FIELD'S STEALINGS

He Robbed His Partner of Notes and Securities.

EMPTIED HIS FATHER'S SAFE.

Wiechers Has Lost $300,000 Through the Young Man.

The Union Pacific Railroad Will Lose $200,000—Cyrus W. Field's Condition a Little Improved, but Still Critical—How Edward Takes His Confinement in Mount Vernon Asylum.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Another of the peculiar dealings of Edward M. Field cropped out yesterday. It is charged that he went to the private desk of Mr. Wiechers, one of the partners of the firm, and removed from it $50,000 worth of government bonds and $15,000 in loan notes. Mr. Wiechers himself indirectly makes the charge.

He says: "When I went to Cuba several months ago in the interest of the sugar consolidation scheme, I left in my private desk $50,000 worth of government bonds. These were the personal property of my wife. Before leaving the city I called Mr. Field's attention to the fact that I had left these bonds in my desk.

"I also left in the desk some $15,000 in loan notes. They were endorsed so that my wife could collect them, as they matured during my absence. These notes were my own private property and Mr. Field knew it. On my return from Cuba I missed $50,000 worth of government bonds and the $15,000 worth of negotiable notes were gone. My private desk had been opened."

Mr. Wiechers had no idea in what manner Edward M. Field disposed of this money. All he knows is that the money is gone and he and his wife are penniless.

It was freely charged on Wall street yesterday that, in addition to other crimes, Edward M. Field had robbed his partner's wife, sacked his father's strong box and left that gray-haired man penniless. The latter accusation comes from a gentleman who professes to have heard it from Cyrus W. Field himself. Edward M. Field, according to this story, went to his venerable father three days after the death of Mrs. Field and while the old gentleman was still prostrate from the shock, begged for pecuniary aid to save him from disgrace.

The old gentleman handed Eward the keys to his vault in the safe deposit company and told him to help himself. The box, it is said contained $300,000 in securities, the remnants of Cyrus W. Field's once great fortune. Edward took the keys and went away. It is now alleged that he rifled the box and that before night of the next day Cyrus W. Field was penniless, save for the few pieces of real estate of which he has since disposed.

CYRUS W. FIELD BETTER.

He Passes a Comfortable Night—His Son at Mount Vernon.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3—Cyrus W. Field is resting easily, having passed a comparatively comfortable night. His condition is regarded as slightly improved.

The loss of the Union Pacific Railroad Company by the rehypothecation of securities by Field, Lindley, Wiechers & Co., was estimated at $200,000 to-day by Mr. Holmes, their attorney in the case. Mr. Holmes says the railway company has recovered the greater part of the securities.

Sheriff Gorman said to-day that the commitment of Edwin M. Field to an insane asylum overrides the order for his arrest, and that his instructions not to arrest the other members of the firm of Field, Lindley, Wreckers & Co., had not been countermanded. He would not serve the order against the other members of the firm until he had received instructions.

MOUNT VERNON, N. Y., Dec. 3.—Edward M. Field, who is confined in the Mount Vernon House, two miles from this place, as a dangerous lunatic, was very restless during the night, although he had slept some of the time. His attendant did not leave him for a moment. His condition to-day is about the same. He is not thus far regarded as a dangerous patient.

Hammond Buckle Co. Sustained.

ROCKVILLE, Conn., Dec. 3.—A decision of great interest and importance to the shoe trade of the country was rendered yesterday by Judge Shipman in the United States Court. It was in the matter of the suit of the Hammond Buckle Company of this city against Hathaway Brothers of Bridgeport and completely sustains the patents of the Hammond Buckle Company, the original inventor and pioneer manufacturer of the automatic buckle used on arctic and leather shoes.

Fatal Railroad Wreck.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—A local passenger train, bound for Tuckahoe, which left the Grand Central depot at 5:10 o'clock yesterday afternoon, was wrecked at the junction of the New York Central and the Harlem Railroads, at 149th street. Two persons, William Fleming and an unknown man, were killed and several others were slightly injured.

The Bill Declared Unconstitutional.

BOSTON, Dec. 3.—The full bench of the Supreme Court, except Judge Holmes, who dissents, has rendered a decision declaring the weavers' fine bill, passed by the last Legislature, to be unconstitutional. The bill prohibits employers from withholding wages as penalty for bad work. Under the decision employers may resume the fining system.

Secretary Foster to Go South.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 3.—It is stated that Secretary Foster will go South, probably to Asheville, N. C., for a few days' rest and recuperation early next week, before attempting to resume his duties in the Treasury Department. The grip still clings to the Secretary, and though he improves daily his progress is slow and he remains very weak.

To Compel Restoration of Paris Fund.

DUBLIN, Dec. 3.—The McCarthyites have begun legal proceedings to have the ownership of the Paris funds decided by the courts and to compel the restoration of the money to its rightful owners.

INTO OCEAN'S ARMS.

The New Cruiser New York Launched at Philadelphia Yesterday.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 3—The United States armored cruiser New York was launched yesterday afternoon from the yard of the Cramp Ship Building Company, in the presence of 15,000 people.

The Vice-President and Mrs. Morton, and Secretaries Tracy and Noble were on the Washington train, and among those who came over with them were Senator Gray of Delaware and Mrs. Gray, Senator Higgins of Delaware, and many others.

As the visitors entered the yards the great red and white hull of the New York stood directly in front of them. Ranged in a row beside it were the other vessels of the new navy, which the Cramps have under construction. There was much bustle and confusion throughout the yard, and especially about the hull, where fully 500 men were at work.

On the platform at the ship's bow an alter had been constructed. It was decorated with bunting. Within its horseshoe rail Miss Helen Page, of New York, was to stand to break the customary bottle of champagne over the bow at the moment that the vessel started on its first voyage.

When the hour of two o'clock arrived the workmen under the hulls began to knock away the long poles which had served as props at the vessel's sides.

Among the christening party gathered on the platform was Harry W. Cramp, who was in personal charge of the arrangements. In his possession was the bottle of champagne which Miss Page was to break over the New York's bow. It reposed in a cream-colored case. Around it had been woven an exquisite net work of gold cord from which hung cream-colored ribbons fastened by a tassel of gold. From the neck of the bottle hung three streamers. One of them of pure white had the name of the New York printed on it in letters of gold. The others were blue, with narrow border strips of red and white. On one of them was printed Miss Page's name, on the other the date of the ceremony.

During all this time the noise had been almost deafening. The incessant pounding, the clatter of falling timbers and the shouts of the workmen had filled the air.

The foreman gave a last look up and down the line of workmen under the hull. The work seemed complete. He looked up for the signal. Mr. Cramp nodded. The next minute the big saws began to move backward and forward, cutting narrow paths through the timbers. The noise of the saws sounded clear and distinct through the breathless stillness.

Miss Page stood with the bottle uplifted, almost touching the steel. A third quick movement cams, fast on its heels a fourth and fifth and then suddenly the huge hull started on its voyage to the river. Suddenly, but not too suddenly for the christening party.

"Now," said Mr. Cramp in a whisper, and responding to the signal Miss Page broke the bottle of wine against the fast receding prow and in a clear distinct tone said: "I christen thee New York."

As her keel struck the water the shrill whistle of a tug boat rent the air. A hundred others answered it in every tone of the scale while from engines on the coal trestles of the Reading Railroad beyond came a discordant, deafening answer.

Faster and faster moved the great hull, until, to the accompaniment of the shrill whistling chorus and the waving of a thousand hats and handkerchiefs, it glided into the water. As the hull entered the water the current caught it and turned it almost broadside on to the shore. There was a rattle of chains and a splash on each side of the bow. The big black anchors had been dropped, had caught on the riverbed, and before the ship had begun to feel her freedom, she was once more a prisoner, floating idly and cumbrously on the tide.

Not Mrs. Mutter's Murderer.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—Ferdinand Mutter, the owner of a small farm near Newark, N. J., whose wife was murdered a few years ago by a farm hand who escaped, suspected that Louis Harriot accused of killing Mrs. Leonard at Atlantic Highlands was the murderer of Mrs. Mutter. He went to Freehold yesterday where Harriot is in jail, saw the prisoner and was convinced that he was not the man.

Col. Dickinson to Resign.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—Col. John T. Dickinson has made up his mind to retire from the secretaryship of the World's Fair National Commission and his letter of resignation, which is already drafted, will be sent to President Palmer. The resignation will take effect on Jan. 1. He will probably accept the general managership of the Texas, Arkansas & Pacific Railroad.

Y., Dec. 3.—Articles of incorporation were filed in Albany and in the County Clerk's office in this city yesterday for the incorporation of the Graves Elevator Company, with a capital stock of $400,000. FIVE DEAD IN THE FLAMES.

The Horrible Fate of George Reis and His Family, of Detroit.

DETROIT, Dec. 3.—Fire was discovered in the residence of George J. Reis, at the corner of Orleans and Catherine streets, about 2 a. m. An alarm was turned in, but the flames had spread over the building when the engines arrived.

The firemen at once made their way to the upper floor, and there found, first, the body of Charles Reis stretched on the floor near a side window, and in one of the front rooms the bodies of two boys recognized as Eddie and Josie Reis.

The dead are:
George J. Reis, aged 50.
Mrs. Reis, aged 45.
Charles Reis, aged 20.
Josie Reis, aged 12.
Eddie Reis, aged 8.

George J. Reis was an old and respected citizen. There is no clew to the origin of the fire.

Doesn't "look" as she ought—the weak, nervous and ailing woman. As long as she suffers from the aches, pains, and derangements peculiar to her sex, she can't expect to.

But there's only herself to blame. With Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, she's a different woman. And it's a change that can be seen as well as felt. The system is invigorated, the blood enriched, digestion improved, melancholy and nervousness dispelled.

With the "Favorite Prescription," all the proper functions are restored to healthy action. Periodical pains, weak back, bearing-down sensations, nervous prostration, all "female complaints" are cured by it. It's the only medicine for woman's weaknesses and ailments that's guaranteed to do what is claimed for it. If it doesn't give satisfaction, in every case for which it's recommended, the money is returned.

Can something else offered by the dealer, though it may pay him better, be "just as good"?
