BARDSLEY was a rascal and was punished by the Republican city government of Philadelphia. Why didn't the Democratic state governments of the several states whose state treasurers were defaulters, run down and punish their rascals? The Republicans try to reform their party by punishing the rascals that creep into it, the Democrats cover up their crimes, when they can, and let their criminals escape when their work can be no longer hid. That is the difference in the parties. If Pennsylvania voters want good government and honest reform, they will not try the experiment of putting into office hungry Democrats to do it.

atonic valleys will get from $2,500,000 to $3,000,000 for their crop this year, as against $1,600,000 in 1890. The additional million and odd dollars used to be paid to the Hollanders for Sumatra tobacco, but the highest tariff placed by the McKinley law on the imported article diverts the money into the pockets of American producers.

A good many Democrats who have been crying out against bossism in the Republican party, don't take very kindly to the idea of bossism being transferred from the Republican to the Democratic party. This year the Republicans nominated a ticket free from boss dictation, but the Democracy have to take a ticket slated by Boss Harrity with a cut and dried platform from the same source. Harrity has firmly entrenched himself as the party's boss, but the rank and file don't take kindly to the order of things. But what will they do about it?

THE Democrats are constantly harping upon the grasping power and the monopolies of corporations, and yet they head their state ticket with a corporation lawyer. But who ever knew the Democrats to be consistent in anything but the desire to get the offices.

THE division of the borough of Shenandoah into several more wards is imperatively demanded by all fair-minded citizens, irrespective of party.

It is a magnificent ticket—that one in New York headed by Senator Fassett for Governor. It will win.

Merit Wins.

We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Kidney Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never had a single complaint. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. C. H. Hagenbuch, Druggist.

TOWN TALKER.

THOUGHTS ON THIS AND THAT THREADED TOGETHER.

THEMES TERSELY TABULATED

The Battle of the Tattlers Timely Taken and Told Typographically in a Tasteful and Tempting Tone.

The present has been a busy criminal court week and a large number of our townsmen have spent most of their time there as principals, witnesses and jurors. Next week promises to be equally busy.

A number of old cases will be called up next week, among them is one that has been hanging fire for a year—the case of Moss Davis, who had two young men arrested for stealing razors from his barber shop. The case was deferred to give the accused a chance to settle, but they failed to do so and must now stand trial.

This morning Charles Ringeliser was committed to the county jail to await trial on an old charge of robbery.

A South Main street Polish business man has left for parts unknown. He was to have been married to-day, but changed his mind at the last minute. He was arrested one day last week on complaint of a girl of town, but his protestations of good faith were so strong and sincere the parents of the girl consented to his release without bail. He accompanied his affianced to the priest, made arrangements for the ceremony to-day, and purchased a number of trinkets for his bride-to-be, but to-day he could not be found.

A lady conversing with a HERALD reporter last night regarding the Poles, Hungarians and Arabs of town recalled an instance in which she was repaid in a novel manner for a kindness she had shown. An Arabian peddler who could barely make himself understood in the English language called at her house one day and asked permission to have his mail sent to her house. He explained that owing to his poor knowledge of the English language he experienced much difficulty in securing his mail in the post office. If his letters were sent to the house all difficulty would be avoided. The permission was given and letters addressed to the Arabian poured in soon after. But one day the lady was surprised to find a score of Arabian men, women and children at her door, with trunks, boxes and bags. They were immigrants for whom the Arabian had sent to New York and they went to the borrowed address under the supposition that it was their friend's home or an Arabian boarding house. It required forcible demonstrations to prevent the mob entering the house. The lady of the house lost no time in notifying the Arabian man of letters to have his mail sent elsewhere.

A story is told of a number of town ladies who held a picnic in the Catawissa valley recently. Men were excluded. It was a purely female affair and they enjoyed themselves as all girls do when they are sure that the masculine sex are not near. One of the ladies proposed a series of acrobatic feats, one of which was the climbing of a hay mow in a convenient barn. This feat was accompanied by a trick. Two ladies climbed to the top of the mow and descended. A third was induced to attempt the feat. She consented and struggled gradually to the top when, to her dismay, a figure in male attire emerged from a hole. With a shriek the lady slid down the mow to the barn floor. The descent was not very graceful, but it was rapid. Shouts of laughter filled the barn as the male figure also slid down to the barn floor. Explanations were then in order. The figure in male attire was an old suit of clothes stuffed. It was carried to the top of the mow by two rough maidens previous to the arrangement of the game.

POLITICAL.

"Turn the rascals in" is the Republican cry, and that is what the party is doing. It is left for the Democrats to "Turn the rascals out"—if jail.

They are buying exciting political times in Ohio. McKinley has aroused unfeigned enthusiasm among the people. McKinley is everybody's favorite.

Jones, who pays the freight, will be an independent candidate for Governor in New York if the Democrats fail to nominate him.

There will be very little use of the bootlegger this year.

Organize, Republicans. It is only through organization that a brilliant victory can be won.

The news from all parts of the country is cheering. Republicans were never so enthusiastic and hopeful of a grand victory.

Wallack on Monday.

Monday evening in Ferguson's theatre, Mr. Jas. H. Wallack will produce his favorite equestrian success entitled, "The Mountain King." "The Mountain King" is the style of play that pleases all classes. The interest commences as soon as the curtain goes up, and from that time on it never ceases. It is of the sensational order, but as a rule the dialogue is far, very far, above the average of plays of its class in literary quality. It is cleverly constructed and presents a number of stirring situations and climaxes. It is well acted, the cast being unusually strong in the several parts, and there isn't a word in it to bring the blush to the cheek of the innocent. Virtue suffers in the second act, but triumphs in the fifth, while villainy which is successful in the beginning meets with ignominy and retribution in the last. Mr. Wallack, as Bart Simpson, has a part well suited to his style of acting and never fails to bring rounds of applause from the audience. The wonderful acting horses Raider, Charger, Texas and Pete are unequalled as equine actors and perform wonderful tricks during the progress of the play. The new scenery is handsome and the mechanical effects are novel and ingenious.

Odd Characters.

The saving in of the floor in the Egyptian museum on Wednesday night is being harped upon by the irrepressible story teller. It is said that an Irishman from Brownsville who escaped going down with the floor said to a friend after leaving the place: "Shure, an' when I saw the floor go down I didn't say a word. I thought it was part of the play and the floor would come up again." Another story runs this way. After the floor fell a tramp walked to the edge of the hole and asked a young man, "Are you fast?" Upon receiving a reply in the affirmative the tramp took the hat from the young man's head and walked off with it.

Comic Songs, Good and Bad.

What a relief to an audience when a comic song is on tap to find the rhyme smooth and the humor natural; it not only heightens the effect but adds to the enjoyment of reflecting on its merits. How many cheap, trashy, maudlin songs there are on our stage, ignorantly and murderously put together, leaving with us only regret that the author still had life to further lull his nightmares upon us. But what was the pleasurable surprise of the vast audience last night when one after the other came original songs written in a masterly manner and convincing the spectators with their unctuous and irresistible humor. Never have I so desired to witness a performance a second time and never will I forget that interesting and brightest of plays, "O'Flynn in Mexico."—New York World, May 10th. In Ferguson's theatre Wednesday, September 10th.
