THE SURE ROAD TO OPULENCE LIES KNEE-DEEP THROUGH PRINTER'S INK

A SORRY PLATFORM.

The platform of the Democratic Convention, as made in Harrisburg yesterday, is a reflection upon the intelligence of the voter. There are twenty-two planks, and of these thirteen are devoted to the arrest and imprisonment of Mr. Bardsley. Grave national questions upon which Pennsylvania, whether in a Republican or a Democratic convention, has never spoken with an uncertain sound, are ignored. The tariff question, upon which the ablest Democrats in the party—men like Mr. Black, Colonel Slingerly, Colonel Scott and others—have labored for years, is dismissed in a sentence. The silver question, which is now a national issue of the utmost importance, and upon which Pennsylvania of all states should speak with no faint tones, is given an incoherent part of an almost unintelligible sentence. The Pension question, which excites the interest of the true friends of the soldier, to the end that the men who fought may not be robbed by the men who shirked, is ignored. While for Mr. Cleveland, the leader of the party, and now in the advance of active Democratic sentiment, there is not a word of praise.

There was no reason why the Democratic convention should not speak with emphasis on the Bardsley business. But why not have told the whole truth, as it will be told on the hustings? Why not have said that Mr. Bardsley, in imitation of a dozen or so of Democratic treasurers of Democratic states, in emulation of that renowned leader, Tweed, had made away with the public money; that a Republican Mayor arrested him, and a Republican District Attorney sent him to jail? Why overlook the fact that no one is more to blame for the loss of the state money than the Governor himself—a bank president—his own bank in financial relations with Mr. Bardsley, and as a keen, able, well-informed man, taken to Harrisburg on suspicion, if not the actual knowledge, which would have made an overhauling of the Treasury an immediate duty, and the consequences of such an overhauling the preservation of the interests of the state? Why ignore this fact? It is as much a part of the record as that Bardsley stole the money. Republicans can answer the elaborate arraignment of the platform, with the simple avowal: "If in our misfortune, a misfortune that might befall any bank or institution, we have been betrayed by an unworthy servant, we likewise have servants swift with the majesty and terror of the law." It is because that Republican officials did their duty that this miscreant, this Republican shadow of a Democratic Tweed, is in jail. It is because that Democratic officials failed to do their duty that he was not sent to jail months before.

It is unfortunate that the Democratic leaders should narrow their canvass into this limited, untenable ground. The Star has held from the outset that honesty and expressed political convictions are not relative terms; that it is a reflection upon the integrity of a proud and honest people to infer that opinions upon high national questions mean an acceptance or condonation of crime; that men are honest or dishonest so far as they are really Democrats or Republicans. The convention did not think so, and therefore why say it? There is no scintilla of evidence so far as these three Mercantile Appraisers are concerned that was not in the hands of Mr. Pattison when he was made Governor. There is no record of State Auditor General administration so censurable as that of certain Democratic officials.

And so we might continue were we to criticize this narrow Little Peddington platform in the spirit in which it was written. There was a time when the great Democratic party of Pennsylvania met in convention to unite with its brethren in other states in governing Democratic policy. There never was a time when the need of that voice was more important than at present. We regret that our Democratic friends have missed their opportunity. Silence on national issues, disingenuousness and timidity on home issues. This is not the way to win a campaign!—Phila. Star, (Ind.)

GREEK CHURCH!

THE FACTIONS IN THE CONGREGATION AGAIN UNITED.

THE TROUBLES TO BE SETTLED

The Battle That Continued in the Church for Over Two Years Turned Against Rev. Andrukowicz

The dove of peace is hovering over the Greek Catholic church of town and in a short time the congregation will be united as strong as it was when the church was first instituted here.

The factions have united and they are now turning in a body against Rev. Andrukowicz the priest who has led the church in defiance of all efforts legal and otherwise to depose him and who, for months, conducted services under the protection of a body of special police.

It will be remembered that two years ago Rev. Wolanski, who founded the church, returned from Lemberg, Galicia, and claimed that he was empowered by the Archbishop of that place to resume charge of the church.

Rev. Wolanski's visit here caused some excitement among Rev. Andrukowicz's adherents and the latter refused to meet the former, or treat with him in the matter. Rev. Wolanski remonstrated and Rev. Andrukowicz was defiant. Rev. Wolanski visited the church to hold mass, but was stopped at the door by the special police armed with Winchester and put on guard by Rev. Andrukowicz and the trustees.

Documents from the Archbishop of Lemberg, purporting to authorize Rev. Wolanski to take charge of the church were next produced, but Rev. Andrukowicz declared they were not authentic and of no value.

Then Rev. Aurbuskavicz arrived from Lemberg, armed with documents authorizing him to take charge of the church, but he was treated by Rev. Andrukowicz, as Rev. Wolanski had been treated. Finally the latter gentleman became disgusted and returned to Galicia, where he now has charge of a large congregation. Rev. Aurbuskavicz tried to reason with the church trustees, but they were pledged to support the priest in charge and would not be moved.

Rev. Aurbuskavicz next gave up and took charge of a church in Shamokin and has since taken charge of one in Olyphant.

Since that time Rev. Andrukowicz has enjoyed possession of the church here, undisturbed. But his reign will not be peaceful much longer. The friends who stood by him in his fight against Revs. Wolanski and Aurbuskavicz have at last become convinced that the documents brought here by those two priests were genuine. They recognize at last that Rev. Andrukowicz was legally suspended and they now declare that they can no longer attend the church while he claims to have charge.

Accordingly, all factions of the church are now united and a determined effort will be made in a few days to oust the priest.

Yesterday a new board of trustees was elected. They are: Andrew Kossar, Afon Michalski, Joseph Kowal, D. Salay, Mike Dennyanczy, George Korac, Tomko Onuszcak, Mike Pavlick, Akin Dzuvin, Mike Urvan, George Wroclick, Panke Sembrat and George Koval.

The board has notified Rev. Andrukowicz that the suspension made by the Archbishop of Lemberg, has been found authentic and that the church must be surrendered.

Rev. Andrukowicz says he will not surrender until the congregation refunds to him $1,000 he claims to have invested in the church. The trustees say they want the priest to make an accounting and if he can show them that he invested $1,000 in the church they will pay him the money.

The trustees are determined that Rev. Andrukowicz shall surrender the church and, if necessary, they will go into court to compel the priest to make an accounting and withdraw.

This turn of affairs is a complete vindication for Revs. Wolanski and Aurbuskavicz, whose cause the HERALD championed during the fruitless battles.

COMMITTEE.

A POLICEMAN ARRESTED.

Constable Tosh Prosecutes C. & I. Policeman Geiger.

C. & I. Policeman Geiger, one of the Lehigh Valley Railroad forces, this morning entered $300 bail to answer a charge of assault and battery made against him by Constable Tosh, of town.

Tosh was a passenger on a Lehigh Valley train last evening with excursionists from St. Clair. When the car was between Dark Water and Delano Tosh says he told an intoxicated man who was in a passenger car with ladies not to use vile language. Geiger then entered the car and told Tosh not to talk to the man. An exchange of words followed and then Geiger pulled Tosh out of his seat and forced him into a rear car. Tosh says that Geiger was too quick tempered and used undue violence.

POLITICAL.

The Democrats are talking about the "ringing platform" announced at Harrisburg. Hollow things usually make most noise, that's the reason that platform is such a ringing one. It's all sound. "Sheet iron thunder" an exchange well calls it. See that your taxes are paid before October 31.

Gen. Gregg, was a gallant soldier, one of the heroes of the battle of Gettysburg. Robert E. Wright is a corporation lawyer. Both are candidates for Auditor General of Pennsylvania. Voters of the state must make their choice between the two.

The Democrats do not like the way the Republicans are coming together.

This is a year of Republican unity in Pennsylvania as elsewhere. The whole party supports Gregg and Morrison. There are no kickers, no soreheads, no Independents, no Mugwumps.

Prosperity and the Republican party go together.

Has Wallinger dropped out of the race? You hear his name scarcely mentioned since the convention adjourned.

Capt. John W. Morrison, the Republican candidate for State Treasurer, was a fighting soldier of the celebrated Roundhead regiment. A. P. Tilden is the Democratic candidate, a political farmer who never fought a battle. The people will take the brave soldier every time, especially when in personal character and integrity he is the peer of his opponent.

Junio Green's majority in Pottsville will be very large—a regular old-fashioned Republican majority.

Mt. Carmel To-morrow.

Grand Army Day will be celebrated with great eclat at Mt. Carmel to-morrow. This old town has been greatly changed in appearance by the profusion of evergreens, flags, bunting, etc.

Arrangements have been made to give the veterans of the late war a good reception. Refreshments will be abundant and none need go away hungry.

Our own Post of the Grand Army, accompanied by the Grand band, will leave on the Lehigh Valley Railroad at 9:30 a. m.

The fare for the round trip on both the Reading and Lehigh Valley Railroads is only 50 cents.

The great ex-war Governor, Andrew G. Curtin, is expected to be present; likewise many other distinguished officers and soldiers.

Shenandoah will also send a large number of citizens to help the "boys in blue" in making a good showing.

TOWN TALKER.

THOUGHTS ON THIS AND THAT THREADED TOGETHER.

THEMES TERSELY TABULATED

The Tattle of the Tattlers Timely Taken and Told Typographically in a Tasteful and Tempting Tone.

If Shenandoah had a $50,000 industrial fund on tap business would be quite different in the town; in fact the cry of hard times would not be heard, and for the reason every person would be fully employed. Gradually the empty houses would fill with prompt paying tenants and in time new houses would have to be erected to supply the ever increasing demand for houses for the new comers. Such a picture presents quite a contrast with the situation of to-day, and yet it is a faithful illustration of the difference between trying to make a town and letting a town go to pieces rather than to raise a finger to save it. This whole question of building up the town by encouraging manufacturing resolves itself into this: It is simply boosting the town in order to help the individual by making his possessions more valuable.

A parallel can be found in the policy of the real estate owner who will venture to make a $500 or $1,000 improvement with the certainty of increasing the market value of his property $1,500 to $3,000. Surely a person would not hesitate long over such a prospect, and yet the same person fails, perhaps, to see that investing in manufacturing enterprises will have a similar effect on the real estate of Shenandoah, and instead of benefiting but one person will benefit every person directly or indirectly in the town or near vicinity. That planting and fostering industrial enterprises will affect the town, as shown, is easily proven by the record of every progressive city or town in the country.

Manufacturing enterprises attract population; population consumes food products, goods, wares and merchandise; rents houses, buys land, erects buildings, patronizes schools, colleges, railways and, high above all, creates wealth, and scatters money in every direction. Shenandoah, in hesitating to plant industries, is practically strangling herself, and that is just why the HERALD so stoutly protests against such a shameful sacrifice. Shenandoah should be a striving, prosperous city; it can be so made, but it will require patience and everlasting push. The game is worth the candle, therefore let each and all do his part, and dollars can soon be gathered more readily than pennies heretofore or now.

Artistic Advertising.

Undoubtedly the Ivory Soap people deserve credit for the best grade of illustrations now being used for advertising purposes. The series of full-page drawings which have been appearing on the last page of the Century represent some of the most capable book and magazine artists in the country. The series must have cost no small figure. As yet the "way up" artists do not sign the work they do for advertisers, but I apprehend that it will not be long ere we shall see in the advertising columns such names as George Wharton Edwards, E. W. Kemble, etc. Such men as these bring to their work, besides mere mechanical skill, a trained imagination and an artistic conception of things. These qualities, when used in connection with advertisements, command scarcely less interest than when used in the ordinary literary way.—Printer's Ink, August 19, 1891.

Weller Arrested.

Yesterday Chief of Police Amour went to Washington township, Snyder county, and arrested W. J. Weller, cattle dealer of Middleburg, charged by William Taggart, of Wm. Penn, with horse stealing. Weller furnished bail before Squire Hummel, of Middleburg, in the sum of $1,000 for his appearance at Pottsville next Monday. Weller was with "Dr. H. S. Darwin of Baltimore, Md." when he sold Taggart a horse that J. C. Bower, of Dubois town, Lycoming county, subsequently claimed as stolen property.

An Unknown Miscreant.

While the picnic was in progress at Columbia Park last night some unknown rowdy threw a stone that struck a daughter of Tax Collector Higgins, who was on the dancing platform. The stone inflicted a painful gash on the young lady's forehead and it was necessary to remove her to her home. It will not be pleasant for the rowdy if his identity is discovered.

Eva Disbands.

Mrs. Eva Mann, who has been masquerading as Mrs. Robert Ray Hamilton, and who was booked by Manager Ferguson to appear in this town this week, disbanded at Shamokin Saturday night and will not appear here. Eva and her play "All a Mistake" received a more decided set back in Pennsylvania than they did in New Jersey and her manager has very wisely concluded to withdraw from the field.
