HOPKINS WILL CASE

The Great Suit Once More in Progress at Salem.

SEARLES AGAIN ON THE STAND.

He Didn't Want People to Think He Was Bought for a Husband.

His Reasons for Objecting to the Marriage Settlement—When He Stated That He Never Did Business on Sunday Even Tim Hopkins Smiled—Value of Mrs. Hopkins' Property—Standing Room Only at the Trial.

Salem, Mass., Oct. 22.—Standing room was at premium in the Probate Court yesterday, the occasion being the resumption of the Hopkins-Searles will contest. Edward F. Searles was called to the stand, and Mr. Burley after calling attention to numerous transfers of personal property from Mrs. Searles to Stillman and subsequently to Searles, began a rigid cross-examination.

Searles, in reply to a question as to the time of the marriage agreement, stated it was in October, 1888. Searles was unable to tell why Timothy Hopkins was not informed of the marriage day, as the matter was left entirely with Mrs. Hopkins.

Witness testified he did not suggest to Mrs. Hopkins that it would be well to notify Timothy. So far as the marriage settlement was concerned the proposition came from Mrs. Hopkins, it being her wish, before she married witness that he have an equal share in the estate. Mrs. Hopkins made the proposition about ten days prior to the marriage. Witness was at Great Barrington at the time. When witness said he objected to a marriage settlement, she asked witness if he would release her from the contract at any time she wished, and he told her he would.

The marriage settlement was executed through the agency of Mr. Stillman. Witness did not remember whether Mrs. Hopkins asked Timothy to give her a schedule of the property in California. Mr. Searles said he frequently signed documents without reading the contents, he trusting entirely to the information submitted verbally by his counsel.

Witness said he had no knowledge of the marriage settlement contract, but he had reason to believe that his wife knew all of the provisions named. He was certain the contract was in his favor, as he had nothing to give her. In his favor, as he had nothing to give her. In his favor, as he had nothing to give her.

In regard to the business affairs of the estate, they were suggested by his wife and the transactions executed by Stillman. Just previous to the marriage of Mrs. Hopkins to witness she suggested that Mr. Stillman visit California to investigate her affairs.

At this stage of the hearing a letter written by Mr. Stillman was read, giving reasons for not recording the deeds of land in Mr. Searles' name, also the reasons why the marriage settlement contract should not be recorded, as it would prompt too much gossip.

The letter also explained in detail Stillman's dealings with Cyrus W. Field, in relation to the Washington building, costing over $2,000,000 and the "Mail and Express," and concluded with the statement that Searles' income would amount to $600,000.

Mr. Stillman reported both to Mrs. Searles and to witness that the California property was in good condition, thus allaying any fears that witness and his wife entertained.

Witness was at Mr. Stillman's house on a Sunday evening to return a social call. Burley—You didn't go to see him on business? Searles—I don't go to see people on business Sunday—never did and never will.

Mr. Searles' reply caused a ripple of laughter throughout the court room. Even Timothy Hopkins' face brightened into a broad smile. Mr. Burley asked the witness at the afternoon session if he was aware that Stillman & Hubbard had a voice in the kind of securities they could withdraw, and he replied that he only knew that they could draw that amount. Witness said that when he signed the supplemental agreement he understood that the Great Barrington property was exempt from the copartnership assets, and was put in his name to protect it in case of accident.

A will of Edward F. Searles, dated November 23, 1887, was introduced. It left the income of a sum sufficient to yield $10,000 a year for the support of his wife and the residue to his wife. Letters from Stillman and Hubbard to Mrs. Searles and to witness were offered and occupied the remainder of the afternoon. Most of them were of no particular interest. The first dated February 11, 1888, from Mr. Stillman when in California, estimated Mrs. Searles' property, exclusive of the Great Barrington estate at $50,000,000. Referring to her desire to give Tim Sherwood Hall and money enough to run it, he says it will require the income of $500,000 yearly. Tim had honestly endeavored to do his best for her, and any mistakes had been due to youth.

On November 18, 1887, he wrote that he had drawn a new will for Mrs. Searles, which had been rendered necessary by a changed condition of affairs. On April 18, 1888, Stillman wrote that the property was of more value than he first thought. He had to get rid of her interest in the "Mail and Express," and they ought to thank Providence that it raised up men with more money than brains to relieve them of their bad investments.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—U. S. Gov't Report, Aug. 17, 1889.

AND THE LIST GROWS.

More Corporations in Which Candidate Wright Is Interested. One of "Corporation Bob's" Townsmen Gives Some of the Backers of the Democratic Candidate for Auditor General of the State.

While Democratic candidate for auditor general Robert E. Wright, of Lehigh, is out on the hustings telling the farmers what a good friend of theirs he has been, and attempting to explain away his bitter fight against their bill before the legislature for equalization of taxes, some of his townsmen in Allentown have been turning on the light on his record as an agent of corporations. He is shown to have been practically supported for years by corporations. He went to Harrisburg as the representative of vast corporate interests to oppose the Taggart tax bill, better known as the granger bill.

A short time ago the names of a few of the corporations with which Candidate Wright has been identified, either as president, director or attorney, were given. Here is a revised list: Western Union Telegraph Company, Lehigh Valley R. R. Co., Central Railroad of New Jersey, Philadelphia & Reading R. R. Co., Parkersburg R. R. Co., Catskill & Poughkeepsie R. R. Co., Allentown Terminal R. R. Co., Berks and Lehigh R. R. Co., Fronton R. R. Co., Lehigh Coal & Navigation Co., Allentown & Bethlehem Rapid Transit Co., Allentown Passenger Railroad Co., Bethlehem Iron Company, Thomas Iron Company, Crane Iron Company, Chattanooga Manufacturing Company, Allentown Iron Company, Allentown Rolling Mill Company, Allentown Electric Light Company, Lehigh Valley Car Manufacturing Company, Steuben Car Company, Frisdenville Zinc Company, Keystone Cement Company, Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company, United Security Life Insurance and Trust Company of Pennsylvania, West End Improvement Company, Elliker Real Estate Association, Lehigh State Company, Meadow Brook State Company, Allentown National Bank, Washington State Company.

Looking over this list, the farmers of Pennsylvania will conclude, as Master Rhone, of the State Grange, and others have done, that Candidate Wright is scarcely to be preferred to General D. McM. Gregg, the gallant soldier, the Republican candidate for auditor general.

TIN, TIN, AMERICAN TIN.

Major McKinley Tells a Story Which Comes Home to Pennsylvanians. Pennsylvania's growing tin industry is attracting national attention and is figuring in the political campaigns in all the northern states in which important elections are to be held next month. The Republican policy of protection to this, as well as other industries giving employment to American labor, is not forgotten by the workingmen of the Keystone state in the present political canvass.

Major McKinley, while addressing one of his rousing meetings in Ohio the other day, was interrupted by a man in the audience who handed him up a paper on which he had written some questions he desired answered. The first question was: "Is there any tin ore in the United States, and where?" His answer was: "Yes; in the Black Hills in Dakota; it is to be found in San Bernardino county, Cal., and at both of this places tin ore is being mined today. I have seen this tin ore, which has been used and tested, and made into pig tin that has already been used for making tinplate in the United States."

The second question was: "Where is tin plate made?" He at once answered: "In Denmark, Pa., and in Apollo, Pa.; in Chicago, Ill., St. Louis, Mo., and in Philadelphia, Pa. But Governor Campbell, McKinley said, "complains of the tariff on tin, and he says that the people have got to pay it all. The governor wanted to restore the tariff on sugar. Now," said McKinley, "admitting that we did pay all the tin tariff, admitting that we cannot produce tin ore or tin plate in the United States, which would his hearers rather have, two cents a pound put upon foreign tin plate or the restoration of two and a half and three and a half cents per pound on sugar? If we do not and cannot produce any tin this country—which is false—then the tariff on tin is a revenue tariff, and puts revenue into the public treasury. It also fosters an industry which gives employment to American labor. We have evidence of this fact at home here in Ohio and among our neighbors in Pennsylvania."

Reciprocity and Republicanism. The Republican policy of reciprocity keeps pushing along. None of our Pan-American republics have declined it, rumors to the contrary notwithstanding, and all not yet in the treaty are giving it favorable consideration. For the first time American flour is going straight to Cuba in large quantities. It is opening every market heretofore closed to the products of our farms—France and Germany to our pork, the West Indies to our flour, Central and South America to a variety of edibles. Let us sustain the policy by sustaining the Republican party and Republican nominees. No Pennsylvanian can afford to vote against either Gregg or Morrison this fall.

THE GRADY MONUMENT.

Unveiled in the Presence of Thousands—Gov. Hill the Orator. ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 22.—The ceremonies incident to the unveiling of the Grady monument attracted an immense crowd of strangers to the city yesterday. The city bore a holiday attire and business was to a large extent suspended. One of the principal features of the unveiling ceremonies was the procession which formed on Mitchell and Washington streets and moved to the statue.

Gov. Hill and the other guests, with the members of the Monument Committee, took seats on the stand. Gov. Hill was greeted with loud applause by the crowd which had assembled about the monument and which filled Marietta street in both directions. It was shortly after noon when the Mexican Band, having rendered a selection, President Northern called the assemblage to order. Miss Gussie Grady, the only daughter of Henry Grady, then stepped forward and drew the cord which held the canvas in place about the figure on the monument. The cloth slipped from the statue, leaving the bronze figure revealed.

The monument was designed by Alexander Doyle and is of heroic size. It represents Mr. Grady with uncovered head standing in an easy attitude with the left foot somewhat advanced. The general pose is that of an orator engaged in delivering a speech, the left arm hanging by the side and the right arm crossing the breast and clasping between the forefinger and the thumb the lapel of a full frock coat.

On the right and left of the statue are allegorical figures of Memory and History, and the figures surmount a great stone pedestal, the polished sides of which bear inscriptions. The oration of Governor Hill was a masterpiece, and was received with the greatest enthusiasm by the assembled thousands.

Last evening a banquet was given to Governor Hill by the Young Men's Democratic League. The Governor responded to the toast "Democracy."

THE TRAIN JUMPED THE TRACK.

Fatal Accident on the E. & O.—Two Men Killed. WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The east bound limited express from Chicago jumped the track a few miles west of St. John's, on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, yesterday afternoon. The engine, after leaving the track, turned over, and Engineer Ruckles and Fireman Richards were killed. Postal Clerk Lippincott, Craig and Levey were injured, but the passengers in the two coaches and sleeper, which besides the postal and baggage car, made up the train, were only slightly shaken up.

The train was running 40 miles an hour when it was derailed. The accident was caused by the breaking of one of the rear driving wheels of the engine.

Four Killed by a Misplayed Switch.

GALESBURGH, Ill., Oct. 22.—The Chicago, Burlington & Quincy fast passenger train, ran into an open switch near Galesburg, Ill., shortly before midnight Tuesday, killing Mrs. George Allen, Somond, Ill.; F. L. Johnson, Avon, Ill.; George Courtney, the traveling engineer of Galesburg, Ill., and A. A. Emerson, engineer of Galesburg, Ill. It is thought the switch was opened with the intention of wrecking the train.

Yale Will Not Be Represented.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 22.—The President of the Yale Navy has been informed by the Commodore of the Cornell Navy, that Cornell, Columbia and the University of Pennsylvania, have decided to form an intercollegiate rowing association, which will hold its annual regatta somewhere on the Hudson, and asking Yale to send representatives to a meeting of colleges interested, to be held in New York on Saturday next. It is believed that Yale will be represented, as the matter is looked upon as a race of Cornell to bring about a race with Yale.

White Plagues, N. Y., Oct. 22.—The arrest of George Duschel, husband of the woman who was found murdered Sunday afternoon, is regarded by officials here as an important step towards the detection of the murderer. Blood stains have been found on Duschel's shirt sleeves, and they will be submitted to experts for analysis. The impression grows that Robinson is the victim of a conspiracy to fasten the crime upon him.

Claim It is a Conspiracy.

WHEELING, W. Va., Oct. 22.—William Jones, one of the leading officials of Marshall County, has been arrested at Moundsville, charged with making an indecent assault upon a bride of three weeks. Jones is a leading church member and active politician. Jones' friends deny the charge and claim that it is the result of a conspiracy.

Anxiety for Two Schooners.

GLEUCESTER, Mass., Oct. 22.—The schooners Percy and City Point, which sailed on codfishing voyages August 25, have not been heard from since and it is thought they have been lost with all hands. The Percy carried a crew of 10 men and the City Point one of 14.

Lieut. Cowles Wants an Inquiry.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Lieut. Cowles, late in command of the United States steamship Despatch, asks that a court of inquiry be organized in order that the circumstances of the wreck may be fully developed. The court will convene early next week.
