A Certainty.

A policy in the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Company is an absolute agreement to pay a specified sum; the cooperative certificate simply entitles its holder to the proceeds, in whole or in part, of an assessment, which will vary with the number of persons to be assessed, or who may choose to pay the assessment, and therefore cannot afford the slightest certainty of any sum whatever. The Connecticut Mutual policy is real insurance; the cooperative certificate is mere imitation. David Faust is the local agent of the company. 10-17-91

Should be Stopped.

There is borough ordinance prohibiting the throwing of paper, etc., on the streets. The attention of the Chief Burgess is called to the fact that a prominent Main street business man flagrantly violated the ordinance yesterday. The object of prohibiting the throwing of paper on the streets is to avoid the frightening of horses and, therefore, the ordinance should be strictly observed.

Coal Train Wrecked.

As a loaded coal train was being side-tracked near the red bridge last evening to give the passenger train due here at 9:35 a clear track an axle broke, by which five of the cars were thrown from the track and badly damaged. The passenger train got around the wreckage by a turn-out track, but all the east-bound trains were delayed for about an hour and a half.

Fine Exhibits.

The handsomest and the most artistic of all the exhibits at the great annual fair of the American Institute in New York this year is that of Walter Baker & Co., the oldest and one of the largest manufacturers of cocoa and chocolate in the world. The utmost taste is evinced in the construction of the booth, which is a picture of white and gold; while the tempting display of goods pleases the eyes and arrests the steps of all visitors to the fair. Sample cups of W. Baker & Co.'s Breakfast Cocoa are served free to all by two pretty young ladies attired in the exact costume of Liotard's famous portrait of "La Belle Chocolatiere," (adopted many years ago as the trademark of this firm) pale blue in gowns, waists of old gold satin, and lace caps of pink and blue. The evolution of the product is also shown, from the immense cocoa pods containing the bean to exquisitely colored powder which is so familiar to the housewife, and, when served at the breakfast table, so grateful to the most fastidious palate. Taken altogether, it is a beautiful exhibit and one which deservedly receives the admiring attention of every visitor to the fair.

A Common Sense Remedy.

In the matter of curatives what you want is something that will do its work while you continue to do yours—a remedy that will give you no inconvenience nor interfere with your business. Such a remedy is Alcock's Porous Plasters. These plasters are not an experiment; they have been in use for over thirty years, and their value has been attested by the highest medical authorities, as well as by testimonials from those who have used them. They require no change of diet and are not affected by wet or cold. Their action does not interfere with labor or business; you can toil and yet be cured while hard at work. They are so pure that the youngest, the oldest and most delicate person of either sex can use them with great benefit. Beware of imitations, and do not be deceived by misrepresentations. Ask for Alcock's, and let no solicitation or explanation induce you to accept a substitute.

Important.

THE WATER QUESTION.

The New Works Should Belong to the Borough.

Some people who have not been pleased with the stand the HERALD took on the electric rail question are now trying to create prejudice by asserting that the paper is against the establishment of new water works. The HERALD has always been and is now ready and willing to advocate and help along anything that will benefit the town and the people. It can point to its record with pride in support of this assertion.

The HERALD advocated and fought for a sewerage system, but the cranks, drones and skeptics won.

The HERALD advocated and fought for a city charter, but the cranks, drones and skeptics won.

The HERALD advocated and fought for the establishment of sufficient home industries to make the town, in some measure at least, independent of the coal industry, but the cranks, drones and skeptics have always grasped the movement by the throat.

The HERALD advocated the electric railway and hammered away for months at the idea that it would be one of the greatest achievements in the history of the borough, but the cranks, drones and skeptics grasped that, too, by the throat and smothered it for all the time they thought—but, Phoenix-like, it arose from the ashes, independent, strong in pluck, energy and financial back, and free and clear of the barnacles that previously hindered its progress. And the cranks, drones and skeptics who oppose everything the HERALD advocates, "on general principles," flocked to a paper that has never been in the ranks of those who have been trying to build up the town and joined hands with it in a fight which they believed would be a death-blow to the electric railway; but the HERALD stood by the railway and the cranks, drones and skeptics went down for once.

There need be no doubt about the standing of the HERALD on the water question. The HERALD is willing to advocate the establishment of water works to be owned, controlled and managed by the people.

The HERALD is not in favor of any movement that is to solely benefit a clique of skinflints and misers who are waiting to fish the gold out of their mouldy socks and put into a sure thing for large dividends, but who will not part with ten cents to build up the town.

The HERALD favors water works "of the people, by the people and for the people," and no other.

Now, if all the parties who have organized the movement for new water works are acting in good faith they are in a position to show it very soon. We say all the people because we have knowledge that many of our most prominent and respected citizens were at the public meeting in a spirit of good faith, but that the results of the meeting strongly evidenced a scheme on the part of others to use the meeting as a pretext to stab the electric railway project in the back.

We have the statements of two of the most prominent and highly respected gentlemen in the town that they went to the meeting on Wednesday night to favor the water works and everything done in that connection met with their approval, but when the attempt was made to inject the electric railway question into the business, without giving reasonable notice that such steps would be taken, and without giving the electric people an opportunity to be heard, they left the hall disgusted and impressed with the idea that the citizens had been called together under the mantle of the water question to injure the cause of the electric railway company.

It is quite likely that some of the cranks, drones and skeptics will jump to the conclusion that the two gentlemen referred were electric railway people. But the HERALD states with all the force of truth that the two gentlemen are in no way connected with the railway project and that the statements were unsolicited and wholly voluntary.

The result of Wednesday's meeting left the HERALD under the same impression that the two gentlemen received. But the HERALD did not and does not believe that all who caused that meeting to be called, or who participated in the water proceedings, had a hand in the scheme.

MIDNIGHT ALARM

A DRUNKEN POLANDER IN A STRANGE HOUSE.

AN ELECTRIC RAILWAY MEETING.

All Contracts Awarded—Work Will Begin Next Week—Mahanoy and Girardville in Line. Ashland Expected.

Between one and two o'clock this morning the residents of the First and Second wards were aroused from their slumbers by a woman's cries of "Murder! Police!" The woman giving the alarm was Mrs. Eberhart, a widow residing in the company houses bordering the Lehigh Valley railroad. Adam Mort, "Dore" Hyde and other men went to her assistance and captured a drunken Pole who had forced an entrance to the kitchen of the widow's home. The Pole was taken before Chief Burgess Lessig who committed the man to the lockup on a charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct. Mrs. Eberhart was not disposed to make more serious charge and said she would settle the case upon payment of damages done to her furniture. The man was still in the lockup this afternoon.

GETTING IN SHAPE.

Electric Railway Work Will Begin Next Week.

Judge W. F. Sadler, of Carlisle, Cumberland county, president of the Mahanoy City, Shenandoah, Girardville and Ashland Street Railway Company, arrived in town last night and registered at the Ferguson House to await the decision of the Mahanoy City and Girardville borough councils on the "T" rail question.

The special committee appointed by the Mahanoy City council to visit Bethlehem and Allentown made a unanimous report in favor of the "T" rail in preference to the flat rail and reported that the decision was arrived at after a careful inspection and consultations with a number of the prominent citizens and business men of the two places visited. Upon this report the "T" rail was adopted.

The Girardville borough council also met last night and not only adopted the "T" rail, but also gave the railway company the option of putting in a 4 foot 8 1/2 inch gauge, or a 5 foot 2 1/2 inch, as the company may deem advisable. The council also decided to give all the encouragement in its power to the company.

The Ashland borough council will meet Tuesday evening and its decision is expected to conform with that of the others. This morning a meeting of the company was held in its office in the Boddall building, Judge Sadler presiding and contracts for the steam plant, rails, ties, poles, etc., were awarded.

The contract for the steam plant was awarded to the Frick Engine Company, of Waynesboro, through Mr. G. L. Jones, of Philadelphia.

The supplies are expected by next Tuesday, or Wednesday, and work on the line will commence immediately thereafter. In conversation with a HERALD reporter to-day Mr. Eberle, superintendent of construction for the company, said: "The steam plant will be the first ever seen in this section of the state. The engine will be 600-horse power and of the Corliss make."

READ THIS.

Electric Railways are Real Estate Boomers.

The HERALD takes pleasure in calling the attention of the backsliding, non-progressive and anti-electric railway citizens of town to an interesting paragraph clipped from the Bethlehem Times of Thursday last. Some of the skeptics who have fought the electric railway because they believed it was in the hands of "wind pipes," and because they could not see where the money to build it was coming from, were tempted to smile a few days ago when they read the assertion in the HERALD that the railway will boom real estate in and about the towns through which it will pass. The attention of these skeptics is particularly called to the paragraph quoted and it is hoped they will understand just what is therein contained. The paragraph reads:

If South Bethlehem's councilmen have still a lingering doubt as to the utility of the electric railroad they should make an investigation of West Bethlehem's real estate boom. A large number of building lots have been sold on the strength of that railway and the prosperity of the western borough was never more pronounced. In fact, there is a tendency all over town for property adjacent to the electric road to increase in value, and the benefit that has accrued to the community during the railway's brief existence is unmistakable. It is impossible to deny that South Bethlehem would reap vast benefit from the extension of the road into her domain. And it will be a suicidal policy for the borough, through her servants, to prevent this benefit by opposing the erection of the Main street bridge, which is the means and the only means through which the electric road will come.
