Will They Do It?

EDITOR HERALD:—I would like to call the attention of our police force to what, in the eyes of a great many people, has become a public nuisance. Every evening, and more especially on Sundays, the residents of that part of Jardin street, lying between Lloyd and Oak streets, are greatly annoyed by certain parties, of both sexes, congregating on the front steps of the residences in this neighborhood, and make the night hideous by their ungentelemanly and unsightly behavior. Sometimes pedestrians are even compelled to take to the streets in order to pass these parties who make this their favorite place for entertaining their company. I trust the Chief of Police will give this matter his attention and earn the good will of a long-suffering public. CITIZEN.

ATTACKED A DEPUTY SHERIFF

An Italian Fruit Vendor Gets Into Trouble.

John Gordell, the Italian who keeps the fruit stand at the corner of Main and Centre streets, and his wife, Louisa, were before Squire Williams this morning, charged with felonious assault upon Deputy Sheriff Martin Zeigler, of Pottsville.

It seems that Gordell only recently purchased the fruit stand. The man who owned it previously purchased two bags of peanuts from an Easton man, but after the peanuts arrived sent word that he did not want them; but when he sold out to Gordell he included the two bags of peanuts in the sale. The Easton man then called upon Gordell for payment, but the latter refused to pay, or return the goods. This morning Deputy Sheriff Zeigler went to the stand to serve a replevin notice upon Gordell, who ordered the deputy away, saying he owned the stand. Zeigler said the two bags of peanuts would have to be returned or paid for and took hold of Gordell's arm as he walked away.

The Italian turned suddenly and raised a large-sized butcher knife in the air to strike. The deputy grabbed the upraised arm and succeeded in disarming the Italian, whose wife then sprang forward and struck the officer. While the latter was giving his attention to the woman the Italian struck him with a chair.

High Constable Stanton hurried to the scene at the time and, not knowing Zeigler, thought he was the offender, as he held the knife in his hand. The High Constable seized the Deputy and then Constable Tosh appeared. Explanations followed resulting in Zeigler and Tosh arresting the Italian and his wife.

Gordell was committed to jail in default of $1,000 bail and his wife was released upon her own recognizance, as she has several small children to care for.

Subsequently Gordell secured his release by surrendering the two bags of peanuts and paying all damages.

Promptly Settled.

The following acknowledgment of payment should have been published several days ago but was unintentionally omitted. A comparison of the date on which the loss occurred and the date of payment show the promptness with which the claim was met:

Received of the Springfield Fire and Marine Insurance Co., of Springfield, Mass., through David Faust, agent of said company, the sum of one thousand dollars, being in full for all claims for loss and damage by fire on the 31st of May, 1891. I hereby tender my thanks to Mr. Faust and his companies for the prompt payment of my loss and would cheerfully recommend him to my friends who desire to get insurance.

Auguste Preiman.
Shenandoah, Pa., June 9, 1891. 6-17-23

Prompt Work.

John Cooney, who was awarded the contract for raising the Union street school building from its old foundation, has surprised the School Board committee by accomplishing the work very successfully in two days. The contract provided that the building, which is 40 x 90 feet, should be raised three feet and this Mr. Cooney has done in the short time stated without causing any damage to the plastering. Masons started work this afternoon to put new walls under the building.

The Knights of Pythias.

The local lodge of the Knights of Pythias held a vocal and instrumental anniversary entertainment in Robbins' opera house last night and afforded a very pleasant evening to a large number of guests. Among those who participated were Prof. Jones and family, Benj. Haakey, Mr. Jones and brother, Mr. Rowan, Mr. Jones and Miss Jones, Mr. and Mrs. John Pooler and Philip T. Evans. There was also an address by Mr. J. J. Powell.
