NOT HARD PRESSED.

Secretary Foster Denies a Financial Rumor.

THE TREASURY NOT PINCHED.

Less Money on Hand Now than There
Has Been for Years.

He insists that the Nation Has All the
Cash Required—The President to Make
Important Appointments Tomorrow—
The Minister to China to be Named This Week—Collector Fassett's Successor.

WASHINGTON, Sep. 17.—Secretary Foster denies the rumor that at a recent meeting of the Cabinet it had been agreed to postpone the payment of money for all public purposes as far as possible, or that unusual expedients had been resorted to to pay the non-extended 4-1/2 per cent. bonds. He added, however, that he felt that it would be good policy to restrict disbursing officers to their actual needs.

Four months ago he found over $40,000,000 in the hands of disbursing officers when probably $26,000,000 would have been an ample supply. Less than $8,000,000 is now held by them, and he hopes to reduce this sum to a minimum.

Secretary Foster insists that the Treasury has all the money required to maintain a position of perfect ease without adopting a policy of delay or resorting to any action that is not based on perfectly sound principles, but he admits that there is less money in the Treasury now than there has been for many years.

PROMINENT APPOINTMENTS.

The President will fill the vacancies in Office This Week.

WASHINGTON, Sep. 17.—President Harrison will make a number of prominent appointments this week, probably tomorrow. It is understood that he will fill the two vacancies on the Interstate Commerce Commission and the one on the Court of Claims. Col. Glenn, of Atlanta, is the best indorsed applicant from the South to fill the place on the commission to be given that section for a Democrat, and he will likely be one of the appointees.

The other one the President has not agreed upon. He is considering a number of men, and since the West already has one place on the commission, in the person of Col. Morrison, of Illinois, the second vacancy, by resignation of Judge Cooley, of Michigan, may go to the East. The vacancy on the Court of Claims will not, as has been supposed, go to Ohio, unless the present status of affairs is changed.

It will, however, go to that section of the country, to a lawyer well known in an adjoining State, but who has not occupied a public position. The Chinese mission may be filled this week, and a successor to Collector Fassett, of New York, may also be named.

HELD FOR MURDER.

An Indignant Mother Kills a Neighbor's
Boy With a Case.

BROOKLYN, Sep. 17.—Little did Mrs. Mary Van Blarcom, of Park avenue, dream, that when she beat Willie Truscom, aged 8, with a rattan cane, that he would die from his injuries, and that she would be incarcerated in a cell on a charge of murder.

Young Truscom had assaulted the 4-year-old daughter of Mrs. Van Blarcom. The little girl told her mother, who immediately went down stairs to the rooms of the boy's parents and asked his mother if she could see William.

Having received permission, Mrs. Van Blarcom went into the rear room. The boy was lying on a lounge. Mrs. Van Blarcom beat young Truscom severely with a rattan cane, striking him several times upon the head. The boy died half an hour later.

The woman was arrested by the police of the Fourth precinct. She made a statement to Captain McKelvey, in which she acknowledged that she had beaten the boy.

She has been held in Justice Goetting's court to await the action of the Coroner. Much sympathy is expressed for Mrs. Van Blarcom, as it is not thought that she meant to hurt the boy, but only wished to teach him to be more careful in the future. She has hitherto borne a good reputation.

THE POMPEIAN PALACE.

A Noted Building of Paris and Its History.

The Paris correspondent of the London Times says: "The famous 'Pompeian palace' of the Avenue Montaigne, built by the late Prince Napoleon, has just been sold by its owner, Count Palffy of Hungary, to M. Porges, who is about to pull it down for the construction of a private house. The site originally belonged to Mlle. Mars of the Theater Francaise, and the architect, who is now a member of the institute, M. Normand, designed his plans after the famous house of Diomedes at Pompeii and that belonging to the poet Pansa. The house, about which clusters a number of memories, sometimes odorous of the Roman decadence, is associated with the names of Theophile Gautier, Nestor Roqueplan, Arsene Houssaye, Sainte Beuve, and Paul de Saint Victor. There were played Augier's pretty comedies, 'Le Joueur de Flute' and 'La Femme de Nicomede.' After the sale of the house in 1890 to the Comte de Quinsonnas for six hundred thousand francs it was bought by M. de Lesseps, de Beauregard, and Arsene Houssaye, for the purpose of a museum. Count Palffy has owned it since 1875 and preserved it intact as originally constructed."

Girls as Whistlers.

The belles at some of the fashionable rural resorts this season, says the New York Sun, have attained such skill in the fine art of whistling that they can imitate the songs of bobolinks and other birds in a way that deceives even the ear drum of a trained listener. They whistle while rambling in the woods, or standing on the hilltops, or reclining on the lawns. They whistle in groups so as to produce a pleasing effect, and sometimes one will whistle all by herself in a way to thrill the soul of the hearer. The custom may yet—who can tell?—be introduced into the city here, so that we shall hear the light-hearted daughters of New York whistling like bobolinks or canary birds as they roam or march through our inviting streets, avenues, squares and parks.

Floating Coal.

During the several freshets which have occurred in the Susquehanna river the last spring a vast amount of "culm" from the anthracite coal fields floated down the river with the debris, coming out of the North branch and its tributaries. Large quantities of this culm, or coal dirt, which was washed from the huge banks of that material at the coal breakers, lodged at the heads of the several islands opposite and above the city, and recently parties have secured tons of it by digging it out of the sand and screening it, producing a good quality of pea and chestnut coal for boiler use. A considerable quantity of egg or large sized coal is also gathered from the bottom of this river, where it has lodged among the gravel, and is removed in a perfectly clean state. All the larger sizes of coal have become more or less rounded by the action of the water. Tons of this material are gathered during the summer when the river is low.

A Box of Coins.

The Louisville Courier-Journal has discovered a "tinker" near there whose love of money is nothing short of remarkable. It says he has not spent more than ten dollars in his entire life, and he is nearly forty years old. He will work for anything, even as low as ten cents a day, rather than be idle, and all his money he converts into gold and silver, which he deposits in a box that he built when a boy. It is about three feet square, and it has been his lifelong desire to fill it. This will soon be accomplished, as the rude box is now nearly full. He is totally ignorant of the amount in the box, as he never kept any account of it, simply dropping the coins in through a slit in the top and never taking any out.

FACED A PARIS MOB

A Row Over the Presentation of Wagner's "Lohengrin."

POLICE CHARGE ON THE CROWD.

Up to Midnight Nearly One Thousand
Persons Were Arrested.

The rioters composed of students, anarchists and the rabble of the City—Mounted Cavalry Called Out to Assist the Police—A Strong Guard Around the German Embassy.

PARIS, Sep. 17.—The first performance of Wagner's "Lohengrin," in spite of all opposition, was given last night at the Grand Opera, and passed off with success and eclat.

The Opera House was surrounded by police, and 100 detectives were in the building. Thus effectually protected, the scene was one of great beauty. The boxes were filled with an audience of elite, richly dressed and sparkling with diamonds. The flutter and excitement added to the brilliancy of the occasion.

The Mob Outside.

Outside in the streets a very different scene was being enacted. Soon after the beginning of the opera the streets were thronged by a motley crew of students, ruffians, anarchists and quasi patriots, singing the Marseillaise, shouting "Vive France!" and "A bas Wagner!" and other cries, indicating their disgust with the performance.

The police, when the mob became too noisy, proceeded to clear the thoroughfares. The mob sullenly defied the advancing gendarmes, but did not dare any serious attack. The police, in great force, rushed resolutely on the crowd, and arrested them by the score, urging and pushing them along until the streets were partly cleared.

Again the mob gathered and filled the thoroughfares, and again the police charged, but without making much impression on the dense and defiant throng.
