Instructions to Schulteis.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Acting Secretary Spalding said yesterday that, while the Treasury Department has not yet decided to make public the instructions given to Labor Commissioner Schulteis, this course would be pursued if there exists any belief in England that the United States government countenanced the deception which Schulteis practiced on the English societies to assist emigrants. It is not intended that any official of this government shall play detective, and the department resents the trick which Schulteis resorted to.

THE FRENCH STRIKERS.

Over 30,000 Men Out—A Bitter Struggle Anticipated.

PARIS, Nov. 19.—Dispatches received here to-day from various places in the Department of Pas-de-Calais show that the striking coal miners are gaining many accessions to their ranks. The strikers now number 30,000, and no doubt is entertained that in a very short time a majority of the men still remaining at work will quit and join the great body of strikers.

The authorities are taking every precaution to guard against disorders, and though in some places the miners displayed a very bitter feeling, there has as yet been no serious disturbance of the peace, but only a trivial outbreak here and there that has speedily been suppressed. As in all labor troubles in France, there is danger that the Socialistic element may incite rioting, and as a matter of fact, prominent Socialists are at work among the discontented and striking miners, spreading their lawless tenets. They are closely watched, however, and upon the least indication of a general resistance to the law they will be speedily lodged in jail.

To prevent the patrols appointed by the strikers from approaching the pits in their endeavor to induce the workers to quit, and also to guard against an attack either against the men working, or upon the property of the mine owners, strong detachments of cavalry and infantry have been stationed about the various pits.

The presence of the troops, it is believed, will have the effect of keeping the strikers, as a body, from making a riotous demonstration.

This is the fourth day of the strike, and both the miners and their employers are confident of victory. No hint of concession is made by either side, and from present indications the struggle will be a long and bitter one.

LOVE'S YOUNG DREAM.

Mrs. Partridge, 75, Sues Andrew Joyce, 80, for Breach of Promise.

BROOKLYN, Nov. 19.—Mrs. Matilda Partridge, who is about seventy-five years of age and a resident of Third avenue, Brooklyn, has brought an action for $10,000 damages for breach of promise of marriage against Andrew J. Joyce, about 80 years old, a real estate dealer on Atlantic avenue.

The two went around together, visiting different places, and enjoyed each other's society. It is said that Joyce asked Mrs. Partridge for a loan of $1,000, and she let him have the money. When the time approached for the wedding it is alleged that Joyce asked Mrs. Partridge if she could not let him have about $10,000 more. She said she could not. There was no wedding, and Mrs. Partridge says she was unable to get the $1,000 she had loaned Joyce.

E. Walker, the Democratic candidate, and the resolution of the Board declaring their opinion that Mr. Sherwood was ineligible to the office of Senator because of holding the office of Park Commissioner in the city of Hornellsville, was granted by Judge Adams, in the Supreme Court, last night.

A Helpless Monster.

A new locomotive known as "A. G. Broadhead, No. 259" was turned out of the Delano shops and made its first trip yesterday. It worked all right until half past four yesterday afternoon, when the engineer tried to pull an empty car from the Shenandoah Reef Company's siding, opposite the Lehigh Valley depot. There two of the engine's large driving wheels dropped between the rails and all efforts to get the monster upon the track again were fruitless. After remaining idle for over two hours the engine was replaced on the rails with the aid of "frogs" and another large engine. No delay was caused to other trains on account of the accident.

A Hero's Death

Napoleon Montague, a miner, was killed Tuesday in the Lanco colliery, at Pottsville, while heroically endeavoring to save his fellow workmen from a terrible death. He had fired a shot and sent a pillar when it exploded. The blast set on fire a small body of gas near the roof of a chamber directly communicating with the main gateway. Instantly realizing that the fire might spread in a moment through the whole mine and a terrible explosion follow, he tore off his coat and smothered the flames. Just as the fire was extinguished the roof of the chamber, loosened by the blast, fell upon him and he was terribly crushed beneath the immense mass of coal.

Blanket Your Horse.

Now that cold weather is at hand it is to the interest of every person to see that his stock is properly cared for. Every one knows how he feels when he is not perfectly warm and protected from the cold, and draughts, and how apt he is to catch cold. There is no animal which is so susceptible to draughts and chills as your horse. At night when sleeping his blood becomes sluggish and he is liable to catch cold. In recent years it has become the fixed rule with all owners of good stock to carefully blanket their horses not only when out of doors, but also in the stable. It has been found that horses not so kept warm, are kept in better condition, and are more valuable by being blanketed. One of the most essential features which should be looked at when purchasing a horse blanket is its strength. Too much credit cannot be given to the manufacturer of the celebrated 5-A Horse Blankets, who for years, have insisted upon putting strong blankets upon the market, believing that the users of horse blankets would in time recognize the necessity and demand the 5-A Horse Blankets. The 5-A Blanket is what you want. There are 100 different styles made square for outdoor use and shaped for stable use at prices to suit every body. 11-18-1f

THE RAMBLER!

A COLUMN OF PITHY AND INTERESTING PARAGRAPHS.

GLEANINGS WHILE RAMBLING

A String of Spicy and Interesting Paragraphs Based Upon the Goings of the Day—Queer People and Happenings.

The other day an old soldier residing in Sullivan county came to town to see R. W. Stout, the West Centre street butcher and gleaned from him some facts to aid a pension claim. The old soldier and Mr. Stout were in the war at the same time and the latter was sought for information it was thought he could give concerning the condition of the Sullivan county man when in a hospital. The case is referred to to illustrate how a combination of circumstances bring together old acquaintances after a separation of many years.

When called upon, Mr. Stout, unfortunately, was not the proper person, as he did not happen to be at the place the Sullivan county man was injured. The visitor was sorely disappointed and was about to leave with all hope of proving his claim lost. "You are the only man I could think of who might know something of my case," he said to Mr. Stout. "Hold up a moment," the latter suddenly exclaimed. "Now that I think of it, there is a man whom, I believe, held a position in the hospital at the time you were there, and he is in town now."

"You don't say so!" exclaimed the applicant, his hopes taking a jump.

"Yes, He is Dr. Matter."

"Matter?" anxiously inquired the old veteran. "I can't recollect anyone of that name."

"A little, sandy-haired fellow," added the informant.

After reflecting a moment or two the veteran exclaimed, "A little, thin, sandy-haired fellow? Yes, now I remember him; he's an honest little fellow, too. I remember him well, now. When we were there I loaned him $50 and he gave me his note. I lost the note and didn't see him for a long time after. But I met him in Harrisburg at last and he asked me for the note. I told him I had lost it, but he paid me anyway, interest and all. Yes, I know him. Let's go and see him."

The delighted old veteran was taken to the doctor's office and they were soon engaged in a talk over old times. But the climax of the old veteran's delight was reached when he learned that the doctor was a man who had a full knowledge of the case and that he had a hand in dressing and caring for the wounds.

It was a happy meeting and there is at least one delighted veteran in Sullivan county.

Few people in town are aware that there is a man in their midst who was one of the pioneer pedestrians of the West. While referring to the exodus of people to the West in conversation with John McGowan, the boot and shoe dealer, I learned that when he was quite a young man he struck out with a severe attack of ambition to grow up with the great land of promise. "I walked from the Mississippi to Sacramento before there were railroads or like traveling facilities," said Mr. McGowan "camping out at nights. It took me three months and two weeks to make the journey and I never had a desire to go westward after my return east. Some people have settled out West and have prospered, but fortune does not favor all people alike."

New counterfeit silver dollars of the issue of 1890 have recently been put in circulation, the touch and ring of which are said to be perfect, but they are lighter and thicker than the genuine new dollar. Some of the coins are dated 1888 and some 1889.

What They are Good For.

Brandreth's Pills are the best medicine known. First—They are purely vegetable, in fact a medicated food. Second—The same dose always produces the same effect—other purgatives require increased doses and finally cease acting. Third—They purify the blood. Fourth—They invigorate the digestion and cleanse the stomach and bowels. Fifth—They stimulate the liver and carry off vitiated bile and other depraved secretions. The first two or three doses tell the story. The skin becomes clear, the eyes bright, the mind active, digestion is restored, constipation cured, the animal vigor is recruited and all decay arrested. Brandreth's Pills are sold in every drug and medicine store, either plain or sugar coated.

"An Old Miner"

EDITOR HERALD:—The Republican of the 17th inst. finds fault with my correspondence to your paper and says that "men employed in the mines have no backbone." Let us pause for one moment and ask ourselves if it were not for the backbone of the poor mortals, what would the Republican man do for his three meals a day? If those men have no backbone why does the Republican style them heroes in the same issue? I speak from experience. The Republican says it is the pretended friends who are always finding fault with the miner for trying to better his condition in life. I will take up my pen again in the new future in behalf of my fellow workmen and solicit better legislation for this much neglected class of people. I will do this without fear or favor, and without asking the Republican to point its gun in any direction.
