Stayed in Her Cable Throughout the En tire Younga-A. Vessel in Distress Signted, But She Required No Aid-It-layed by a Succession of Heavy Galer and Terribly Bigh Sons.

Naw York, Jan. S .- Capt. Watkins, of the steamship City of Paris, which arrived here two days overdue, and for which the greatest anxiety had been felt, tells the following story of the

"It was the roughest trip I have experienced in years, and was by all olds the stormiest experience that the City of Paris has had. We had to buffet against #a continuous succession of heavy gales and terribly high seas.

For about 55 hours we had to slow The angula of hours we had to slow our engines, as the same were too furious to push the ship through at the usual pressure of steam. We were delayed about five or six hours on leaving Queenstown on accounts of a very heavy reg, and on Sunday evening, Dac. 27, we fost about four or five hours in communicating with the Liandar City, of the Bristol City Line, which was fiving sixuate of distress. It was in latitude signist of distrains. It was in latitude so dog 17 min., longitude 35 dag 18 min., that we slighted the disabled vassel. The sea was very high at the time, and I could not get anywhere near her.

"Finally I stopped the City of Paris and lowered one of the boats, sending an officer to her. Her captain declined maistance, and desired only to be reported that the engines of his boat were disabled, but that he expected to get along all right. She was bound for New York from Bristot. The seas had used her pretty badly and had left her only one lifeboat. The sealed letter only one lifeboat. The scaled letter which the captain threw to our officer I have in my possession now and will deliver to her agents.

"Our vessel had no trouble of any sort. She behaved excellently throughout the trip. Our worst days were on Christmas and Thursday. The gale was terrific and the waves wastied continu-ously over the decks. But no damage whatever was done to any part of the vessel. There was no fear or anxiety among the passengers at any time. Even at our worst moments, when we pitched and tossed about in a lively fashion, they took it all good humoredly. The most of them were, of course, slok. For a day or two nobody made his or her appearance at the

The City of Parls brought over 137 cabin passengers and 357 steerage passengers. The most prominent among the saloon people were Mus. Patri and her company. Patti was the only woman on board who was not seasick. She very rarely, however, made her ap-pearance out-lide of her cabin, and had all her meals brought to her.
