, when the air should have been coupled up and in use. The act of Congress places a fine of $100 on each violation.

Things That Had Better Not Be Advertised.

Some of our Fayette county contemporaries who thirst for sensational announcements, point with pride to the fact that next to Allegheny county our own dear old Fayette has more prisoners in the Western Penitentiary than any other Western Pennsylvania county.

This may be construed as an evidence of the magnitude of our coke industry particularly, or of our wonderful industrial development generally, but the world at large will probably set it down to a low state of morals and a lax administration of justice, and they will possibly conclude that Fayette county is not a desirable place to live in.

There are some things which had better not be advertised any more extensively than is actually necessary.—Connellsville Courier.

Right you are, Mr. Courier man, and if you had not unnecessarily advertised the "cussedness" of your county in the lines above, we wouldn't know anything about Fayette county's penitentiary statistics, as we have seen them in no other paper. Anyway, why should you butt in and usurp the functions of Windy Willie Likins, the red-headed roarer and ringtail snorter, late of the People's Tribune? It is more fitting that the Courier should devote its statistical information to coke and coal, on which it is high authority. We all know that Fayette county, like most other counties, hasn't got as many people in penitentiary as it ought to have there, and for that reason the publishing of the prison statistics only serves to show that justice isn't always doing full justice.

SEATTLE'S EXPOSITION.

Seattle's ten-million-dollar exposition to exploit the resources of Alaska and the Yukon country promises to be unique in one respect—its managers declare that it will positively be complete on the opening day, June 1. Their ambition to establish a record is responsible for the present state of preparedness in which the show finds itself, and the next month will be employed in mounting exhibits, the buildings having been finished. Many of the structures are of a permanent nature, and after serving their temporary purpose will become part of the University of Washington. The promoters of this exposition do not seem to have made the mistake of undertaking more than they can fulfill. The enterprise is designed to advertise the great natural wealth of Alaska and of the Pacific slope, but a number of states, including Pennsylvania, will have exhibits, as well as the United States government and the leading nations of Europe.

The Seattle exposition will have a particularly picturesque setting. Snow-clad mountains will be in plain view from the grounds, including Mount Rainier, the highest peak in America. The people of Seattle have shown their practical interest in the affair by subscribing $1,150,000. They are said to be confident that their show will establish an additional record by avoiding a deficit. The United States government has appropriated $800,000, but they say it will be given its money's worth. Seattle's citizens have displayed an enterprise and independence which evoke admiration, and they deserve to succeed.—Pittsburg Gazette Times.

Where Was the Benefit?

Mr. John Graves had his little finger on his left hand cut off at the first joint, recently. He received $5 accident insurance. As Mr. Graves paid $12 to the doctors as a result of the accident, and 50 cents Notary fees to file his claim for benefits, he is puzzled to figure out how much he has made by carrying an accident policy and paying about $200 a month for it. It appears Mr. Graves would have received considerable more benefits if the machine had come in to his desk and cut his finger off, instead of him going to the machine, or if he had gone home and spent a couple of weeks in bed, he would have fared better; but somehow he preferred attending to his business to resting, so he had to be satisfied with $5.00.—Meyersdale Republican.

Counterfeits in Circulation.

Banks have been notified by Secret Service Operator John E. Washer, to watch for a new $2-counterfeit silver certificate of the series of 1899, check letter "D." The bill bears the portrait of Washington, and the forged signatures of Washington and Charles H. Treat, Treasurer.

Utilizing an Accomplishment.

"I'll be kind of glad when Josh gets home from school," said Farmer Corn-tasser. "I have an idea he can be right useful."
 "Are you going to put him to work?"
 "Maybe, I've exhausted all the language I know on that team of mules. But I haven't given up hope. I want to see whether Josh can't startle 'em some with his college yell."—Washington Star.

Eat What

You want of the food you need
Kodol will digest it.

You need a sufficient amount of good wholesome food and more than this you need to fully digest it. Else you can't gain strength, nor can you strengthen your stomach if it is weak. You must eat in order to live and maintain strength. You must not diet, because the body requires that you eat a sufficient amount of food regularly. But this food must be digested, and this must be digested thoroughly. When the stomach can't do it, you must take something that will help the stomach. The proper way to do is to eat what you want, and let Kodol digest the food. Nothing else can do this. When the stomach is weak it needs help; you must help it by giving it rest, and Kodol will do that.

Our Guarantee
 Go to your druggist today, and purchase a dollar bottle, and if you can honestly say, that you did not receive any benefits from it, after using the entire bottle, the druggist will refund your money to you without question or delay. We will pay the druggist the price of the bottle purchased by you. This offer applies to the large bottle only and to but one in a family. We could not afford to make such an offer, unless we positively knew what Kodol will do for you. It would bankrupt us. The dollar bottle contains 2 1/2 times as much as the fifty cent bottle. Kodol is made at the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago.
