There lived In Grand II a pld s some few years ago a man who claimed to be the only begotten son of our Lord, and the promised Messiah, who at last had come to save mankind. He went by the name of James Patterson, but it is said he had several aliases. He came to Grand Rapids from some town in Ohio, where he had had charge of a congregation of free Methodists. That was some seven or eight years ago, if the writer figures correctly. It seems that he had gotten into some trouble with some of the members of his congregation, who charged him with offenses seldom practiced by a Christian minister. He sought Grand Rapids as a good place to build up a congregation. A small church was secured in a then obscure section on the west side of the Grand river, and he soon had a number of worshipers at his services. He became known among them as Rishop Patterson, and his church as the "Temple of Jchovah."

Bishop Patterson is remembered by those who knew him as a tall, well-proportioned gentlemanly looking individual, with keen, nervous, grey eyes, rather sensational in his head, a long, full beard and long hair that almost reached his shoulders. He invari-

He invari-ably created a favorable impression wherever he went, which probably ac-counts for the short length of time he took to form a congregation. In other words, he was a mesunerist. Nobody seemed able to resist his influences. He made it a noint to visit among the near seemed able to resist his influences. He made it a point to visit among the poor and if any were found sich, he would minister to their wants. By a liberal use of magnetism he often cured the sick, and that he styled as the work of God, who appointed him to heal the sick of body and mind as well as of soul.

one day about four years ago. Bishop Patterson made his way to the humble cottage of one Robert Hawley, a struggling mechanic, whose daughter, a beautiful girl of 16, had recently been stricken down with a deadly maindy.
"I can cure your child," said Patterson to the heart-broken father, who by

Heretofore the bishop had not made any superfluous claims in his church. After the Hawley incident his whole demanor changed, and the following Sunday he announced himself as the Messiah. A few members of his congre-gation could not see it that way and left the church. A few days later the bishop was written up in a local news-

The suspicions that had allsturbed the congregation and Mrs. Patterson for some time had been verified. The writer catled on the bishop the same evening. He admitted the truth of the allegation. Se did Mary Hawley, yet they claimed they were guiltless of infidelity.

"What paper do you represent?" asked Patterson after all was over.

Two years later the city of Grand Rapids was asked to pay the passage of the two hapless girls and their two children back to America. Patterson had deserted them in a strange land.

The whereabouts of Bishop Patterson has been a mystery for two years. A brother of his, it is said has taken charge of the Grand Rapids church, which is now run on strictly Christian principles.

A new pleasure resort has been opened in the suburbs called Harlen Park, and the worldig-minded people gather there evenings and Rev. S. L. Conde. Sundays and ride on a switch-back railway or a merry-go-round or listen to a band concert, cat lee-eream, or row on the river. On this particular day the Rev. Mr. Conde hustled himself out there on a bieyele, and, mounting a stump, began to exhort the crowd to turn from the error of their ways. Then he produced a hymn-book and sang a hymn in a full, strong voice. Then he prayed. He denounced the stockholders in the Park and prominent church members, and said that a recent accident in which one of the former had three ribs broken was simply a warning for his hypoerisy, and if he continued to support such unhallowed and Sabbath-breaking institutions, he would be wiped out.

"You can suit yourself, but the contracts are not good until I put my mane to them and that I will not do," was Mr. A. G. Spalding's answer. The Boston club, too, has been careful about getting players with clean records. Tom Tucker was put down last senson as a contract-jumper, but the trath was that Tom was easily influenced and simply got back to where he started from with Barnie and had a perfect right to come to Boston. Tucker is one of the most conscientions mm I ever met, and would not do a wrong intentionality any scomer than would Molek Young himself. I hear that the two men under the bain of the national agreement that went to biotisellle were driven by the move by the action of their manager in working that old gag, of putting on heavy fines as a way to pay back salary which was overdue.

Is a man a genuine contract jumper, when his salary is over due and no chance in sight of getting it? I should say not.

LOANTAKA THE WONDER.

How Tenny Was Vanquished at the Great Suburban Handienp.

The Suburban Handleap was the loadstone that attracted many thousands of lovers of "the sport of kings" to the beautiful race course of the Coney Island Jockey club at Sheepshead Ray, L. I., on Tuesday afternoon, June 16, the opening day of the spring meeting. The weather was clear, but very hot, and the track in good condition, though very dusty. Ever since his victory in the race for the Brooklyn Jockey Club Handleap, a month previously. D. T. Pulsifer's sturdy and fleet fosted Tenny had ruled as a prime favorite, and the vast majority of those who went to the course, backed him to win the big event, taking such figures as the bookmakers were willing to give them, so that they might have a bet on the 'little sway-back.' The horse most fancied next to the famous son of Rayen d'Or was his half brother. Tea Tray, who finished third in the great race at the travesend track, and who had been carefully nursed by that master trainer, 'Billy' Lakeland, who made no secret of his belief that his horse had a great chance to pull off the event. Tea Tray was heavily backed both ways by the Brighton fleaheds, at whose track he was trained for the race. Billey, Banquet, Demuth, and Cassins also carried considerable money, principally for place, while nearly all the others were more or less well supported, and the long lines of bookmakers far more numerous than any visitor to Sheepshead bay had ever before seen shouting the todis at the same time, had to hustle at a very lively rate to attend to all the business that was thrust upon them by the packed and perspiring multifude of speculators. tors. Macbeth's "pearl top" and "pearl glass" lamp-chimneys do not break from heat, not one in a hundred; they break from accidents.

They are made of clear glass as well as tough, as clear as crystal. They fit the lamps they are made for. Shape controls the draft; they are shaped right. Draft contributes to proper combustion; that makes light; they improve the light of a lamp.

But they cost a dealer three times as much as common chimneys, and, as they do not break, he is apt to be anxious lest they stop his trade. Diminished sales and less profit are not agreeable to him.

There are two sides to the question. Have a talk with him. GEO. A. MACHITHA CO.
