SHIRKED THE WORK

Shocking Negligence in the Park Place Search.

NEW YORK'S MAYOR INDIGNANT.

The Finding of the Two Bodies Yesterday Creates a Stir.

Work on the Ruins Resumed at the Mayor's Orders and Will Continue Until All the Debris Has Been Removed. There May Yet Be Bodies in the Wreckage—No More Delay Now.

NEW YORK, Sep. 1.—The discovery yesterday of the ghastly remains of two more victims of the terrible disaster on Park Place only confirms the suspicion expressed in these dispatches at the time the search in the ruins was abandoned, that there were likely more bodies still under the debris.

Mayor Grant is decidedly angry at the neglect of the proper officials to perform their work thoroughly, and he has begun a searching investigation to find out just who is to blame for permitting the work to stop before it was positively known that all the dead had been removed.

The following letter to the acting chief of the fire department indicates the mayor's feelings in the matter:

SIR—You are hereby directed forthwith to remove all the bodies and debris of the Park Place accident. A personal examination has showed me that all the bodies have not been removed. Chapter 560 of the laws of 1887 makes it the plain duty of your department to emply laborers and material to perform as speedily as possible the work necessary for the recovery of the bodies of the killed and injured. That your department has not done, I do no know the reason for this neglect of the performance of its duty by your department, and I ask that a report be made to me forthwith as to the delay in the performance of this work and the reason that your department stopped working before the bodies were found and properly removed and before the ruins were thoroughly searched.

Above all, your department should at once do this work which the law requires it to do.

It was a few minutes before 11 o'clock, while four workmen were prodding in the debris still lying in the basement of the building, a pile of bricks stacked up against the inner edge loosened and came tumbling down about their feet. The fall exposed to view the rounded top of a brick arch leading to the cellar beneath the pavement. It was directly under Rosenfeld's bronze works at No. 70 Park place, and as two other cellars to the north had been previously cleared, the exposed entrance to the new cellar created no remark, and the workmen kept on throwing the debris into the street.

Soon the doorway was almost cleared and one of the workmen peered into the dark cavern. The floor was covered knee deep with bricks, bottles and tin cans. From the heap there arose an awful stench. An examination of the hole was then made.

About a foot from the entrance the legs of a young man protruded from beneath a pile of bricks. The position of the bodies made the truth manifest. Some of Rosenfeld's employes, in a dreadful realization of their fate, had rushed into the cellar. They may even have heard the whistling of the fire engines and the activity of the brigade on the street above.

The workmen, repelled by the stench, beat a retreat, and their foreman not being around they told Police Sergeant Lamey of their discovery. The sergeant, to make positive, went down himself and looked at the remains. He then dispatched a message to the Church Street Station. From there word was sent to Coroner Hanly.

The news meantime had reached the mayor's office. The mayor, who had all along entertained a suspicion that more bodies were in the ruins and paid repeated visits to the scene, was soon on the spot.

Going into the cellar he lighted a match and took in the situation at a glance. Then he returned to the City Hall in no pleasant mood. He at once ordered that work on the ruins be at once renewed, and that it continue until every bit of the debris had been removed.

This action on the part of the mayor has had a good effect, and to-day workmen under charge of the fire department are busy clearing away the wreckage.

One of the bodies taken out yesterday, that of a boy of 17 years, was badly decomposed, and the undertakers were unable to handle it until a pailful of disinfecting fluid was poured over it.

The other body was as badly decomposed as the first, and in removing it from under the table the scalp fell off.

It is not at all unlikely that other remains will yet be found in the ruins, as there are four or five persons yet unaccounted for.

The last two victims undoubtedly died a horrible death, as they were both imprisoned in a vault where the fire did not reach, and from the appearance of the remains they were not crushed or injured by the falling ruins.

THE BALMACEDA OF MEXICO.

A Revolution Said to Be Near at Hand Against Diaz.

WASHINGTON, Sep. 1.—Now that the Chilian insurgents have fully succeeded in overthrowning Balmaceda the result will surely hasten the long brewing revolt in Mexico, says a private letter from an old resident of the City of Mexico. He declares that Diaz is in fact the Balmaceda of Mexico, and that he is guilty of nearly the same offenses against human liberty as is Balmaceda.

The letter states that it will not be many days before a serious and effective blow will be struck by the people against the dictatorial reign of Diaz. In furthering his personal interests Diaz is charged with combining with foreign capitalists and accepting bribes from foreign corporations in return for valuable concessions. While he has become a man of great wealth, the people of his Republic have grown poorer and poorer.

CONNECTICUT NATIONAL GUARD

Highly Praised By Inspector Bowen—Bicycle Service Commended.

WASHINGTON, Sep. 1.—Lieut. William H. Bowen, of the army, who inspected the Connecticut National Guard during its recent encampment, has sent to the War Department a very complimentary report, giving the result of his observations. A novelty of the encampment was a special bicycle service by a corps of First Regiment men, and this feature is specially commended.

"The men were armed," says Lieutenant Bowen, "with the Colt's repeating carbine and with the revolver. A man mounted on a bicycle can go many places where it would be impossible to take a horse, and it can beat the flag in sending messages in nearly every case.

"As a fighting force it may not be favored, but as messengers, patrols and advance guard, in my opinion, it would be advisable.

"I would recommend to the serious consideration of the War Department the advisability of experimenting with the bicycle."

Of the colored troops, Lieut. Bowen says: "They were simply perfect, and in getting through the bush, as demonstrated on guard duty, they exhibited the traits of Indians, and in scouting exhibited an acuteness that was absolutely marvelous."

Purely a Social Visit.

PHILADELPHIA, Sep. 1.—Colonel A. Louden Snowden, Minister to Greece, who recently visited Bar Harbor, says the report that he went to Mr. Blaine at the instance of President Harrison is untrue. The question of renomination, or politics, has not been discussed by the President and Colonel Snowden, nor by Mr. Blaine and Colonel Snowden. The visit to Mr. Blaine was purely a social one. Mr. Blaine's health had been impaired by overwork, but he was now recovering. A great improvement could be noticed.

The Burgess Yacht Business to Continue.

BOSTON, Sep. 1.—The business of Edward Burgess, the well-known yacht designer, recently deceased, will be continued by George A. Stewart and Arthur Binney, who were for a long time associated with Mr. Burgess. Mr. Binney is a draughtsman, and since 1888 has worked on the plans of every yacht designed by Mr. Burgess.

More of Canada's Official Scandal.

OTTAWA, Ont., Sep. 1.—A sensation has been caused here over the report that there has been some very damaging evidence secured against Secretary of State Chapleau, and that it is more than probable that he will find himself in the same boat with his colleague, Sir Hector Langevin, an exiled politician.

A Big Strike Promised.

BOSTON, Sep. 1.—Chairman Newton at a meeting of the Boston bakers, said that on May 1, 1892 the organized bakers affiliated with the International Journeyman's Bakers' Union will strike from Maine to California for an increase of wages and a reduction of the hours of labor.

C. B. & Q. Statement.

BOSTON, Sep. 1.—The July statement of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, including controlled roads, shows gross earnings, $2,761,404; increase, $40,095. Net earnings after operative expenses and one-twelfth of annual charges (estimated for 1891), $330,467; increase, $38,597.

THE SEARLES WILL.

Twenty-One Blood Relatives Unite to Break It.

GREAT BARRINGTON, Mass., Sep. 1.—That the will of Mrs. Searls Hopkins will be vigorously contested is now assured by the action taken by the twenty-one blood relatives of the dead woman who have combined with her adopted son, Timothy Hopkins, of San Francisco, to contest her will, on the ground that undue influence was exerted upon her to make her husband her sole legatee, and it will be claimed, besides, that she was not in sound mental condition when she executed the will.

Timothy Hopkins, it is said, has refused an offer of $5,000,000 to withdraw his opposition to the probate of his adopted mother's will, and will, Sept. 17, file his claims.

The twenty-one relatives referred to above, who have already filed notice of contest in the probate office in this city, are cousins of Mrs. Searles, named Hebbard and Sherwood. Several of them are aged, and none of them is rich. Many have been dependent for years upon Mrs. Searles's bounty, and have in their possession written promises of liberal provision in her will.

Nathal Hebbard, one of the cousins of New York, says that he can prove a conspiracy on the part of Mr. Searles and C. P. Huntington, their object, he thinks, being to keep consolidated the Hopkins interest in the Southern Pacific railroad ownership.

Mr. Hebbard believes that Mrs. Searles was irresponsible at the time of making her will.

KILLED BY A TRAMP

The Brutal Double Murder Near Hartford.

TWO MEN NOW UNDER ARREST

One of Them is Believed to Be the Guilty Party.

He Was Seen With Bushenhagen Wednesday Last—The Crime Supposed to Have Been Committed Sunday Morning While the Old Man Was Gathering Fire Wood. How His Wife Was Killed.

HARTFORD, Conn., Sep. 1.—It is still believed that the murder of Frederick Bushenhagen and wife at their home, on a farm in a secluded spot near Bloomfield, was the work of a tramp.

About dark Sunday night a neighbor, while crossing the farm, noticed one of Bushenhagen's cows wandering around the house. He rapped at the door and, receiving no response, supposed the inmates were asleep. Returning by the house at 9 p.m. he again called, and failing to arouse anybody, examined the outside of the building and found blood on a rear doorstep.

He aroused the neighbors and together they searched the house and fields. There were blood stains and traces of a scuffle on the yard fence, and marks in the earth led to the well where the deceased were found.

It seems probable that the tragedy occurred early Sunday morning, and that the murderer was a tramp who slept in the barn on Saturday night.

It is thought that Bushenhagen found him there Sunday morning on going out for fire wood; that a quarrel occurred and that the old man was killed by four blows with a coupling pin, which was found near the barn.

The supposition is that the woman ran out, half dressed, to aid her husband. On her body there was only a chemise, a skirt and one stocking. The murderer probably deemed it best to silence the only witness of his crime, and seizing a club he killed her.

There was no robbery, and it is evident that the murderer did not enter the house.

Sunday residents on the main road near the scene of the murder say that they saw a tramp pass towards Hartford. He was a large man, heavily built, with two weeks growth of beard, wearing overalls and a dark coat with an overcoat thrown over his shoulder.

Nathal Hebbard, one of the cousins of Bushenhagen was 70 years old, and served in the 22d Connecticut Regiment. As age came on he has not been able to do much on his little farm, and the couple were very poor.

A bank book was found on the table in the house, showing $50 on deposit in the Hartford Savings Bank.

Two men were arrested last evening. One was caught in the town of Bloomfield and one in Windsor. Both answer the general description of the tramp.

The man arrested in Windsor was a German named Louis Lauer. He said he formerly knew Bushenhagen, but had not seen him for four years. He was released from jail last Wednesday after 18 months' confinement, and was seen with Bushenhagen on Friday. He is believed to be the murderer.

CORBETT ON MITCHELL.

He is Anxious and Ready to Meet Him at Any Time.

BOSTON, Sep. 1.—Jim Corbett, in an interview last night, denied that there were any differences between himself and Sullivan. Speaking of Mitchell he said:

"If Mitchell and I meet," he said, "it will be no sprint race. I myself am enough of a sprinter to catch a man in a prize ring.

"Mitchell's acceptance of my challenge looks genuine and is a welcome feature of this fighting debate. I am ready to fight him as soon as he is ready and at any place he may select. There is nothing in my theatrical engagements to prevent an early meeting. They were made with the express provision that a fight with Slavin or Mitchell, Mitchell preferred, would not be interfered with.

"I shall give him no chance to back out of the acceptance when he arrives. As preferences in the matter I would select the Granite Club, Hoboken, or the Olympic Club of New Orleans, if the choice were left to one. The fight ought to and probably will come off at the club offering the largest purse."

Chinamen Smuggled In From Canada.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sep. 1—It appears that large numbers of Chinamen are arriving in this country by way of Canada. The plan of their introduction here is peculiar. They reach the towns lying along the Canadian border, and there is a permanent offer of $100 to anyone who will land them on United States soil, the Chinamen themselves taking the chance of safety after reaching this side. It is suspected that a number of Chinamen have arrived at points near Charlotte, leaving the steamer before reaching port and being taken in small boats thence to land.

Vermont's Claim Presented.

WASHINGTON, Sep. 1.—Governor Page, for the State, presented to the Treasury shortly before noon the claim of Vermont for her share of the direct tax, amounting to $179,407. Secretary Proctor accompanied the Governor during his visit to the different departments.

$25,000,000 4 1-2 Bonds to Redeem.

WASHINGTON, Sep. 1.—Secretary Foster said this morning that from present indications he would have to redeem about $25,000,000 4 1-2 per cent. bonds. The amount so far presented for extention is $23,221,650, and there are about $3,000,000 of these bonds in the course of preparation for extension.

Movements of Our War Ships.

WASHINGTON, Sep. 1.—The Navy Department has advices that the Portsmouth has left Plymouth, England, for Madeira, Spain; the Squadron of Evolution, Bar Harbor for Belfast, Me., and the Pensacola, Mare Island navy yard for San Francisco.

WASHINGTON, Sep. 1.—The Treasury monthly public debt statement to-day shows that the cash available for the reduction of the public debt has increased during the month of August about $7,500,000.
