Herbert J. Second Wanted a Wife So that He Could Secure His Inheritance of 82,000,000, Promising a Large Sum to Any Woman Who Would Marry Rim-He Got a Wife, but Failed to Keep His

CHICAGO, Dec. 29. -Mrs. Herbert J. Second—or, as she is known in Chicago, Mrs. Minnis Hachenberger—is trying to find out why she married her husband. Mr. Hurbert J. Second Rives in Packwankee, Wis., and the wife lives at No. 231 North State atreet, this city. She cannot decipe whether her husband is a confidence men or a practical joker.

Six months ago Secori wrote to Attorney Meiford J. Thompson, of this city, aumounting that he was heir to a fortune of usariy $2,000,000, and that s wished to marry.

But there were conditions attached to his inheritance of the cash. The conditions were that he should be married by December 3 1831. Hence his desire to secure a wife and to scurre onespreadily. To induce the lawyer to aid him, Secord said that he would give him $1,200 for his services when the wedding expression, was necessarily.

$1,200 for his services when the wedding ceremony was performed. The matrimonial agency business was a little one of Lawyer Thompson's line, but the big fee was an inducement.

The attorney was sequainted with a bright, blonds widow, Mrs. Huchenberger, He broached the subject to ner. Sie was young, good looking and seemed in every way a woman that would suit Secord. Besides, the requisites demanded by the wife-secker were not hard.

He missay desired to fulfill the condi-

He merely desired to fulfill the conditions by which he could receive the property and would be content with a woman who would be his wife in name woman who would be his wife in name only. To find a woman who would be content with a husband in name only was what he wanted. Of course, the woman would expect some satisfaction for the change of her name, so he kindly offered to give her $50,000 for the trouble of going from Chicago to Packwankee and having the caremony performed. The young widow was willing and for the chance of marrying the supposed gold mine agreed to give the autorney $1,000 when she should receive her $50,000.

Dec. 3, the last day on which the wed-Dec 3, the last day on which the welding could take place, according to Second's statement, was rapidly approaching, and he must have the wife or lose the focture. But in his hasts to secure the wife he forgot an important part—that of sending any money to the young widow to enable her to go to Packwan-

Lawyer Thompson was satisfied that Secord's claims were true, and that the fact that he sent no money was a mere overeight. When Dec 3 came no money had been received from Secord. Widow Huchenberger had cash, but she did not intend to spend it.

She was willing to marry a man for $60,000 cash down, but she did not intend to put up any cash. So Lawyer Thompson's creduity and good nature were brought into play and he advanced the necessary money.

The wildow went to Packwankee, was met at the depot by Secord and married met at the depot by Second and married the same night. The bridegroom began to act queerly, and gave the impression to his friends that his wife was very wealthy. She asked him for her $50,-000 and he put her off. Then she got mad and the next morning returned to Chicago. "Since I came back," said she, "Lawyer Thompson had him looked up, and they said that he was worth about $300 in cash and had nearly the same amount The Sunday Sun in debts due him. Where the $3,000,-000 bequest comes in I due't know. He has written me a dozen letters asking me to return, but I will not. I don't me to the start of the know what to do-get a divorce, I guesa."

Shaking a carpet is a feature of house cleaning which thoroughly enlists the attroubled with a severe cold on the lungs tention of the man of the house. It is done after dinner. The reason the woman selects this time is because he is dressed and has to go back to business again without a chance to change his clothes. He carries the carpet outdoors It is not rolled up, it is in a wad shape and he gathers it up in his arms and starts for the door, with one end of the carpst dragging between his feet. scorns to stop and roll it up. He has got his arms full. It presess into his bosom and leaves rifts of sand and grit on his shirt front, it bulges into his face hot and dusty, and fills his mouth and nose and eyes Then the long end gets under one foot as he is going down the back stoop, and the other foot mounts up the breadth. and he stambles, but catches himself and prevents falling to the ground on his face by deliberately yet blindly jumping off the stoop. He finally gen the carpet on the line. It is very warm. There is a breeze from the west. He steps on the west side of the carpet and hits it a lick with a stick; Instantly the wind turns sharp around to the east, and he is engulfed in dust. He darts around to the cust side, and he hits it another link; the wind veers around to west simultaneously, and he is plunged into a succeing fit, which seri onely threatens to dislocate his neck. Then he pauses and looks around uneasily. He sees that a carpet has the same effect on the wind as a sieveful of coal sales, and he doesn't understand it. He gets a clothespole and stands around at the north end, and hits the carpet z terrible rap; the wind promptly sails around to the south, and catches him full in the face with a pint of dust be fore the pole has fairly left the carpet.

effected his recovery in the following simple manner: He boiled a little bonemet and hoarhound together and drank freely of the tea before going to bed. The next day he took five pills, put one kind of plaster on his breast, another under his arms and still another on his Under advice from an experiback. enced-old lady he took all these off with an oyster knife in the afternoon and slapped on a mustard paste instead. His mother put some onion drafts on his feet and gave him a lump of tar to swallow. Then he put some hot bricks to his feet and went to bed.

Next morning another old lady came in with a bottle of goose oil and gave him a dose of it on a quill, and an ainst arrived about the same time from Bethel with a bundle of sweet fern which she made into a tea and gave him every half hour until mon, when he took a big dose of salts. After dinner his wife, who had seen a fine old hely of great experience in doctoring, in Franklin street, gave him two pills of her make about the size of an English walnut and of a similar shape, and two tablespoonfuls of homemade balsam to keep them down. Then he took a half pant of hot rum at the suggestion of an old sea captain in the next house and steamed his legs with an sicond bath,

At this cross two of the neighbors arrived, who saw at once that his blood was out of order, and gave him a half gallon of spearmint tea and a big dose of castor oil. Before going to bed he took eight of a new kind of pills, wrapped about his nack a flannel soaked in hot vinegar and salt and had feathers burned on a shovel in his room. He is now thoroughly cured and full of gratitude. We advise our readers to cut this out and keep it where it can be readily found when danger threatens.
