

FLORENCE IS DEAD

The Galant Actor Succumbs to His Illness.

HE PASSES AWAY PEACEFULLY.

Encouraging Reports Had Caused His Friends to Hope He Would Recover.

Sketch of the Great Come-Outer's Career

His Debut in New York—The Great Success of Mr. Florence and His Wife in the "Mighty Dollar"—His Association With Joseph Jefferson—His Plans for the Future.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 20.—Actor William J. Florence died at his apartments in the Continental Hotel at 8:30 last evening. His death was a surprise to those to attend upon him as all indications during the afternoon and evening pointed to a steady improvement.

Those present when the famous actor passed away were Mr. Florence's sister-in-law, Mrs. Barney Williams, of Brooklyn, his sister, Mrs. Norman Ward, of Washington, and Dr. Patrick Donnellan, Dr. Peacock, who had charge of the case, left the hotel about 7 o'clock, secure in the thought that his patient was doing as well as could be expected. Mr. Florence's brother, Police Inspector Conlin, left for New York at six o'clock with the same impression.

Mr. Florence was very weak in the afternoon and towards evening he slept most of the time. Death came very peacefully. The patient made no sound whatever, and the first intimation the watchers had of his death was that he had ceased to breathe.

Mr. Florence's death was primarily due to double pneumonia. The immediate cause was heart failure. He had taken a severe cold about two weeks ago, and while he did not neglect it he failed to give it the attention that the gravity of the case demanded. The cold settled in both lungs, and within a week pneumonia developed. His condition became alarming on Tuesday, and on Tuesday night he suffered intense agony. It was then thought best to notify his brother, Inspector Conlin. A slight change for the better was noticed yesterday, and by night this was so marked that hope was revived. The favorable symptoms continued all through the day.

Mrs. Florence, who is in London, and who had arranged to sail for home on Saturday, having been merely apprised of Mr. Florence's illness, was called last night the fact of her husband's death. Telegrams announcing the death were also sent to all of Mr. Florence's friends.

No arrangements will be made for the funeral before to-morrow.

Sketch of His Career.

It was at Albany N. Y., in 1851, that William J. Florence first saw light. His right name was Conlin. His earliest propensities were for the stage, and he joined the Murdock Dramatic Association when quite young. He made his debut as Peter in Kotzebue's romantic play "The Stranger" in the Richmond Hill Theatre, in New York, December 6, 1849. Early in the next year he appeared at Niblo's Garden under the management of Brougham & Clippendale. He next played Macduff to Edwin Booth's Macbeth at Providence, R. I. He attempted Irish comedy with great success at Hingham's Lyceum Theatre, New York.

In 1856 he sailed for Europe with his wife, and in the Drury Lane Theatre, in London, they played a nine weeks' engagement. Mrs. Florence, who is a sister to Mrs. Barney Williams, was known as Mrs. Joseph Little. Her maiden name was Malvina Pray. She was remarkably successful, and three weeks ago Florence signed a contract with Frank L. Goodwin to tour the country with her.

A little more than two years ago Mr. and Mrs. Florence announced their retirement from the stage as joint stars. Mr. Florence concluded that what had been long talked of, the Jefferson-Florence combination, and on Oct. 13, 1889, they made their joint appearance at the New York Star Theatre in "The Rivals." Jefferson taking Bob Acres, Florence Mr. Lucius O'Trigger, and Mrs. John Drew realizing Mrs. Malvina. This was the last season Florence was to remain with this organization.

Mr. Florence was most successful as the Hon. Bardwell Sloat in "The Mighty Dollar," as Bob Hively in "The Ticket of Leave Man," and as Oberlin in "No Thoroughfare."

Police Inspector Conlin of New York is a brother to Mr. Florence. Mr. Florence leaves five brothers and sisters. His stepdaughter, Josephine Shepard, made her debut with Lotia at Daly's Theatre six years ago. She is now married.

Mr. Florence was beloved and respected. He was author of the "Florence Fables," a brochure of stories and has been engaged writing another brochure called "A Game of Poker." As a storyteller Mr. Florence probably had no equal. He was of a lovable nature and won for friends all whom he met.

The Dead Easter Straiton.

CORNLAND, N. Y., Nov. 20.—News of the death of Easter Straiton in New York city reached here just as arrangements had been completed for giving him a rousing reception on his return. Messenger House and was unmarried. He had an eccentric fancy for curiosities, of which he had a large and valuable collection, which is still here. Straiton had no relatives here, as far as is known, and no arrangements have yet been made for the disposition of the body, which, it is thought, will be sent here.

Wheat Speculators Caught.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—Board of Trade men have lost heavily by a rise in the wheat market, caused by a forged telegram purporting to come from Charles Emory Smith, American Minister at St. Petersburg, stating that the Czar had issued a decree prohibiting the exportation of the grain. The directors will make a thorough investigation.

Three Miners Killed.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Nov. 20.—Charles Cutesbaugh was instantly killed, and Victor Mickill was mortally wounded, by a fall of top coal in the Sugar Notch colliery yesterday. Both men were miners. Anthon Bilvsky, a miner, was killed in the Northampton colliery by a similar fall.

BRINGING IN OPIUM

Sorry State of Affairs Along the Northern Boundary.

REPORT OF THE SPECIAL AGENT.

Seventy Thousand Pounds Smuggled Into This Country in One Year.

Not Enough Officers to Stop the Illicit Traffic—Chinese Crossing the Border by Thousands—Denial of the Canadian Government—Declinations of the Courts Which Practically Defeat the Chinese Restriction Acts.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—A. R. Tingle, supervising special agent of the Treasury Department, in his annual report to the Secretary of the Treasury, says on the subject of opium smuggling:

"One of the serious questions confronting the department in the exercise of its function of collecting the revenue is the great difficulty under the present conditions in enforcing the laws against smugglers who make the Dominion of Canada the base of their operations. There are but four collection districts upon the northern frontier between the Lake of the Woods and the Pacific Ocean, a distance of about 1,100 miles, each district embracing a large territory. The number of officers upon this line of frontier does not exceed 20, and the present customs appropriation will not admit of any material increase of this force.

"Although these officers are active and vigilant, making frequent captures of smuggled goods, it is apparent that their efforts to prevent smuggling are in a large degree futile. A similar condition of affairs exists upon the long boundary line between the United States and Mexico.

"The district of Puget Sound, comprising many islands within a few miles of British territory and a long line of water front, furnishes facilities for smuggling and the clandestine introduction of Chinese, against which the customs officers have vainly contended. The revenue agents on that station, under its present energetic commander, has done good work in checking smuggling, but this vessel is unfit on account of her size and want of speed, to render efficient service. It is believed that it will be necessary to employ a number of speedy steam launches to patrol the waters of Puget Sound in order to break up the illicit traffic.

"I am reliably informed that during the last year 125,000 pounds of crude opium were imported at Victoria, making about 70,000 pounds of the prepared article for sale. It is estimated that nearly every pound of it was smuggled into the United States. It is more profitable to take the risk of an occasional capture and confiscation than to pay the duty of $12 per pound, which is prohibitive of legitimate importations and is the essential basis of the smugglers' profit.

"But the smuggling of opium is not the only alarming consequence following the opening up of the railways through Manitoba and British Columbia. The various acts of Congress having for their object the exclusion of Chinese laborers from the United States are practically nullified by the clandestine introduction of Chinese coming direct from China through the Dominion of Canada. The steamers of the Canadian Pacific Railroad Company land Chinese at Vancouver by thousands. The Canadian government collects a head tax of $50 upon each Chinese person and gives a certificate which enables him to return to Canada without payment a second time, should he be detected in entering the United States.

"The law provides that any Chinese person found unlawfully within the United States shall be caused to be removed therefrom to the country whence he came, at the cost of the United States, after being brought before some justice, judge or commissioner of a court of the United States, and found to be one not entitled to remain in the United States. Inasmuch as nine-tenths of the Chinamen caught within our lines near the Canadian border come direct from China, although they enter by way of Canada, they have been treated so far as this department is concerned, and in accordance with the views of the Attorney-General, as liable to deportation to China as the country whence they came.

"The act of September 13, 1886, which by its terms would seem to be operative until the exchange of ratifications of the then pending treaty between the United States and China (which was never ratified) contains certain provisions for an appeal from the decision of the commissioner in these cases to the courts. Such appeals have been entertained by the courts, and in several cases they have given the status another construction from that of the head of this department and of the Attorney-General by deciding that Canada, and not China, was the country whence these Chinamen came, within the meaning of the law. The effect of this is that Chinese persons once returned to Canada again enter the country, and repeated instances of this kind have occurred. Thus the object of the Chinese restriction acts is practically defeated.

Death of Hon. I. R. Diller.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 20.—Isaac R. Diller, ex-United States Consul at Florence, died here yesterday from a complication of diseases. He was 74 years old and was born in this State, but for many years he resided in Chicago. He was appointed by President Buchanan, in 1858, Consul at Florence, and held that position for several years. In 1855 he was reappointed to the same office by President Cleveland, and remained there until a few weeks ago, when he was relieved.

Gov. Hovey Critically Ill.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 20.—Gov. Alvin P. Hovey is dangerously ill with pneumonia. He and his staff left this city three weeks ago on a special train intending to visit Mexico, and he was not due to return here until Nov. 20. Sunday night he was taken down with a sudden cold, and has been very ill ever since. It is feared that his condition is very critical.

A DELUDED LOVER.

His Sweetheart Was a Wife When He Sent Her Money to Come to Him.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Nov. 20.—D. H. Melver, of Goodwin, Washington, is in a perturbed state of mind over the loss of $67 and his sweetheart, Mrs. William Kelly, nee McClure. Several months ago Miss McClure came here to visit relatives. She is a sister-in-law of Melver. She claims that some months ago Melver put up a job to abduct and marry her. Since she has been here she has received many letters from him several of which contained money.

Last spring Melver claims in a letter sent to the Chief of Police, Miss McClure wrote him that she was ill, had no one to support her but an aunt. He sent her some money. Then she wrote him that she would come West, but did not have the money. He sent her a draft for $67 and that is the last he has heard from her. He requested her arrest, but as no warrant has been sworn out she will not be molested.

In January last Miss McClure married William Kelly of this city. Mrs. Kelly claims that the money, with the exception of the $67, was given to her. She expected to pay him as soon as possible. Melver has been notified of her whereabouts, and it is probable that he will be some interesting developments.

Hard to take —the big, old-fashioned pill. It's pretty hard to have to take it, too. You wouldn't, if you realized fully how it shocks and weakens the system.

Luckily, you don't have to take it. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are better. They're sensible. They do, mildly and gently, more than the ordinary pill, with all its disturbance. They regulate the liver, stomach and bowels, as well as thoroughly cleanse them. They're the original Little Liver Pills, purely vegetable, perfectly harmless, the smallest and the easiest to take. One little Pellet for a gentle laxative—three for a cathartic. Sick Headache, Bilious Headache, Constipation, Indigestion, Biliary Attacks, and all derangements of the Liver, Stomach and Bowels are promptly and permanently cured. They're the cheapest, too, for they're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is returned. You pay only for the good you get.
