POLITICAL DRIFT.

The farmers of Pennsylvania are for Gregg and Morrison this trip.

Scratch a magwump editor in Pennsylvania and you find a ring Democrat.

In order to suppress the Democratic campaign liar it may yet become necessary to erect turnstiles at the political meetings.

The New York Press proposes as a design for the Democratic campaign badge a barrel and a bung starter. That would be appropriate, even if it is not pretty.

Pennsylvania's campaign this year will go far toward determining results next year. The Republicans know this and are not to be befogged by transient issues.

Grangers of the Keystone state propose to stand by the Republican party. They are pleased with the action of the last legislature in distributing millions of dollars for the schools and thereby reducing local taxation.

He Would Be a Protectionist. Labouchere, the great English editor and Radical, was asked what he thought of the McKinley bill. He replied: "I have never believed that the principles of political economy are of universal application. Free trade suits us, but if I had been an American I should have been a protectionist twenty years ago."

Big cabbage heads are so common that they are scarcely worth noticing.

45 CENTS for a window shade with fringe, others for 55c, 65c and up. Shades made for stores and private dwellings. A new lot of shadings and fringes to match.

THE UNION VETERANS

To Meet at Reading—Half Rate Tickets on the P. & R.

The National Encampment of the Union Veterans' Legion will be in session at Reading from the 13th to the 15th of this month and a great time is anticipated. Thousands of old soldiers will gather from all over the country and nearly all of the surviving celebrities of the war of the Rebellion will attend the encampment. The organization is composed exclusively of men who received an honorable discharge after at least three years' service during that war and every man in its ranks has been a real fighter. Veterans and the public in general can purchase excursion tickets to Reading at any station or ticket office of the Philadelphia and Reading railroad at the rate of a single fare for the round trip. These tickets will be sold daily October 9th to 13th inclusive and will be good returning until October 19th.

A New Paper.

The Camp Record, published at Mahanoy City, with Theodore Harris as business manager, is the latest addition to Schuylkill county journalism. It is published in the interest of the Patriotic Order Sons of America and the Jr. Order United American Mechanics, and will no doubt receive a hearty support from the members of these two organizations. Typographically the Record presents a neat appearance, and its columns are filled with choice reading of interest to these two American organizations. We bespeak for the Record's bright future.

LOOKING TO '92.

Republicans in Pennsylvania Now Well Equipped for the Skirmish.

Everybody who has followed the course of the Philadelphia Evening Telegraph will appreciate that it is one of the fairest and most independent journals published in this state. Probably there has been no paragraph written since the campaign opened which better sizes up the situation in this state than that in which this influential journal said:

"Another consideration, and one especially worthy of note, is the fact that before the people of the state this year the Republican party has acquitted itself with especial honor. Its nominees for state offices have a just right to expect the united support of the party in this great Republican city, and every one well knows that unwisdom in the local conventions would have had a most depressing effect upon the Republican prospects in the larger arena. So, therefore, the action of the Republican nominating conventions is such that all Republicans and all good citizens can contemplate with entire satisfaction. In some respects the contest in Pennsylvania and in Philadelphia this year, preliminary to the great national battle of next year, is of exceptional importance; and it is, therefore, the part of political wisdom, no less than because the public interests demand it, for the Republican party to acquit itself most worthily at this time."

The trouble with the coming man is, he's always coming and never gets here.

THE COMING BOOM

MORE NEWS CONCERNING THE ELECTRIC RAILWAY.

PLANS FOR ITS CONSTRUCTION.

The Borough Council, at its Meeting To-night, Will be Asked to Make Concessions on Liberal Terms.

No stones are being left unturned by the management of the Mahanoy City, Shenandoah, Girardville and Ashland Street Railway Company in their efforts to bring about the early construction and completion of the electric railway.

The materials, part of which are to be shipped this week, will be unloaded at the siding of the Kohinor colliery, and from there hauled to the points in town and vicinity where they may be needed.

It has been decided that the ties of the track will be 7 inch face, 6 inch thick and 7 1/2 feet long in the ordinary highways; and in the boroughs the size will be 8-inch face, 7 inch thick and 7 1/2 feet long. The poles in the boroughs will be 30 feet high, 7 inches in diameter at the top, and ten inches thick six feet from the butts. They will be planted six feet in the ground and located 125 feet apart. The poles outside the boroughs will be 25 feet high. The contract provides that the poles shall be as straight and neat as possible.

To-night the company will ask the Borough Council to permit the laying of 'T' rails in the town, providing the members can be satisfied that such a rail makes a track suitable for wagons and other vehicles to cross easily.

This can be demonstrated to the street committee if Council will authorize it to visit Scranton and Wilkes-Barre, at the expense of the company, to inspect the electric railways of the two towns.

The company is also willing to incorporate in its stipulation that at the end of six months, should Council deem the flat rail more desirable, the 'T' rail will be taken up and replaced by the flat rail. And, further, when the borough paves streets with block, cobble, or asphalt, the street railway company will pave between the tracks and 18 inches on the side with the same material.

It will not be long before one of these styles of paving will be adopted by the boroughs of the valley and the company is satisfied that the revolution will be hastened by the construction of the electric railway.

The company is also satisfied that the electric railway must increase the business of the towns through which it will pass, as the facilities for travel afforded by such railways have demonstrated themselves beneficial to all municipalities that have been fortunate enough to secure them.

It will be very expensive to construct the road for traffic over the mountains from Shenandoah to Mahanoy City but, in the language of the president and other officials of the company, "it can and will be done."

The president of the company writes to the HERALD: "The first effort will be to get the railway west to Ashland, and do so at once."

O'Hara Loses.

The case of Frank Garner, constable of Butler township, against Michael O'Hara and the Lebanon Brewing Company, has been decided in favor of the plaintiff. The Lebanon Brewing Company placed a team of horses under O'Hara's care and a short time after A. Wolf, the horse jockey, in company with Constable Garner and W. A. Marr, Esq., called on O'Hara and told him they were going to take the horses on attachment. O'Hara refused to let them take horses and was sued for trespass.

UPS AND DOWNS.

How the "S'news" Contradicts Itself by Paragraphs.

The reliability of the Sunday S'news may be gauged by the following list of contradictory paragraphs, clipped from last Sunday's issue:

The Republican county ticket is hopelessly beaten, and no effort Chairman James and a disinterested press can make can change the result. * * * We understand several Pottsville lawyers of Democratic proclivities intend to cut the head of the county ticket. If they do a day of reckoning will come for them. The cutting of the Democratic ticket certainly cannot result in a hopeless defeat for Chairman James.

That Dave Llewellyn makes an excellent Supervisor. * * * Even with the stone crusher in working order, our streets remain in a horrible condition. It seems there is no remedy for the evil.

The S'news puts Llewellyn on the back with one hand and slaps him in the face with the other. Blowing hot and cold, as it were.

We are informed by our esteemed but not at all times veracious contemporary, the HERALD, that certain men of capital outside of town have taken hold of the Mahanoy City, Shenandoah, Girardville and Ashland railway, and will push the enterprise to completion. In fact our contemporary asserts that work will be commenced inside of a week, on the tracks, and that contracts for poles, motors, &c., have been given out. We are glad to learn that the venture is about to materialize into something like tangibility, and trust that the talk of our contemporary is not wind, as is usually the case. Many people, however, believe that the present movement is only a bluff in the hope of retaining the franchise granted by the Borough Council. That franchise gave the promoters only one year to have the road in operation, and the time is almost up. We shall see what we shall see. * * * A. H. Chadbourne of the Thomson-Houston Company of Philadelphia, was in town the past few days to survey the route for the new electric railway. He states that no expense will be spared to have the road in operation by November 15. He is one of the most skillful young men in the business and will personally superintend the construction of the road.

The "bluff" talk is very effectually settled by the last paragraph.

The S'news reporters should compare their notes before putting them in print.

WOODEN WEDDING.

A Pleasant Affair at the Mullahoy Residence.

Mr. and Mrs. Mullahoy, of West Cherry street, were surprised last night by a number of their friends in commemoration of the fifth anniversary of their marriage, or their wooden wedding. The surprising party comprised the following town people: Mr. and Mrs. C. J. McCarthy, Mr. and Mrs. O'Neil, Mr. and Mrs. James Duffy, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Reilly, H. J. Muldoon, Miss Carrie Faust, Miss Mame Wasley, Miss Ida Bamberger, Dr. and Mrs. D. J. Langton and Messrs. Joseph and Thomas Scanlan. A number of out-of-town people were also present, among them: Mrs. James B. Rully, Pottsville; Misses Mullen, Shenokin; Frank Langton, Ashland, and P. A. McCabe, Pottsville. The presents, which, of course, were all of wooden ware, were numerous and in many instances unique and costly. The guests were royally entertained by the host and hostess, and after a splendid repast dancing was indulged in. The guests were so well entertained the festivities were kept up until three o'clock this morning. Mr. Mullahoy and his amiable wife are among the most popular of our town people, and the HERALD joins with their friends, who are legion, in the wish that they may live to celebrate their diamond wedding.

WHAT THE SCRIBES SEE AND HEAR

A Stripling Who Has Become Infatuated With the Theatrical Profession and Its Exports—An Escapade.

A young girl named Savila Shirey, residing on North White street, became sixteen years old to-day. She closed her fifteenth year by figuring in a sensational affair, in which two members of the Arlington Minstrel company figured.

The minstrels arrived in town yesterday morning and Savila, who has been making a rendezvous of the Lehigh Valley depot, was among those who watched them leave the train. The girl is under size, but has a plump figure, a face that is not unattractive, and she dresses neat. She soon had a speaking acquaintance with the minstrels and she followed them during the parade. At about 1 p. m. she left town with two members of the company. Her mother, who had been warned, started in pursuit with Constable Phillips.

The girl and the minstrels were found conversing at the watch box on the Pennsylvania railroad, southeast of the Shenandoah City colliery. As the mother and constable approached Savila ran over the hill in the direction of St. Nicholas, while the exponents of negro minstrelsy gave a natural imitation of two men hurrying off in opposite directions. Constable Phillips had no warrant for the men, so he started after the girl, but lost her in the brush and returned to town without her after a three-hour search. While the performance was going on in the theatre last night Savila was arrested by Phillips at the stage door. The girl was taken to her home. In explaining her conduct she said she was determined to go off with some theatrical company.

Nothing In It.

Two female cigar makers of this town have been on the outs for a long time and had many hard thoughts against one another. Yesterday one manifested a desire to fight it out and the other one not having any particular objections, they both went together. Oh, but it was fun for the lookers-on, hair pulling, cat scratching, biting and what not all that made up this awful abuse of Marquis of Queensbury rules. It was a hard fight and had it not been for the interference of some of the shop hands, one or the other would have been hurt. The most offensive language was used and was heard fully a block away from the scrap.—Shenandoah correspondence to the Republican.

The only two young ladies who work together as cigar makers in town called at HERALD office yesterday and pronounced the article false in every particular. They said the best friendship exists between them and they expressed surprise that a newspaper laying claim to respectability should give space to such trash.

A Blowhard.

One who blows hot and cold on every project that is gotten up to benefit the town and people.

One who can see no good in others.

One who will talk all day on subjects he knows nothing about.

One who "knows it all" and does not attempt to give "anything away."

One who preaches one thing and practices another.

One who thinks he is the "Great I Am" and nothing at all.

One who pretends he owns the earth when, in reality, he would not have enough left to buy a square meal if he paid his honest debts.

One who is continually telling his friends about the advantage of this and that project, but will not subscribe a cent, or help along the enterprise.

He is all blow.

PERSONAL.

Hon. John T. Shoenner, of Orwigsburg, was a visitor to town yesterday.

William Mason, of West Oak street, left this afternoon for Newcastle, Washington, to join his father, who has been there several months. William was a popular young man here and he leaves a large number of friends who wish him success in his new home.

One of the most polite, gentlemanly and agreeable traveling passenger agents who frequently visit the leading town in the coal region, is Fred. L. Chase. He is a hustler and his trips here in every instance prove successful. The company has an able lieutenant in him and it would be hard to find another to fill his place were he to take a notion to quit the business.

Beware of This Swindle.

Friday a man entered the flour and feed store of Andrew Hoover, in Sunbury, and ordered some goods to be sent to John Wagner, in the Fifth ward. In payment he tendered a check drawn to John Wagner for $16.85. The signature was very poorly written. Wagner said he was a carpenter and worked for a man named Rann, and that the check was given to him by Rann, as pay for his work. Mr. Hoover gave Wagner $5.60 change. When he went to deliver the goods Saturday morning he found that no man named John Wagner lived in the Fifth ward.

A Wife's Treachery.

A Polish man of the First ward, over 60 years of age, was before Squire Monaghan last night, charged with committing a rape upon a 12-year-old girl, but a hearing of the case established the man's innocence and he was discharged. It appears that the man quarreled with his wife and she, in a spirit of revenge, told the married sister of the little girl who was brought into the case the story that led to the arrest. Upon the hearing the wife declared that her story was groundless. All the parties concerned were Polish.

The Cusick and Burns Trial.

Squire Monaghan left town at noon today for Richmond, Virginia, where he will appear as a witness in the case of Cusick and Burns, former residents of this town, who are charged with post office robberies. The squire has a document signed by a number of town people, certifying to the previous good character of the accused.

Warning to Boys.

The practice of boys climbing the scaffolding at the Methodist Episcopal church is becoming dangerous for the workmen, the boys, and neighboring properties. Should the scaffolding become loosened by the climbing and fall the result would be disastrous. Complaint is also made by residents in the vicinity of the church against boys who play ball and other games in the neighborhood. It is hoped the police will give their attention to these evils.
