CONVENTION CALL.

To the Republican Electors of Pennsylvania:
After consultation and correspondence with the members of the Republican State Committee, and by their direction, I hereby give notice that the Republican Electors of Pennsylvania, by their duly chosen representatives, will meet in State Convention at Harrisburg, Wednesday, August 19, 1891, at 10 o'clock A. M., for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for the offices of State Treasurer and Auditor General, for the nomination of eighteen candidates for Delegates-at-Large to the Constitutional Convention provided for in the Act of Assembly approved June 15, 1891, and for the transaction of such other business as may be presented.
Notice is especially directed to the fact that, in accordance with the provisions of the last mentioned act, each Senatorial district is entitled to a representation of three delegates in said Constitutional Convention, two of whom only can be members of the majority party in said district. The electors of each district are therefore requested to make proper nominations for delegates to said convention, the rules governing the nomination of candidates for State Senator to be applicable.
In this connection the Chairman desires to call the attention of Republican voters to the recommendation of the State Convention of 1882, that "they allow the greatest freedom in the general participation in the primaries consistent with the preservation of the party organization."
WM. H. ANDREWS, Chairman.

FREE-FOR-ALL FIGHT.

New Jersey and Delaware Citizens Have a Serious Clash.

WILMINGTON, Del., Aug. 14.—In a free fight for several hours at Painsville, N. J., one man was nearly killed, and 20 seriously injured, and 200 received cuts and bruises.

The South Jersey Farmers were having their annual reunion and 5,000 farmers, friends and relatives were present. Beer was plentiful and caused trouble. All went well until 1 o'clock, when a youth from Salem had a quarrel with a youth from Painsville, and the crowd took up the fight, which raged for three hours.

The farmers armed themselves with wagon whips and wore out the butts on each other.

A Salemite and a Pennsylvanian began a fight to a finish for a stake, consisting of a gold watch and $50. This started another riot. A Newcastle man was chased two miles up the Delaware River shore, and it is feared he met with foul play.

Two hundred people watched the fight from house tops. No arrests are reported. Several hundred Philadelphians and 100 persons from Newcastle were among the spectators of the riot.

FLOWERS AND A FIGHT.

Mr. Mooney Gets Into Trouble for Placing a Bouquet on a Woman's Grave.

BURLINGTON, N. J., Aug. 14.—Thomas S. Mooney, of Burlington, yesterday got a bouquet of flowers, and taking it to the cemetery in which the wife of Geo. W. Haines is buried placed it on her grave.

Mr. Mooney is no recognized acquaintance of the Haines family, and no cause for such strange actions could be accounted for.

Mr. Haines did not approve of Mr. Mooney's actions and returned the flowers. A severe dispute arose from the matter, and during the morning Mr. Mooney met Mr. Haines on the street and gave him a severe beating. He was arrested and held under $500 bail for court.

Mr. Haines is very badly hurt and is in a critical condition.

THREE MORE VICTIMS.

The Deaths at Cold Spring Harbor Increased to Sixteen.

COLD SPRING HARBOR, L. I., Aug. 14.—The Brooklyn police reported to the authorities here, last night, that, besides the thirteen persons who were killed in the accident to Kayser's excursion party and accounted for, three others were missing.

They were probably thrown into the Sound and drowned. This brings the total list of dead up to sixteen. The names of those reported missing are not given by the Brooklyn police.

THE New York World (Dem.) is authority for the statement that the promoters of that city have raised a fund of $500,000 to defeat McKinley in Ohio. Comment is unnecessary.

BENEDICTS WON.

A RATTLING GAME AT THE PARK YESTERDAY.

MARRIED MEN BEAT THE SINGLES

Editor Doyle Exercises His Glass Arm to Good Advantage. Francy Proves a Slugger. Malone Also on His Metal.

It has long been a question of material and if one married, is a man played out? To settle this question it was this morning agreed to meet in friendly combat on the ball field.

And so it came to pass that on the afternoon of the 13th day of August, 1891, champions of the respective causes of the married and single men of our lively largest town in the county stepped upon the ball field at the trotting park and crossed bats to decide the question of supremacy.

The game was an interesting one and there were many brilliant features in it. Harry Muldoon was captain of the single men's nine. Each time he stepped to the plate he caused a flutter in the grand stand.

"HIGH BALL"

He pitched the first inning, but as the married men made six runs off his delivery he was heard to exclaim, "Boys, they are on to me. I cannot pitch against Doyle."

Ramer was substituted for the disconsolate captain and, with his blood-red uniform and razor-sharpened curves, made the old men put on their glasses to see the ball.

Francy, the gigantic James, was a splendid figure on the field. He murdered the ball, as expressed in base ball parlance, and made two hits and two runs out of three times at the bat. He received a pitched ball on the head during the game, and as he was led to first base he threatened to bury the pitcher.

Heisenberger, after receiving a man's suit and securing his face behind a full set of whiskers, batted the ball like a foal.

SLIDING HOME.

Mike Doyle, the pencil pusher of the News, was captain of the married men and pitched eight innings for them. Mike improves with age. The young bloods were frequently relegated to the bench by the work of his famous glass arm.

Ben. Severn only received one ball—on the stomach, which is a record surpassing all his previous work on the diamond.

A RUNNING CATCH.

Graf, the Jardin street dispenser of choice groceries, made one of the most remarkable catches ever witnessed on a ball field. It was a high hit ball. He ran for it like a deer, caught it in one hand and held on to it after turning two complete somersaults.

The play caused an outburst of enthusiasm and it was only with great difficulty that the spectators could be induced to keep off the diamond, so enthusiastic were they over the play. The married ladies in the grand stand presented him with a beautiful bouquet.

Hefron and Reilly caught like veterans for their respective sides.

Scanlan, while in the act of striking at a ball, went to grass, but soon recovered his balance and continued striking out. He is to publish a work on "What I know about sky scrapers."

Malone and Francy deserve great credit for their battling. Their field work was marvellous. They did not drop a ball during the game. Francy is a wonderful runner.

SENATOR MONAGHAN MADE A REPUTATION IN YESTERDAY'S GAME OF WHICH HE MAY JUSTLY BE PROUD. HE IS DESERVING OF A LIFE PARTNER.

Muldoon wanted to arrest Hughes for stealing four bases.

In the seventh inning Lawler gave way to Con. McCarthy, having strained himself in trying to pull down a fly.

It was plainly evident from his decisions that the tenth man was desirous of having the young bloods win.

Grant Band Serenade.

After giving an excellent open-air concert in the square at the corner of Main and Centre streets last night, the Grant Cornet Band proceeded to give a series of serenades. Jacob Noll, who returned with his bride on Wednesday, was first visited at or which W. J. Watkins was reminded of his wedding. The band then proceeded to the Philadelphia & Reading depot and escorted Mrs. John A. Reilly and her friends, who had just returned from Tumbler Run, to their respective homes. The headquarters of the band was lively for the balance of the night. The concert was a very enjoyable one. The rendition of "Soldiers," the selection upon which the band is to compete at Lakeside to-morrow, was especially pleasing.

TO PREVENT SUNSTROKE.

Seasonable Hints That Should be Carefully Noted.

The state board of health has issued a circular setting forth the causes of sunstroke, the precautions that should be taken and the treatment for cases.

This dangerous illness is caused by excessive heat of the blood which produces great depression of the nervous system. It occurs during the hot season of the year and usually to those exposed to the hot sun, but it sometimes occurs at night, and also to those exposed to great heat in glassworks, laundries, furnaces, bakeries, iron foundries, and the engine rooms of steamships. It is largely confined to the hot, close streets and passages of the cities, but is not unknown in the country. Those habituated to the use of alcohol, and the debilitated, are especially predisposed to attacks. Dark, close-fitting clothing and such as compresses the chest and neck should be avoided during the heated term. For those obliged to labor in the sun, light clothing and a straw or light felt hat, permitting free circulation of air, are preferable.

On very hot days, one should drink frequently, but in small quantities. A large amount of ice water, cold beer, soda water, mineral water or other food drink entering the stomach at one time, is injurious.

Cool water, into which oat meal has been stirred, is a safe and refreshing drink. Water should not be drunk in considerable quantities at a lower temperature than spring water, namely, 59° Fahrenheit. Immediate death is often caused by "ice cold" drinks. The immoderate use of alcoholic beverages is also dangerous.

The sleeping-room should be freely ventilated and cool. Constipation of the bowels should be avoided. When overheated, work slowly, frequently cooling the head, chest and back with cold water. Keep a wet cloth or some green leaves in the hat on the head, frequently wetting them with cold water. When, on a very hot day, the skin becomes dry and uncomfortably hot, a burning sensation is felt in the head, and the face is flushed and the eyes blood-shot with frequent tendency to urinate, the person should immediately quit work, retire to a cool place and rest in quietness; and if not speedily relieved from sensation of heat, take a cold bath.

The attack may be very sudden and take the form of delirium in which the patient rushes wildly about and may attack those around him; or he may become weak and sink to the ground as if in a fainting spell or stupor. Loss of consciousness and mental disturbance may be only partial. Nausea or sickness at the stomach often precedes the onset. Convulsions may occur.

Sunstroke must be carefully distinguished from heat exhaustion, in which the general symptoms are similar to those of sunstroke, but the bodily temperature is below the normal. The difference can be at once recognized by feeling the skin underneath the clothing in sunstroke the skin feels burning hot, in heat exhaustion it is cold.

1. Carry the patient into a cool and shaded place, where there is plenty of pure, fresh air.
2. Strip his clothing to the waist, and place him in a recumbent position.

3. Pour cold water (ice water is best) upon his head and chest until consciousness returns. The points at which the blood may be most effectually cooled are the wrists, the temples, and the ears, because at those points it approaches the surface more nearly in considerable quantities. Ice may be applied to the head and chest and rubbed over the body, but if the skin is cold no ice should be applied. Internally small doses of brandy may be administered with success; but in all cases of sunstroke the patient should, as soon as possible, be placed in charge of a competent physician.

The patient should do no mental work for some months, and should keep free from all excitement. Persons who have once suffered from sunstroke are liable to a second attack. Inactivity, in some of its varied forms, frequently follows sunstroke. In heat exhaustion give alcoholic stimulants and place the patient in a hot bath, so as to raise the bodily temperature.
