Mary Curran, a 10-year-old daughter of Kyran Curran, a fire boss in the Cameron colliery, left her home on Scotch Hill, Shamokin, and for two days and nights wandered in the mountains. Searching parties were sent out and she was found. Her mind is unbalanced by her stay in the mountains.

Nicholas Weaver, a well-known engineer on the Lehigh Valley Railroad, died at his home on Pine street, East Mauch Chunk, on Wednesday evening. His last employment was on the Mahanoy branch as engineer of locomotive No. 74, drawing No. 232 freight between Packerton and Mt. Carmel. Mr. Weaver had been sick for some time but had almost fully recovered. He came home from work in his usual health on Saturday evening, August 29th. During that night he was stricken with paralysis to which hemorrhages were added later and these caused his death. Nicholas Weaver was born in Germany and was forty-nine years and five months old. His parents came to this country when he was only four years of age. He was a railroad all his life and an engineer for twenty-six years. The deceased leaves a wife and seven children. The eldest son, George N. Weaver, is married and lives at Delano.—Mauch Chunk Times.

Insurance Commissioner Luper has returned to Harrisburg from his trip to Luzerne county, in which he had four men arrested for acting as agents for the People's Mutual Benefit Society of Elkhart, Indiana, which the State Insurance Department refused to license. A large number of people are out of pocket the premiums they have paid.

Thomas Lounin, a clothier of Hazleton, Pa., went to see the McAniff-Gibbons fight at Hoboken on Friday night. He met a man there who pictured the beauties of the Bowery in New York. After the fight they crossed the ferry, and got three glasses of beer in Pearl street. Lounin says the beer must have been drugged, because his head began to sing at once. In the saloon another man joined them. Then they went out and walked up the street a short distance, when one of Lounin's new acquaintances leaned over and said, "Your clothes aren't fixed right." With this he snatched a $400 diamond pin from Lounin's cravat and ran. Then Lounin fell into the gutter unconscious. When he awoke he went to the Oak street police station, where he made known his loss, and was locked up for intoxication. At the Tombs he was discharged.

John McNurtrie, a book canvasser, went into the Henry Clay mine to sell a book and as he was leaving the place he was crushed to death by a mine car.

Mt. Pleasant, Luzerne county, isn't any more. The name of the village has been changed to Harwood and the colliery is now the Harwood colliery.

The Board of Directors of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company has declared a quarterly dividend of one and one-quarter per cent, payable Thursday, October 15, 1891.

At about 5 o'clock Friday evening the body of Mrs. Kate Downs, of Alden, was found in the Lehigh river, near the old bridge below Penn Haven Junction. The body was found by her son, Martin Downs. It was wedged between rocks. Mrs. Downs disappeared from a Lehigh Valley train at Penn Haven Junction one night last week. The cause of her disappearance is a mystery.

Mahlon Gerber, the superintendent of the Sidney Coal Company's washery, at Maizeville, has purchased a part interest in the colliery known as Zerby's, at Gilberton, and proposes screening the banks surrounding it. A new breaker for the purpose had been erected nearly a year ago, but owing to a disagreement between the partners, Messrs. Zerby and Seaman, the plant has been inactive ever since. Mr. Gerber assumes Mr. Zerby's interest in it, a transfer being made one day last week, and with the assistance of Mr. Seaman, of Frackville, will commence operations immediately.

The employees of the United States Express are to be uniformed at the expense of the company by October 1. The uniform consists of a double-breasted coat of dark navy blue, with brass buttons containing the monogram "U. S. E." On the lapel of the coat will be worn the trade mark of the company, a horseshoe and fire-proof safe with eagle wings extending therefrom.

The remains of the late Joseph C. Rasbridge arrived at Ashland Saturday night on one of the late Lehigh trains and conveyed to his parents home at Gordon. He died at his home at Keokuk, Iowa, last Tuesday night from injuries he received in a wreck on the Keokuk and North-Western Railway on the morning of Sept. 2nd.

KEYSTONE BANK AFFAIRS.

The Investigation Will Be Continued By the Treasury Department.

WASHINGTON, Sep. 15.—After the conference held at the Treasury Department between Acting Secretary Spaulding, Solicitor Hepburn and Comptroller Lacey, as to the power of the government to accept advances of money to continue the examination into the affairs of the Keystone National Bank of Philadelphia, the following telegram was sent to the chairman of the committee of fifty: "The revised statutes of the United States provides that 'no department of the government shall expend in any one fiscal year any sum in excess of appropriations made by Congress for the fiscal year, or involve the government in any contract for the future payment of money in excess of such appropriations.' 'The act of March, 1891, provides an appropriation of $5,000 for the necessary investigation of violations of Section 5,092 of the revised statutes of the United States, and for no other purpose whatever.' 'Of the amount appropriated for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1891, more than $4,600 has already been expended, and largely in connection with the investigation of the affairs of the Keystone National Bank, leaving less than $400 to cover similar investigations throughout the entire country during the entire nine months of the present fiscal year. This is the only appropriation available for such purpose.' 'The above states fully the condition of the appropriation and the laws, but as it is the desire of this department that the investigation into the affairs of the bank be thorough and exhaustive, and that all the facts be brought to light, you are informed that, if as proposed, your committee shall advance the money necessary to continue the investigation it shall proceed under the direction of this department, and the Secretary of the Treasury will ask Congress to make an appropriation to reimburse the advances.'"

STRAWS show the way the wind blows, but they don't show what hard blows we have been striking at straw hat prices. Some hats are dear at any price; these hats are cheap at double the money. If what covers your head is not becoming to you, all the pains you take as to the rest of your attire are simply thrown away. Come and see how you will look in one of our straw hats. There's no use in giving any further description of them than to say this—they are stylish. We cut the price down because we want to cut our stock down. Another big bargain in hats is our $1 black stiff hats.
