This paper commences the 29th volume, and the 7th year, since we became connectand the 7th year since we became connected with it, as editor and proprietor. We have labored hard for our party, and trued to publish a paper that would meet with the approbation of our friends; how far we have succeeded we leave them to say. We commenced poor, and frequently within that time, have hardly had one copper to rab against another, and were compelled to borrow money to carry on our business—as given lat of April next.

It is one of the most expensive in existing one of the most expensive in existing one of the most expensive in existing of the most expensive in existing of the most expensive in existing the most expensive in existing of the most expensive in existing the most expensive in tence. It is also well known that about a year and a half sgo, we purchased the "Chronicle," and united it to the "Inqui-"Chronicle," and united it to the "Inquirer," involving ourself to the amount of $1000. Part of this sum has been paid, but we still owe $500, which falls due on the first day of April next, and we have as yet not a dollar to easet it with. We have been thus explicit in stating our private affairs, so that those indebted to us may know our carcumstances, and our need of a little of the "root." Now we have a number of subscribers who owe is from two years up to six, who if they would pay us would help us out of the scrape. Our friends know our terms, $2,00, if paid within the year, or among them are three Marble Busts, executed by the greatest living Sculptor—Hiram Powers: $2,50, efter the year expires. To all those who owe us, if they settle between this and Febuary Court, we will square off at the raie of $2.90 a year, and to those who let it run over that time, we will have to exact $2.50 off them. We do not intend these remarks to apply to any of those true friends of ours who every year or two greet us with their eash and good will, for had it not been for them, we could not have got along at all. Our remarks are infended for all others who owe us. The past has been an abundant harvest, prices for all kind of produce has been high, and we have the got along at about an abundant harvest, prices for all kind of produce has been high, and we have the got along at all. Supported the second search and abundant harvest, prices for all kind of produce has been high, and we been an abundant harvest, prices for all theket in the distribution of the Standard Markind of produce has been high, and we think there are none but can now come forward and pay what he owes.
