FAMINE IN EUROPE.

An exhaustive study of the world's food supply in the forthcoming number of the American Agriculturist emphasizes facts of grave importance to both America and Europe. It declares that half has not been told about the European shortage in breadstuffs, which not even a bountiful crop this year would have relieved.

Continental powers, especially Russia suppress the facts as far as possible. In many Russian provinces the scarcity of food became pronounced as far back as February last. In the Konstantinovka district many families have not cooked a meal since Easter, but subsist on bread, soaked rye, grain, etc., bestowed in charity. The astounding shortage in Russia's yield of rye, announced a month ago by the Ministry of Finance, proves even greater than the most extravagant estimates, and obliterates all possibility of Russia exporting any of her scant wheat crops.

POLITICAL.

Pay your taxes. Election not quite five weeks off. Everybody satisfied. Gregg and Morrison are popular among the soldiers.

In order to obtain a vote every voter must pay his taxes within two years. If you do not attend to this before October 3rd, you will not be able to vote at the next election.

The Democrats have no bosses. Neither have people any need of food to keep them alive.

It is sheer nonsense to speak of such a thing as the Democratic party in New York city. There is only Tammany Hall. It is in all and embraces all. No other political organization can raise its head or its voice. It runs the city, and is striving to run the state and nation. It is the Tammany Hall of Tweed and of Connelly, of Sweeney, Kelly and of Croker. It is at once the most powerful and most corrupt political organization that exists on the face of the globe.

The Presidency of the league is settled. The "real war" is over and now there is no question before the house except to flag the Democratic enemy. Mr. Dalsid accepts his defeat manfully and pledges himself to faithful work for the party; in fact, the closing hours at Scranton was a loss-fee; not a trace of bitterness remains to remind one of the excitement of the past few weeks. The recent contestants are now hand in hand ready for active work for those deserving horses—Gregg and Morrison. In short, the Republican host is wheeling into line and when the order for the final charge comes, on November 3, there will be no shakers, but as one man the whole line will sweep forward, and great and overwhelming victory will crown their efforts.

Desirable for Ladies.

The new Fashion Journals published by A. McDowell & Co., 4 West 14th street, New York, are again on our table. The superiority of these journals is abundantly shown on every page. "La Mode" is the smallest of the three, and is intended for family use. It has many styles for children, and is only $1.50 per year, or 15 cents per copy. "La Mode de Paris" is an elegant journal, filled with everything of the latest style in Paris. This is a great favorite with ladies who wish to keep posted in the new styles as they come out. "Album des Modes" is also a popular Parisian publication, many ladies giving it the preference. It is replete with such styles as are patronized by the middle classes, its designs being neat and plain, yet all of the richest character. These three monthly journals claim to give the earliest fashions, and they are all printed in Paris. They contain lessons in practical dressmaking, which are of incomparable value and easy to understand. "La Mode de Paris" and the "Album des Modes" are each $3.50 per annum, or 35 cents for a single copy. Samples can be obtained from the house at single copy prices if there is any difficulty in obtaining them from newsdealers.

Fine Paintings.

The paintings of Miss Virgie Hollopeter, which are displayed in the windows of Hooks and Brown, the stationers and newsdealers, attracted considerable attention last night. They are finely executed and show considerable talent on the part of the artist.

FIRE IN THE FIRST

EAST LLOYD STREET THREATENED BY A BLAZE.

PROMPT WORK BY THE FIREMEN

Excitement at the Indian Ridge Colliery—The Shaft Rope Breaks and Causes Sensational Rumors—Nobody Injured.

Fire was discovered in one of the out-buildings at the rear of the Peter Ost-cavage property, at the northwest corner of Lloyd and Emerick streets last night. The flames spread rapidly and soon ignited the numerous out-buildings that surrounded the one in which the fire started. An alarm was sounded and the fire companies responded promptly, but the flames had already communicated with the main buildings and it looked as if they were doomed. The tenants along the square were terror-stricken and the street and pavements were crowded with their household goods. The firemen attacked the fire with commendable vigor and after a hard fight of about twenty minutes succeeded in confining the flames to the yard buildings. The loss was confined to the destruction of two outside kitchens and their contents, and the slight burning of the rear exterior of the main building. The fire was caused by mine clothes igniting from a stove.

Valuable Horse Killed.

Christ Schmidt has lost one of the valuable horses used on his beer delivery route. On Thursday the team was being driven about Wm. Penn and, as the horses approached a small bridge in the lower patch, one of them was frightened by a dirt dumper. The horse jumped and went over the side of the bridge. He fell upon an old stump in the ditch and the other horse fell on top of him. The wagon and the driver followed. The horse underneath was so badly injured that he died in a short time. The other animal was but slightly injured, while the driver escaped with a few bruises. Mr. Schmidt went to Pottsville to-day to arrange for the collection of damages. He says the bridge was unprotected by railings and that the constable of the township frequently reported the place as dangerous for public travel.

Necrology.

On Tuesday the sad intelligence of the death of Mrs. Fetzer, the beloved wife of Dr. S. E. Fetzer, cast a gloom over the community in which she had lived for so many years, and by which she was highly respected. A loving wife, affectionate mother and kind neighbor, her life's work in the Mahanoy Valley was characterized by kindly deeds, and a solicitude for the welfare of others. A consistent member of the M. E. church, her christian life acts as a sweet fragrance, the memory of which, while stimulating others, will act as a sweet solace to assuage the sorrow of her bereaved husband and children. Mrs. Fetzer was 63 years old, and leaves a husband, three sons and a daughter to mourn her death. Interment was made at the Lutheran cemetery, Frackville, on Friday morning, a large concourse of relatives and friends being in attendance.—Frackville Item.

Blass' Body Recovered.

The body of Adam Blass, the miner who was closed-in in the Girard colliery on Wednesday night, was recovered yesterday afternoon. There was only one injury to the body. That was a small cut across the bridge of the nose. Decomposition had commenced to set in. The teeth clinched the ring of the safety lamp and one hand grasped the handle of a pick. The unfortunate man was closed in by the running of a pillar. Deceased was 43 years old and he left a wife and several children. The funeral will take place at 2 p. m. to-morrow.

Who Owns the Horse?

Last Wednesday a Polisher claiming Helfenstein as his home, stopped at the Commercial hotel and inquired if he could secure lead for his horse. Later on he called at the livery stable of Evan J. Davis, on North Jardin street, and left his horse and buggy, stating he would call again, and that he lived at Green Mountain. He has failed to turn up, and some one may be minus a horse and buggy. The animal is a bay mare, and was no doubt hired from some livery man in one of the above named places.

Must Move Them.

It is understood that the P. & R. C. & I Co. will give final notice for the removal of the slaughter houses now located near the Shenandoah City colliery. The company wants the houses removed to the west bank of the creek.

Not Stolen.

It was reported this afternoon that the son of John Eisenhart, of North Main street, had been stolen by two boys. An investigation revealed the falsity of the report. The boy was found picking chestnuts on the mountain by his mother.

THE ROPE BROKE.

Serious Accident at Indian Ridge Colliery Yesterday.

At about four o'clock yesterday afternoon an empty car was run upon one of the cages in the Indian Ridge colliery shaft and the engineer was given the signal to lower. The shaft is 310 feet deep. When the cage had been lowered about 100 feet the rope snapped in two near the sheave. The cage, being released thereby, dashed down the shaft with terrific velocity and was shattered at the bottom, 300 feet below, with the empty car. A report at once spread through town that Inside Foreman Morgan Davis, of the Plank Ridge section, and Fire Boss John Snadden and others had been killed. This created a sensation in the town, but very fortunately no one was injured. Had the accident happened ten minutes later, when the hoisting of men would have been commenced, the results would have been dreadful. The shattered cage was replaced and the hoisting rope was repaired in time for the colliery to resume operations as usual this morning.

PETE KREIGER'S DOG.

The Animal Knew More Than Its Master.

There is no one in this section, with the possible exception of Dave Howard, one of the engineers at the Kelsley Run colliery, who is equal to C. L. Policeman Pete Kreiger in telling fishing or hunting stories, relating to incidents of years ago. At the Lehigh depot yesterday he told of a dog. "When that dog was given me" he said "I almost laughed at the man when he told me it was a bird dog with an excellent record and had originally cost over $100. But I accepted the statement and took the animal home. One day, when going up the ravine where the dams are now, I told the fellow who was with me I thought I would shoot the thing. He told me not to do so and I was glad I didn't some time after. One day, years ago, when there was a nice piece of woodland near Roads' old colliery, now Shenandoah City, I was out with a gun and had the dog with me. I had beaten him for not going into brush and turned my attention to a squirrel. I fired and killed it, then I tried to see where the dog was. His nose was pointed in another direction. I picked up the squirrel and went to the dog. He stood motionless and I felt convinced there was something in the brush. I started in and at the same moment a pheasant raised. I fired and it fell. I told the dog to go in, but he would not move. I advanced threateningly and the beast rolled over on his back, as dogs will when they expect a beating. I thought his actions strange and turned to re-enter the brush. The dog was on his feet in an instant and took his old position, pointing to the place where the pheasant had raised and standing like a statue. As I advanced into the brush another pheasant flew and I again fired. The moment I did so the dog sprang into the brush. That taught me a lesson. A good setter will never advance until all the birds are raised. I kept the dog for years after and prised him highly."
