CONVENTION CALL.

To the Republican Electors of Pennsylvania:
After consultation and correspondence with the members of the Republican State Committee, and by their direction, I hereby give notice that the Republican Electors of Pennsylvania, by their duly chosen representatives, will meet in State Convention at Harrisburg, Wednesday, August 19, 1891, at 10 o'clock A. M., for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for the offices of State Treasurer and Auditor General, for the nomination of delegates to the National Convention at Large in the Act of Assembly approved June 19, 1891, and for the transaction of such other business as may be presented.

Notice is especially directed to the fact that, in accordance with the provisions of the last mentioned act, each Senatorial district is entitled to a representation of three delegates in said Constitutional Convention, two of whom only can be members of the majority party in said district. The electors of each district are therefore requested to make proper nominations for delegates to said convention, the rules governing the nomination of candidates for State Senator to be applicable.

In this connection the Chairman desires to call the attention of Republican voters to the recommendation of the State Convention of 1882, that "they allow the greatest freedom in the general participation in the primaries consistent with the preservation of the party organization."
WM. H. ANDREWS, Chairman.

COUNTY COMMITTEE MEETING.

The members of the Republican County Committee elected at the primaries held on Saturday, August 1, 1891, are requested to meet at Central Hall, in the Borough of Pottsville, on Tuesday, August 13, at 10 a. m., for the purpose of electing a County Chairman and transacting such other business as may be required.
ELIAS DAVIS,
Chairman County Convention,
August 4, 1891.

Struggle With a Snake.

MAY'S LANDING, N. J., Aug. 10.—Warren Wilson, aged ten years, of this place, had a thrilling encounter with a mammoth blue snake, which measured 6 feet and 3 inches in length, yesterday. The snake coiled itself around the lad's limbs. After dealing the reptile several hard blows across the back the boy succeeded in killing it and freeing himself.

Injured in a Brewery Fire.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 10.—Fire last evening damaged the Continental brewery $8,500. During the progress of the fire Frank Harkins was overcome by the fumes of ammonia and fell down stairs, causing concussion of the brain. His condition is serious.

Shot by a Policeman.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—Michael Dulco, a Hungarian saloon keeper at 234 Second street, was shot and fatally injured last night by Policeman John Foster while resisting arrest for violating the excise laws.

AT THE CHURCHES

EXCELLENT WORK IN THE M. E. CHURCH YESTERDAY.

OVER TWENTY PROBATIONERS.

The First Fruits of the Revival Meetings Held Last Winter.

An Excellent Sermon by the Pastor, Rev. Powick.

At the Methodist Episcopal church yesterday twenty-two probationers were received into full membership in the church. These are the first fruits of last winter's revival. Several others will be received a few weeks later. They occupied the front seat while listening to an appropriate discourse on the obligations of membership in the church, in which the rules of the church were explained and enforced, after which the right hand of fellowship was extended by the pastor. At the evening service after receiving one member by certificate the ninth sermon of the series on the "Voyage of Life" was delivered. The subject was "The Storm." A description of a storm at sea was given and used as an illustration of the storms that beset the mariner upon the sea of life. The sailor grades the force of the wind according to the following scale: 0, dead calm; 1, high breeze; 2, gentle breeze; 3, fresh breeze; 4, fresh wind; 5, strong wind; 6, gale; 7, strong gale; 8, storm; 9, 10, 11, hurricanes. But even if his ship were to go down in a furious storm no true seaman would exhaust the scale in describing it. He reasons that the wind never blows hard but it might blow harder. So with the storms of life. Our trials are never so severe but they might be worse. After the worst comes we still have God as our refuge and strength. Then like the storms of the sea they never come by chance. They are within the domain of law. God is faithful who will not suffer us to be tried above that we are able to bear. Again storms are not the worst things that either the sailor or the Christian has to encounter. Give the sailor a staunch ship and a clear sky and he will defy any storm and thank his lucky stars he is far enough away from the danger of falling chimneys and flying bricks. Carelessness—icebergs, and above all, fog, are the greatest perils. So neglected duties—an unopened bible and unrequited prayer, an unattended prayer meeting—combine to form a chilling tide of worldliness which rolls in upon the soul and gives rise to spiritual fogs that obscure the sun of righteousness. These are the greatest perils. It is then that collisions with the will of God and the rights of man occur. Skeptics grumble at God because of the storms of sorrow that fall. But while they are often regarded as the greatest evils of life the fact is that for one soul which is lost in a storm hundreds go down in a calm. It is not adversity but prosperity that ruins men and ends in everlasting shipwreck. The closing sermon of the series will be delivered next Sunday night on "The Arrival."

Progress.

It is very important in this age of vast material progress that a remedy be pleasing to the taste and to the eye, easily taken, acceptable to the stomach and healthy in its nature and effects. Possessing these qualities, Syrup of Figs is the one perfect laxative and most gentle diuretic known.

LAKESIDE LINES.

Preparing for the Great Elsteddfod Next Saturday.

Some people, either through ignorance or malice, have circulated a report that the Shenandoah people will have to pay $1.50 for railway fare and admission to the Lakeside elsteddfod next Saturday. As already stated by the Herald, the railway fare to Lakeside and return and admission to the elsteddfod will be but 70 cents.

Prof. William Asmussen, of Chicago, Ill., who will officiate at the elsteddfod, will arrive here next Friday.

In mentioning that Samuel T. Davis, formerly of Wm. Penn, will have a choir from Centralia at Lakeside next Saturday, the Ashland Telegram says:

"Mr. Davis is evidently an old hand at the business, for in forming his society he took the choirs of all the churches in town, and selected the best talent from them, thus having the advantage of starting in with a body of singers already partially trained. The society meets regularly for practice, and has already reached a high degree of proficiency, which is to a great extent due to the efforts of their patient and able leader. We predict that the Centralia Choral Society will come home from Lakeside with first honors."

If any of the choirs succeed in wresting the prizes from the Shenandoah Choral Union they will do so only after a hard battle, for Prof. Philip T. Evans has the latter organization in excellent trim.

The competitions on the solos, duets, trios and quartets will be exciting. The entries are like the present peach crop.

Col. Ed. Gibbons, the hustling bill poster of town, spent a part of last week putting up large posters in Northumberland, Columbia, Carbon and Luzerne counties for the elsteddfod committee and is now billing Schuylkill.

PERSONAL.

Oliver Eisenhower, of Wilkes-Barre, spent Sunday in town with relatives.

Misses Jennie Combe and Kate Kreiger, of Shamokin, are visiting relatives in town.

Joseph Holloper, of Watsontown, is the guest of his son, S. G. M. Holloper, Esq.

John and Miss Mame McGreary, of Ashland, spent yesterday afternoon in town.

Artie Holloper, who is now located at Philadelphia, is spending a vacation with his parents in town.

Miss Edith Miners left town on Saturday to spend several days with friends in Mt. Carmel and Shamokin.

B. F. Lauding, who spent the past week with friends in Luzerne and Carbon counties, returned to town yesterday.

Charles N. Baldall left town this morning for Ashland, he having accepted a position on S. M. Riley's engineer corps.

Mr. Evan J. Davis, who spent the past week in Pottsville, the guest of her sister, returned home to-day.

William Delcamp and wife, of Frackville, spent yesterday in town, and left this morning for Atlantic City to spend a week.

Wash. Orma, district president of the P. O. S. of A., central district, spent Sunday in town the guest of his nephew, S. L. Brown.

Miss Lizzie Leasing returned home yesterday after spending a month's vacation with friends at Mill Grove, Columbia county.

Thomas Wron, Howard Brown, Harry Seligman, and Thomas Davidson, were among the Mahanoy City people in town yesterday.

Misses Annie L. Williams and Emma Eisenhower, who were members of the last High School graduating class, left town this morning for the Kutztown State Normal School.

Off to State Camp.

Assistant Postmaster H. E. Dangler, S. L. Brown and Harry Argood, of Washington Camp No. 112, and Daniel G. Richards and John H. Kuriz, of 183, left town this morning to attend the state camp of the P. O. S. of A. at Gettysburg. The convention promises to be one of the liveliest ever held by the order. Many resolutions will be presented and among the chief ones will be one instructing the delegates to the national camp to have the word "White" stricken from the provisions for qualifications of members. This will place the black man on equality with the white man. The resolution will be presented by the delegates of 112, in accordance with instructions of the camp at its last meeting.

The State Firemen.

The State Firemen's Association will meet in Lock Haven on the 15th, 16th, 17th and 18th of September, next, and five hundred dollars in prizes will be offered for the grand tournament, which will be open to all companies in the state except the home company. The contests will be: Steamer contest, $100 first prize; $50 second. Hose races, $50 first; $25 second. Hook and ladder races, $25 first; $15 second. Hub races, $50 first; $25 second. Drill prize, $50 first; $25 second. Largest uniformed company in line, $50. Finest uniformed company in line, $25.

Killed in a Runaway.

John Weidensaul, one of the best known and most popular residents of Mt. Carmel, was instantly killed at that place last night. Weidensaul and one of his brothers, William, went out driving and the horse ran away. John was thrown out of the carriage and his skull was crushed against a rock at the side of the road, causing instant death. His brother remained in the carriage and escaped injury. The deceased was a brother of Harry Weidensaul, the famous base ball player of Mt. Carmel. William, the other brother, is a hotel proprietor at that place.

A Castle Organized at Frackville Saturday Night.

A new castle of the Ancient Order Knights of the Mystic Chain, to be known as Crystal Stream Castle, was instituted at Frackville on Saturday night by Fred J. Skerrett, of Philadelphia, select recording and corresponding scribes of Pennsylvania, assisted by members of the order from Reading. A full dressed and equipped company of the military degree of the order from Reading was present, also delegations from Pottsville and Shenandoah. There was a fine display of the order in a parade in the early part of the evening and after the castle closed its sessions all were invited to the skating rink, where a sumptuous meal was spread. A good time was had and all returned to their respective homes happy and wiser. The new castle starts out with one hundred and ten charter members.

CUT HIS THROAT WITH A RAZOR.

A First Ward Hungarian, Discouraged by Lack of Work, Makes an Unsuccessful Attempt at Suicide.

Mathias Smekovick, a Hungarian residing at the east end of Centre street, caused some excitement in that section of the town yesterday afternoon by attempting to commit suicide.

He left a party of his countrymen with whom he had been conversing, saying he was going to his bedroom to have a sleep. A few minutes later the noise occasioned by his body falling heavily to the floor startled his friends, who went to the bedroom and found the man lying near his trunk, moaning. Blood was flowing freely from a gash in his throat and in his right hand he grasped a gory razor. The man appeared to be dying, but an examination showed that the gash was not a deep one and no vital organs had been injured.

The man is now walking about with a rag wrapped around his throat. He said he committed the rash act to secure admission to the almshouse, as he was unable to secure work.

RYAN WON THE FIGHT.

He Punished McMillan Terribly and Knocked Him Out in the Third Round.

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—The prize fight for $1,500 a side and 75 and 25 per cent. of the gate receipts, which amounted to about $1,500 more, between Tommy Ryan, of Chicago, and Billy McMillan, of Washington, came off in a grove about six miles from Chicago at 6:30 a. m. Quite a number of sports were in attendance, having left Chicago on a special train for the scene of battle.

The men weighed a little less than 144 pounds. Ryan was in first-class condition, but in the opinion of experts at the ring side McMillan was overtrained. Betting was 2 to 1 on Ryan.

Ryan's seconds were announced as Jim Hall and Billy Kunta, and McMillan's as Joe Helle and George Siler. Malachi Hogan was referee.

When the men faced each other McMillan's stock rose a little. He opened the round by leading with his left, which fell short, Ryan retorting with a smart blow in the face. A quick exchange followed. When the round closed both men were fresh, but McMillan's face was scarred and the blood was coming.

In the second round Ryan went in fast and hard. He caught his man on the cheek once or twice and then gave him a short-arm punch in the right eye. The eye closed its doors and hung out drapes, and McMillan looked dazed.

McMillan went into the ring in the third round with the air of a man who knew he was beaten and wanted to hasten the killing blow. He ran against Ryan, who punished him horribly, breaking one of his ribs with a right-arm swing. The champion knocked him down, and he got up weakly, only to be smashed again and knocked out. McMillan was badly out and bruised in the fight, and his nose looked as if it had been broken. Ryan was perfectly fresh.

KILLED HIS FATHER.

A Family Quarrel Results in a Terrible Tragedy.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 10.—George F. Nieman, a shoemaker at No. 180 Everett street, was shot and instantly killed by his son, Charles F. Nieman, aged 20 years, at their home, No. 18 Gorman street.

The shooting resulted from a family quarrel which has been in progress several years. About 10 years ago Mrs. Nieman procured a divorce from her husband for cruelty, but he was allowed to retain a room in the house, which belongs to his wife. The quarrelling among the members of the family and the old man has been frequent, owing to his violent temper.

Early in the morning he began to abuse his wife and two daughters, Anna and Emma. The son, who was asleep on stairs, hearing the noise, came out and saw his father with a pair of tongs in his hand upraised as if to strike his mother, who is a cripple. He rushed back and got a revolver. Just then the old man made a motion as if to strike his mother, when he leveled the revolver at his father and fired, the bullet passing through his right lung and heart, causing death instantly.

The young man surrendered himself to the police and was locked up at the Oliver street station. He is assistant secretary of the Cincinnati Insurance Company.

A Father's Terrible Crime.

PITTSBURGH, N. Y., Aug. 10.—The citizens of this place were greatly excited over the arrest of Edward M. Sage, the village blacksmith, on a very serious charge. His wife and daughter made complaint that he had been criminally intimate with the latter for over a year. It is stated that the mother has been aware of the fact for some time, but under the threat of death from Sage she failed to reveal the condition of affairs until forced to do so from Sage breaking in the door of their sleeping apartment and brutally treating the mother. The daughter is a handsome girl of 18 years. Sage is held without bail.

EDITOR CROSSDALE DEAD.

He Was Chairman of the National Committee of the Single Tax League.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—William T. Crossdale, the editor of the Standard and chairman of the National Committee of the Single Tax League, died last evening at Merriwell, Sullivan county, N. Y., of peritonitis, after an illness of eight days.

Mr. Crossdale was 43 years old and a bachelor. He was a native of Delaware and a member of the Delaware Society. He was the founder of Every Evening, a daily paper in Wilmington. For a time he conducted a daily paper in Baltimore and afterwards was an editorial writer on the New York Star.

In 1886 he took an interest in the mayoralty campaign of New York in behalf of Henry George and ever since that time he has been an active, and, for most of the time, a prominent representative of the Single Tax, or Henry George movement.

SWALLOWED FALSE TEETH.

Remarkable Case of Surgery by a New Hampshire Doctor.

BETHLEHEM, N. H., Aug. 10.—Miss Mary Gorman, of New Haven, Conn., who is at the Highland, fainted yesterday morning and while in the faint swallowed a silver plate with seven teeth attached to it.

The plate lodged about half way from the mouth to the stomach. Dr. Marsh, after much difficulty, located the obstruction with a silver "sound," but was unable to reach it with any forceps at his command.

Taking a silver sound 12 inches long the doctor curved its point and inserted it in the esophagus. He managed to hook it into the plate and after much exertion he extracted the teeth.

The incision of the throat was comparatively slight, and the resulting hemorrhage was easily stopped. The operation was performed by the doctor unaided, and no anesthetic was used.

The case is unparalleled in the records of surgery.

FATAL GAME OF "CRAPS."

A Colored Woman Quarreled With a Man and Then Stabbed Him.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 10.—A white man named Frank Hetselberger was fatally stabbed by Ida Howard, a colored woman.

Hetselberger and two companions were watching the Howard woman and two colored men playing "craps," when the woman took offense at some remark dropped by Hetselberger. Some words passed between the parties. Finally the men walked away, stopping at the corner of the next street to talk with some acquaintances.

While they were standing there the colored woman ran up and stabbed Hetselberger in the breast directly over the heart, producing a wound which caused his death in twenty minutes. The woman ran away, but was subsequently captured by the police.

Church Dedication at Long Branch.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Aug. 10.—St. Michael's Roman Catholic Church at Long Branch was dedicated yesterday by Bishop O'Farrel, of Trenton. The church was packed with wealthy cottagers. Right Rev. John J. Keane, D. D., of the Catholic University of the United States, preached the dedication sermon. The building cost upwards of $50,000, and a considerable part of this amount has been subscribed by A. J. Drexel, George W. Childs, Gen. Thomas T. Eckert, Daniel Dougherty, John A. McCall, Col. D. M. Hildreth and the Messrs. George and Jeremiah Curtis. A magnificent altar has been presented to the church by Banker Drexel as a memorial to his brother.

Trampled to Death by a Horse.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Aug. 10.—John Unlack, aged 40, a teamster, employed by the People's Gas Light Company, and his four-year-old son Thomas, were trampled to death by a vicious horse in the company's stables in the morning. Unlack had gone with his little boy to feed the horse, which, for some unaccountable reason, attacked him and the boy, and before assistance could arrive both had been thrown and their heads crushed to a jelly.

Accidentally Shot and Killed.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Aug. 10.—Thomas Tulley, of Pope's Mills, was accidentally shot and killed by Amasa Thornton, a camper on an island in Black Lake, St. Lawrence county. Tulley was employed as a guide and helper. The men were out on the lake taking photographic views, and had with them a Winchester rifle, which was accidentally discharged, the ball passing through Tulley's head, killing him instantly.
