The Case of Fireman Shields.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—The testimony taken by District-Attorney Carter in San Francisco in the case of Fireman Shields, of the American merchant steamer Keweenaw, is causing a revival of the war feeling against Chill. Some people do not accept the case as a worthy oobe, yet most men in official life are in-clined to accept it as indicative of the feeling in Chili against Americans. It is not probable that the Administration will make an issue of the Shields case, in the state of the Shields case, for there is a grave doubt as to his citizenship, and some authorities are in-clined to question the merits of the case.

Commercial Travelers Want Special Rates Washington, Jan. 13 .- The commer-Washington, Jan. 13.—The commer-cial travelers of the country believe in being early in the field and in not failing to achieve their aims through progras-tination or lack of energy. They have already begun to move on Congress for an amendment to the Inter-State Com-merce law which will permit the rail roads to give them special rates of fure and an extra allowance of baggage. Several bills on the subject have been introduced. The House Committee on Foreign and Inter-State Commerce took up the subject yesterday and devoted its up the subject yesterday and devoted its session to a discussion of the matter. This discussion developed a favorable facing in the committee towards the re-quest of the commercial travelers, and showed that they will probably get what they want from the committee.
