HE TRIED MENDING.

SELECTIONS FROM THE WRITINGS OF THE DANBURY NEWS MAN.

The Great Question, Shall the Astors Lug Off the Money? Is Settled in Rather a Remarkable Way by a Munson Street Man.

[Copyrighted by Lee & Shepard, Boston, and published by special arrangement with them.) This is the way Astors are made. A Monson street man being told that there were several pieces of tin which needed mending conceived the idea of getting an iron and solder and doing the mending himself. His wife, filled with vague forebodings, perhaps, said that the expense was such a trifle that it would hardly pay to do it one's self. to which he responded:

"I'll admit that, in this one instance, it would not pay, but there is something being in want of repair every little while, and if I have the tools here for fixing it we are saved just so much expense right along. It may not be much in the course of a year, but every little helps, and in time the total would amount to a nice litsle lump. We don't want the Astors Ligging off all the money in the country, by gracious!" He got the iron (one dollar) and fifty cents' worth of solder and ten cents worth of resin. He came home with these things and went into the kitchen looking so proud and happy that his wife. would have been giad he had got them were it not for an overpowering dread of an impending musa. He called for the articles needing repair. His wife brought out a pan. "Where's the rest? Bring 'em all out, an let me make one job of 'em while I'm about it."

He got them all and seemed to be disappointed that there were not more of them. He pushed the iron into the fire, got a milkpan inverted on his knee, and, with the solder in his hand, waited for the right heat.

"That iron only cost a dollar, and it'll never wear out, and there is enough solder in this piece to do twenty-five dollars' worth of mending," he explained to his wife.

Pretty soon the iron was at the right heat, he jusiged. He rubbed the resin free sample vial of Dr. Hand's Colic Cure. about the hole which was to be repaired. It always cures. held the stick of solder over it and care
