BACK FROM THE DEAD

A Soldier Who Was Supposed Killed at Shiloh.

RETURNING AFTER MANY YEARS

Rendered Crazy by a Wound He Had Been Wandering About the Country.

Some Incident Finally Led Him Back to His Old Home—Recognized by His Family and Friends—His Wife Had Been Drawing a Widow's Pension—History of a Strange Case.

WASHINGTON, Sep. 21.—One of the most remarkable and pathetic cases that has ever been brought to the attention of the Bureau of Pensions is that of William Newby, a private of Company D, 48th Regiment, Illinois Volunteers, which was conspicuous for its gallantry at the battle of Shiloh. Newby was in this battle on April 6, 1862, and was reported killed in action.

It seems, however, that instead of being killed he received a severe wound of the head and was captured and sent to the army by the Confederate forces, and was imprisoned at Belle Isle, and was afterwards transferred to Andersonville. It seems that Newby was released in course of time and was in poor houses in various parts of the south.

He was finally taken to Key West, Florida, by a merchantman, who recognized Newby as a Union man. Here he remained until 1880 when his uncle died. Newby wandered from place to place and finally turned up in St. Petersburg, La.; while there the colored people made up a purse and he was given passage on a steambent to Cincinnati.

On the way up the river the steambent landed at Shawneetown, Ill. Newby leaving this morning called out seemed to be recognizing that was familiar and got out of the boat.

He was in poor houses at that place and in several other towns. During these years he was in a demented condition bordering on insanity as the result of the wound in the head. In wandering about he finally went over into White county, and when he got near his home was seen and recognized by two of his old comrades who had served in the regiment with him. His wife was sent for and she recognized him, as did his relatives and many of his friends and comrades.

After Newby was reported as killed in action his wife applied for a pension and it was granted, and she has been drawing a widow's pension from the date of his reported death to the present time. This soldier has filed a claim for a pension, and it is now receiving the consideration of the office, the claim of the widow being suspended in the meantime. No discharge has ever been granted to the soldier and the consideration of the pension claim is being postponed until such time as the Secretary of War shall grant the man a discharge.

This soldier has been separated from his family for a period of 20 years, they believing all the while that he was dead, and he now turns up a forlorn, demented old man.
