

PHILLIPS IS ALIVE

The Bank Clerk and the Dynamiter Not the Same.

MANY POINTS OF RESEMBLANCE.

Identity of the Dead Bomb Thrower as Great a Mystery as Ever

Confidently thought yesterday that he was John Herbert Phillips, for some time employed in the Hanover National Bank, who had often threatened capitalists, and said he knew a way of getting a million out of Gould—discovered alive in Chicago.

New York, Dec. 10.—Detective Jos. J. Alkon, of the Hanover National Bank, and John Massey, an ex-clerk of the same institution, started yesterday to make a sworn identification of the dead dynamiter who wrought death and destruction in Russell Sage's office last Friday. They said the man was John Herbert Phillips, who was employed with them for some years as an assistant bookkeeper in the bank. A dispatch from Chicago, however, last night, showed that Phillips was alive in that city.

Phillips was with the bank for three years. His salary was $700, but it is claimed that as Phillips was a society man in Brooklyn that sum was not enough for him. In order to provide himself with sufficient funds it is further charged he embezzled in small amounts about $3,000, and it was owing to this that the detective Alkon's attention was particularly drawn to him as he was engaged in foraging out the thief.

He saw the head in the glass receptacle yesterday at the morgue. It was not in a good state of preservation, but even under those disadvantages he identified it as belonging to Phillips.

He said that he had had exceptional cause to study Phillips's head, as he had him under observation while he was under suspicion in the bank and on account of his peculiarities.

Detective Alkon gave the following points of identification: The head he was sure of, and this was strengthened by the fact that the dynamiter wore such a small shoe and had such a small jaw that it was at first supposed when these portions of his body were found, among the ruins that they were believed to have belonged to a woman.

Phillips wore a 4-2 shoe and was very dainty about his dress. He was often joked by the other clerks on his girl's legs, as they called them.

Mr. Massey said that Phillips was always dissatisfied with his condition. He would suddenly start swearing over his work, and the objects of his wrath were always capitalists.

He often argued on financial matters, and believed that the wealth of the world should be equally distributed. He was often heard to say that he believed he knew a way of "bluffing Gould out of a million." Mr. Massey said that Phillips was unduly excited.

Phillips was last seen in New York two months ago.

A dispatch from Chicago gives this information concerning the man Phillips: Inspector Phillips is supposed to have been the man who threw the dynamite bomb at Russell Sage after demanding $1,000,000. Phillips, the man reported to, was in Chicago early last spring.

He called at the office of the Commercial Bank and presented a card showing that he was or had been connected with the Hanover National Bank of New York. After introducing himself to David Vernon, the assistant cashier, Phillips said he had been the protest clerk of the Hanover National Bank, but was no longer in its employ; that he had been in Denver and was then returning East. As Mr. Vernon recollects him Phillips was a dapper young man with a dark mustache and handsomely dressed.

During the afternoon of the same day the assistant cashier of the Hanover National, who happened to be in Chicago on his vacation trip, dropped into the office of the Commercial National, and in conversation with Mr. Vernon said that Phillips had never been protest clerk of the Hanover National, but had at one time occupied some minor clerical position. He did not give Phillips the slightest character, and spoke of him as being a little flighty at times.

Phillips's father was a retired sea captain of considerable means. While sailing at the Commercial National Phillips did not apply for a position or ask a favor of any kind.

The matter created much comment in banking circles downtown, as Phillips was quite well known, and also owing to the fact that Russell Sage partially identified the man from a photograph.

Death of Prof. Donaldson.
BALTIMORE, Md., Dec. 10.—Dr. Francis Donaldson, for many years professor of diseases of the throat and chest in the University of Maryland, and one of the most distinguished physicians in Baltimore, is dead, aged 69 years.

ABRAHAM BACKER DEAD.
The Note Broker Brooded Over His Failure, and Finally Succeeded.

New York, Dec. 10.—Abraham Backer, the dealer in commercial paper, whose failure on August 3, with liabilities of several millions of dollars, astonished the country, died in this city yesterday. He was 61 years old. He brooded greatly over his misfortune and inability to get a settlement from his creditors, and, when attacked with illness, could not bear the strain and succumbed.

Mr. Backer has been in business in various parts of the South, in Philadelphia and in this city. For the past ten years he had done a large business in commercial paper, and handled the paper of the best houses in the South and Southwest. His business in this line became enormous, amounting to as much as $10,000,000 a year.

House of Colonial Days Burned.
REO BANK, N. J., Dec. 10.—The large and commodious residence of Edwin Heekman, an extensive farmer of Middlesex county, was burned yesterday. The house was erected by George Crawford, an ancestor of William Heekman, before the revolution, and was the best type of colonial architecture in Monmouth county. The building was filled with antique furniture and family heirlooms, which were highly prized. The loss is about $12,000. But a brief period back Mr. Heekman's outbuildings were burned.

Seventeenth Centenary Fire.
CORLAIR, N. Y., Dec. 10.—At Homer, three miles from here, a fire of incendiary origin caused a considerable destruction of property. An unknown firebrand set the barns of James Lawrence ablaze and succeeded in causing their complete destruction, together with their contents. Mr. Lawrence's loss aggregates $2,000, no part of which is covered by insurance. This last outrage constitutes the seventeenth incendiary fire that has taken place in that neighborhood in the last two months.

Joachim Miller's Wayward Son.
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 10.—There is much interest in the 23-year-old son of the poet, Joachim Miller, who is under arrest at Ukiah for the robbery of the Ukiah and Eureka stages. Young Miller was arrested under the name of Jos. McKay, and his identity was accidentally discovered. His mother was Miss Myrtle, Joachim Miller's first wife, who died in New York some years ago. Harry Miller is said to have served a term at Portland, Ore., also under an assumed name.

Deceit Suspect for Damages.
BOSTON, Dec. 10.—Charles M. Pierce, alias Samuel Piers, who was arrested and imprisoned at Fort Warren for desertion, and who sat up the defense of never having enlisted, is now seeking a monetary bail for the injuries and mental sufferings he endured while in confinement. He has commenced an action against Major William Sinclair, the commandant of the fort and also commander of the Second Artillery, in which he lays his damages in the sum of $25,000.

Sibley Must Answer for His Act.
BOSTON, Dec. 10.—Preston B. Sibley, of Brooklyn, Conn., has been summoned by District Attorney Stevens to appear before the Grand Jury to-day to answer to the charge of arresting Wm. Phillips in Lowell and taking him to Connecticut without requisition papers, which, according to law, is criminal. The Governor will probably demand the release of Phillips, and the punishment of Sibley. It appears that Sibley has done the same thing before.

Virginia Will Aid Mrs. Davis.
RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 9.—A proposition was submitted to the City Council Monday night to allow Mrs. Jefferson Davis, the widow of the President of the Confederacy, a residence in this city for the remainder of her life. It is to be in this city and is not to cost over $25,000. A proposition is soon to be made to the Legislature to allow Mrs. Davis a pension of $1,000 a year during her life.

Fatally Assaulted by a Tramp.
NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 10.—John Warren, an old man living near Kenil, N. J., was assaulted by a tramp last night from the effects of which he will die. The tramp knocked him down, kicked him, breaking three of his ribs, and also stabbed him.

The Charges Dismissed.
ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 10.—Gov. Hill has dismissed the charges presented some time ago against Frank E. Cook, District Attorney of Jefferson county. He held that the charges, which have been duly investigated, have not been sustained.

PENNSYLVANIA BRIEFS.
Bradenville, a mining village twelve miles near Greensburg, was visited Sunday night by a fire, which destroyed ten dwelling houses and $2,500 in money in one of the houses. Total loss, $25,000; little insurance.

The Grand Jury returned a true bill yesterday in the libel suit of Senator Quay against W. A. Mallon and W. H. Porter, proprietors of the Beaver "Daily Star."

The residence of George Ammerman, at Port Matilda, was burned yesterday morning and two of his children, aged 1 and 4 years, were burned to death.

THE PHILADELPHIA PRESS.

Published Daily, Sunday, Week y. A family paper which is clean, unsectarian and just the paper for the American home.

The Press has the best possible organization to secure news from the most important sources, and with nearly 400 correspondents in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and Delaware, the state and near-by home news is covered with a routine thoroughness and adaptation to detail not even attempted by any other paper.

The Press has also the best of correspondents in all the great cities of the United States, as well as financial and railroad experts in Chicago and the West, who keep the paper more than abreast with events.

The columns of the Sunday Press are enriched by contributions from those whose names are written high in our list of great authors, novelists, essayists, as well as from men of high rank in public life. The best authors know that their last audience are the readers of the daily, Sunday, and Weekly Press.

In politics the Press knows no other master than the people and the past year has so-n, as has been seen before, the worked fact that it is adversarial to no political bias. It has no political subsiding to foster, but looks after the interests of its readers, and delivers itself upon the issue of the day in a manner both frank and fearless, letting the facts speak for themselves and evading no flutes but meeting them on the basis of fair play to all men at all times. Its pages know no distinctions and the rights of one class over another are neither recognized nor supported.

Advancements of Help, Want, Business, Opportunities, Real Estate, etc., may be inserted in The Press for one cent a word.

Terms—By mail, postage free in the United States and Canada: Daily (except Sundays) one year, $6.00; Daily (except Sundays) one month, 50c; Daily (except Sundays) one year, $7.50; Daily (including Sunday) one month, 65c; Sunday, one year, $2.00; Weekly Press, one year, $1.00. Drafts, checks and other remittances should be made payable to the order of THE PRESS COMPANY, Limited, Philadelphia, Pa.

The Minor Officers.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—The struggle for the minor offices or places about the House continues. Fully two-thirds of the employes of the House in the Fifteenth Congress are here expecting to be re-elected to their former positions.

Another cold wave soon.

Set right
—all the proper functions of womanhood. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the remedy. It regulates and promotes their action, and removes the obstructions and suppressions which cause trouble and misery. At the two critical periods in a woman's life—the change from girlhood to womanhood, and, later, the "change of life"—it is a perfectly safe and an especially valuable remedial agent, that can produce only good results. It's a powerful, invigorating tonic, and a soothing and strengthening nerve; a legitimate medicine—purely vegetable, perfectly harmless—and carefully adapted, by an experienced physician, to woman's delicate needs.

For all the derangements, irregularities, and weaknesses peculiar to the sex, the "Favorite Prescription" is a remedy so certain that it can be guaranteed. If it doesn't give satisfaction in every case, the money is returned. No other medicine for women is sold in this way.

No other medicine can be.
