FONSECA STEPS OUT

The Dictator of Brazil Resigns--by Request.

PIERCE RIOT IN RIO JANEIRO.

The Newspaper Offices Favorable to the Ruler Demolished by the Mob.

Revolt Proclaimed by the Officers of the Fleet--The Army Remained Quiet--Fonseca Yielded to Popular Demand and Averted Civil War--All Quiet Now in the Capital.

RIO JANEIRO, Nov. 24.—A revolution broke out here yesterday for the overthrow of President da Fonseca. The movement was so formidable that Fonseca surrendered.

In retiring, or "resigning," as he called it, he declared that he did so in favor of Floriano Peixoto, the Vice-President or Vice-Chief of the Provisional government, of which Da Fonseca was the head.

It is not believed that Peixoto will be permitted to act as Chief Executive, even temporarily, unless he is in sympathy with the ideas and principles of the leaders of the revolutionary movement. He is a prominent General, and served in the Paraguayan war.

The revolution was of a dual character, including a movement of the navy in apparently spontaneous occurrence with a rising in the city. The officers of the fleet now at Rio proclaimed a revolt, demanding that Fonseca should resign, and give place to the Vice-President, Floriano Peixoto. The army remained quiet, neither moving to the help of Fonseca or against him, although it was understood that some of the leading officers were in sympathy with the navy.

Meantime a riot broke out in the city, and a multitude, all the time growing in numbers, went about demanding Fonseca's retirement, and attacking the newspaper offices that supported him. The police were powerless, and the mob effectually demolished the obnoxious newspaper offices, the editors narrowly making their escape.

Fonseca's associates urged him to resign as soon as possible in order to avert the worst calamities. Had Fonseca held out he might possibly have taken with him a large portion of the army, but he concluded to yield and avert civil war. The news of Fonseca's resignation was received with great rejoicing, and the riotous demonstrations ceased. All is now quiet.

BROOKLYN'S WATER FAMINE.

The Break Repaired Just in Time to Relieve Serious Distress.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Nov. 24.—The break which occurred in the conduit of the main water pipes near Ridgewood last Saturday, was repaired at 8 o'clock last night and the water has been turned on again, thus relieving the distress of the people in this city, who were unable to obtain water from the reservoir yesterday.

Heroic measures were adopted yesterday to make the supply of water last as long as possible, and a number of the great industries of the city were at a standstill for at least one day. All the factories using the city's water were ordered to shut down so as to save the water for the necessities of the general public.

The great engine which runs the cable on the Brooklyn Bridge was stopped, and as many people possible were shovelled across the bridge by locomotives. All the fires under the boilers at the Brooklyn Navy Yard were drawn and work was entirely suspended. The water at the hotels and office buildings, and, as a consequence, not an elevator in the whole city was running. Work in every factory where steam is depended on for motive power was suspended, and the number of those thrown out of work ran far above 50,000.

Several fires broke out during the day, and owing to the lack of water the firemen had the hardest kind of time to subdue the flames. The whole block from Harrison to De grauw and from Court to Henry streets was burned down last night. The loss is very heavy. A number of narrow escapes are reported.

A County Clerk to Be Examined.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 24.—A sensation was created in political circles late yesterday afternoon by the serving upon County Clerk Geo. J. Cotton, of a notification from Gov. Hill, that he had been charged with malfeasance in office, and that he would be accorded a hearing at Albany on Wednesday next at 2 p. m. These charges are the outcome of the recent litigation in which the Board of County Canvassers became involved over the returns from the First Assembly District of this County. The Board of Canvassers is Democratic by a majority of one, and they voted a certificate of election to P. J. Ryan, the Democratic candidate, though the Republicans claim that their candidate, David J. Munro, Jr., has a plurality of 59. The Court has issued an order restraining the County Clerk from issuing the certificate to Ryan.

A Wife's Terrible Death.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Nov. 24.—The wife of Robert Newman, a hostler, had been drinking heavily of late. Sunday night she became perfectly helpless from liquor and sank in a stupor on the floor of her home. Yesterday she was found suffocated to death, having during the night turned on her face in such a manner as to preclude the possibility of breathing. Her husband left for his work in the morning without discovering his wife's terrible death.

Kingston Bank Affairs.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Nov. 24.—At a meeting of the trustees of the insolvent Kingston County Savings Institution yesterday it was decided to make application to the Court to modify the injunction so as to permit the Board of Trustees to increase their number from 13, as at present, to 25. The petitions for the reorganization of the bank under State Superintendent Preston's plan are being extensively signed. It is believed the bank will soon reorganize.

Fifteen Years for Assault.

NYACK, N. Y., Nov. 24.—In the Rockland County Court Martin Topping of West Haverstraw was sentenced to 15 years' imprisonment for criminal assault, committed on his 18-year-old daughter.

Anger and Embarassment.

A Danbury man named Reubens recently saw a statement that counting 100 words would save a man a great deal of trouble. The more he read it over the more favorably he became impressed with it, and finally concluded to adopt it.

Next door to Reubens lives a man who has made five distinct attempts in the past fortnight to secure a dinner of green peas by the 1st of July, and every time has been retarded by Reubens's hens. The next morning after Reubens made his resolution this man found his fifth attempt to have miscarried. Then he called on Reubens. He said:

"What in thunder do you mean by letting your hens 'tear up my garden'?"

Reubens was prompted to call him a mad snoot, a new name just coming into general use, but he remembered his resolution, put down his rage and meekly observed:

"One, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight."

Then the mad neighbor, who had been eyeing this answer with a great deal of suspicion, broke in again:

"Why don't you answer my question, you rascal?"

But still Reubens maintained his equanimity and went on with the test.

"Nine, ten, eleven, twelve, thirteen, fourteen, fifteen, sixteen."

The mad neighbor stared harder than ever.

"Seventeen, eighteen, nineteen, twenty, twenty-one."

"You're a mean skunk," said the mad neighbor, backing toward the fence.

Reubens face flushed at this charge, but he only said:

"Twenty-two, twenty-three, twenty-four, twenty-five, twenty-six."

At this figure the neighbor got up on the fence in some haste, but suddenly thinking of his peas, he opened his mouth:

"You mean, low lived rascal, for two cents I could knock your cracked head over a barn, and I would!"

"Twenty-seven, twenty-eight," interrupted Reubens: "twenty-nine, thirty, thirty-one, thirty-two, thirty-three."

Here the neighbor broke for the house, and entering it violently slammed the door behind him; but Reubens did not dare to let up on the enumeration, and so he stood out there alone in his own yard and kept on counting, while his burning cheeks and flashing eyes eloquently affirmed his judgment. When he got up into the eighties his wife came to the door in some alarm.

"Why, Reubens, man, what is the matter with you?" she said. "Do come into the house."

But he didn't let up. She came out to him and clung tremblingly to him, but he only looked into her eyes and said:

"Ninety-three, ninety-four, ninety-five, ninety-six, ninety-seven, ninety-eight, ninety-nine, one hundred—go into the house, old woman, or I'll bust you." And she went. J. M. BAILEY.

IT IS MINNEAPOLIS

The Republican National Convention to Be Held There.

JUNE 7 SELECTED AS THE DATE.

The Twin City Captured the Prize on the Seventh Ballot.

Cincinnati Men Stood Firm to the Last—Able Presentation of the Claims of the Different Cities—Clarkson Succeeds Quay and Harbour Replaces Dudley—General Satisfaction Expressed at the Selection.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Minneapolis has won the prize. The Twin City captured the next Republican convention on the seventh formal ballot, which stood: Minneapolis, 39; Cincinnati, 15; New York, 3. Total votes, 47; necessary to a choice, 24.

The long hours of speech making came to an end at 11 p. m., when the committee went into executive session. The ballots were secret. Of the 48 members of the committee the only absentee was New Mexico's representative. The following tabulated account of the ballot tells the own story:

City	1st	2d	3d	4th	5th	6th	7th
Cincinnati	14	12	15	13	11	10	8
New York	3	3	3	3	3	3	3
Minneapolis	1	1	1	1	1	1	1
St. Louis	1	1	1	1	1	1	1
Chicago	1	1	1	1	1	1	1
Boston	1	1	1	1	1	1	1
Philadelphia	1	1	1	1	1	1	1
San Francisco	1	1	1	1	1	1	1
Pittsburg	1	1	1	1	1	1	1

The date of the convention was fixed for June 7.

The main features of the day were the extreme outside interest shown in the question before the committee and the reception given to more prominent leaders in the recent local elections. The session of the committee began at 11 o'clock, but from that hour until midnight the Arlington Hotel was almost blockaded with the crowd of interested listeners and onlookers.

Gen. Clarkson was chosen chairman of the committee to succeed Senator Quay. Garrett A. Hobart of New Jersey was vice chairman, and William Harbour of New York as treasurer, to succeed W. W. Dudley. Dennis T. Flynn was selected as delegate from Oklahoma.

The heroes of the day were Chairman Clarkson, who received a hearty greeting when he took the chair; Judge Thurston, who was the temporary chairman of the last National Convention; Fassett, of New York, whose plea for New York was the speech of the day; Major McKinley, who was received with an ovation when he rose to present the claims of Cincinnati, and Foraker, whose phrase, "Ohio's greatest old John Sherman," excited a storm of applause.

The case of New York was strongly presented, first by Colonel Shepard, who made an earnest plea; then by Senator Hikeok, whose argument was urgent and eloquent; next by Senator Hawley of Connecticut, who was brief, but forcible; and finally, by Fassett, who was given all the time he wanted, even when New York's limit had expired.

GOV. HOVEY DEAD.

Indiana's Chief Magistrate Expired Yesterday at Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 24.—Gov. Alvin P. Hovey died at 1:30 o'clock in his room at the Denison Hotel. His last moments were peaceful, and consolation and his last words were an inquiry for a favorite granddaughter, Mary Meuzen.

All immediate members of his family were present. The direct cause of his death was heart trouble, superinduced falling respiration.

Divorce Assailed, Attempted Abduction.

NEW MILFORD, Conn., Nov. 24.—Mrs. Emma Stocker, a well-known young married woman of this town, recently sued her husband for divorce. The couple separated some months ago and the husband was anxious to gain possession of their child. On October 10 he caused his wife's arrest on the charge of improper conduct, and a day or two ago brought suit for divorce on statutory grounds. He is now in jail on a charge of assaulting his wife. The wife alleges that Stocker and two companions called at her house, assaulted her, and attempted to abduct the child. The mother clung frantically to the child and Stocker did not succeed in his attempt.

Candidates for Judgeship.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Nov. 24.—The Cambria County Bar will urge Governor Pattison to appoint Col. John F. Linton, of this city, to the vacancy on the Bench made by the death of Justice Clarke. It is understood that the Indiana County Bar will also be unanimous for Col. Linton. The Bedford and Somerset bars will both support President Judge William J. Baer, now of the Sixteenth district. He is a brother of Col. George E. Baer of Reading, who is reputed to have considerable influence with the Governor.

New Gas Well Loudly Roaring.

SMOKERSVILLE, Ill., Nov. 24.—The gas well discovered on the farm of Mr. Brooks, near this city, is still emitting a steady rush of gas, which, having been ignited, has burned with a loud roar for eight days. An expert from Ohio is expected here this week to help develop the find. Mr. Brooks is making arrangements to pipe the gas to his house and Stronghurst business men will probably pipe it to this city for street lighting and private use.

The Gas Tank Exploded.

BOSTON, Nov. 24.—A fifty foot tank of oxygen gas exploded at the works of the Boston Calcium Light Company, on Utica street yesterday afternoon, instantly killing Wm. G. Bent, the proprietor of the place and badly injuring James McGroove, a machinist employed by the company. Bent and McGroove were hurled into the street by the force of the explosion. Bent's body was badly mutilated, but McGroove's injuries though severe will not prove fatal.
