Panis, Jan. 22.-M. Laur, the Boulangist member of the Chamber of Deputies, who was struck by M. Constans Minister of the Interior, during the stormy scene in the Chamber on Tuesday, declined to heed the advice of M Rochefort, the Boulangise leader, and decided to seek revenge for the blow inflicted upon him by the Minister.

Accordingly he chose seconds, who waited upon M. Constans last night as the bearers of a challenge to fight a duel. According to the code governing personal combats the challenged party has always the right to select the weapons to be used, but in this case M. Laur took it upon himself to choose not only the weapons, which he wanted to be pistols, but the other details of the proposed duel. He wanted to exchange three shots with M. Constans at a distance of 20 paces.

When the representatives of the Chamber of bloodthirsty member of the Chamber of Deputies arrived at the residence of Mr. Constant they were politely informed that M. Constant refused to receive them. that M. Constans refused to receive them.

The messenger added that M. Constans had instructed him to inform them that he would not fight. He had been waiting too long, and he did not intend to be all his life at the disposal of M. Laur.
When the seconds informed M. Laur of the result of their errand the latter immediately former and the latter immediately former.

MANNING'S FUNERAL.

Thousands Follow the Remains of the Late Cardinal to the Grave.

LONDON, Jan. 22 - The runeral of the late Cardinal Manning was held yesterday morning from Brompton Oratory. The church was packed to the doors, and outside a huge multitude gathered.

The funeral procession will long be remembered in this city as being one of the solemnly magnificent witnessed by the present generation. It was headed by five hundred priests in full canonical robes; after the priests arms robes; after the priests came fourteen robes, after the priests came fourteen bishops in the most ecclesiastical robing. These fourteen bishops were eventually grandly grouped about the front of the high main altar, presenting a most striking picture. Behind them were a number of canons, in the richest mourning vestments, and behind, around and in front of them was a host of chor-

The Bishop of Clifton, the Hon. Wm. Clifford, officiated at the requiem mass, assisted by the usual number of deacons and sub-deacons.

The Bishop of Newport and Menevia, the Right Rev. John C. Hedley, preached the sermon.

At the conclusion of the religious ser vices in the oratory, the casket containing Cardinal Manning's body was removed in a plain hearse, and an immense procession was formed and followed the remains to Kensal Green Cemetery, five miles distant. Men and women, old and young, rich and poor, joined in this notable journey to the tomb of the Prince of the Church. In addition to this imposing procession of the people, the route to the cemetery was lined by tens upon tens of thousands of people. Every hat was raised as the hearse slowly passed on its way to Ken-sal Green, and on all sides were heard words of praise and sympathy for the distinguished priest. Catholics and Protestants alike wore mourning for Cardinal Manning, and there was no need to glance at and analyze that monster procession in order to come to the conclusion that the deceased prelate was a real and true friend of mankind, and that his loss was felt on all sides, irrespective of religious

CANNOT MARRY FOR FIVE YEARS An Old English Law Governing the Case

of Princess May of Teck. LONDON, Jan. 22 .- It is not generally known that by the provisions of an old statute any princess who shall be trothed to an English prince royal in the direct line of succession to the throne shall not, in the event of the death of her affianced husband, be allowed to contract another marriage within five years of the demise of the prince.

This provision adds further gloom to the already dismal surroundings of Princess May of Teck, and it is possible that, as some soluce to her in her deep trouble, she will be raised to the rank of "Royal Highness" by the Queen.

A Stowaway's Story of Atrocities in the Pacific Ocean.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 22.-A remarkable story is told by a stowaway named James White who has reached this city from Honolulu. He shipped on a small trading schooner last May in Australia for a trip among Pacific Ocean Islands.

The schooner had a grew of fifteen men and was under the command of a man named Captain Colton. White be-came suspicious when be learned that there were several guns on board, but was informed that they would be traded to Islanders.

The chooner, on its first landing, abducted five young girls, and was pur-sued by natives in canoes, six or eight natives being killed, and the rest being devoured by sharks.

The vessel then touched at another is land some weeks later, and a fight was had in which one of the schooner's craw was killed A lot of sandal wood was seized at still another island, but the schooner was chased by a French war vessel which, however, did not get within reach.

White then decided to leave the vessel, and deserted at the first opportunity.

GARZA'S REBELLION

Plotters Against Diaz Gaining in Numbers.

THE MOVEMENT SPREADING.

American Troops Making Active Search for Revolutionists.

Garra Sald to be in Mexico, and No Thought to be in Hiding-He is Waiting to Strike a Heavy Blow at the Forces of President Diag-The Mexican Authorities, Although Decrying the Uprising. Secretly Alarmed.

San Antonio, Tex., Jan. 22.-Private advices received here yesterday from the lower part of the Rio Grande border are to the effect that the excitement there over the Garza revolutionary movement instead of decreasing is spreading among the people and that the plotters against the administration of President Diaz are gaining in numbers rapidly. At Roma and Rio Grande city there are many prominent Mexican and American residents who do not hesitate to boldly declare their sympathy for the cause of the revolutionists.

Captain Francis H. Hardle, with his troop, started out again yesterday for the purpose of making a search of several suspicious ranches located north of the Texan and Mexican National railway. He is also heading for the reported ren-dezvous of a large band of the revolu-tionists, numbering it is claimed, three bundred men, located on the Nucces

Captain George A. Chase, in command of Troop D, Third cavalry, has left Palito Blanco ranche, the home of the father-inlaw of Garza, and is also moving toward the Nuces.

An order was issued by Gen. David Stanley yesterday that Troop D work under orders from Fort McIntosh instead of Fort Ringgold, as it has been doing heretofore.
It is confidently believed that Garza has not been idle during the long search that has been made for him. It is believed, also, that he has not been in hid ing.

It is the prevailing opinion that he is Mexico and that he will show up in the course of a few weeks with an a-med following that will cause President Piaz great anxiety and alarm.

Those who are acquainted with the personal characteristics of Garza assert that he is not the man to give up early, especially since there never was brighter prospect of success than at present. The spark of revolutionary spirit has been kindled, and Garza will not permit it to die out as long as he can influence the excitable and restless Mexicans with per-sonal appeals and imflammatory literature censuring President Diaz and his policy of government.

In the meantime the United States troops and Federal authorities will con-tinue to exercise their utmost vigilance, while the Mexican government is anxiously awaiting the expected revolt to be started on a formidable basis.

Invitations for Graves' Execution. DENVER, Col., Jan. 22 .- The bailiff of the Supreme Court received a large let-ter yesterday from Canon City. When the Supreme Court received a large let-ter yesterday from Canon City. When asked what it contained he smiled knowingly and said he was not permit-ted to answer. From those in a position to know the information was obtained that the letter contained invitations to the Grayes execution. The time for the the Graves execution. The time for the death watch to be established is drawing so near that the warden could delay the matter no longer. The bailiff is forbidden by law to tell who the witnesses will be. The information has caused a sensation in Denver.

Lumber Output for 1891.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Jan. 22.-The annual lumber statement shows that the quantity of lumber rafted at the boom was 262,071,394 feet, and that the ship ments for the year exceeded those of any preceding year by 25,080,000 feet. In fact, the output of lumber in 1891 was the largest on record, with the exception of 1887. It is stated by the operators that there will be a decreased production this year of at least 50,000,000 feet, which will warrant an increase price of at least 50 cents per 1,000 feet.

MR. BLAINE'S HEALTH.

Conflicting Stories as to the Secretary's Physical Condition

Washington, Jan. 22.—Many conflict ing stories are in circulation as to Secre tary Blaine's physical condition and the ons for his sudden withdrawal from the Cabinet meeting on Tuesday. One of Mr Blaine's closest Congres sional friends said: "Mr Blaine is in very poor health, but he refuses to recognize the fact. He has good days and bad days and will not listen to suggestions from his friends. He may have some chronic trouble. He is careless as to what he eats, selecting the rightst food on all oversitions. the richest food on all occasions. In con-sequence he shows decided symptoms of the natural results from an aggravated attack of Bright's disease of the kidneys. His personal friends advise his retirement from public life, and they are doing everything in their power to discourage the idea of hie becoming a Presidential nominee.

"Sometimes he seems disposed to yield to friendly suggestions, and several times has been on the eve of making a formal announcement that under no circumstances will be accept the nom-ination. Then some of his political ad-mirers get around him and persuade him to remain silent until after the next him to remain silent until after the next Republican convention. In the meantime the auti-Harrison element in the Republican party in Congress has been advised of Mr. Blaine's real condition, and they are now looking over the political field for a candidate to take his place."

Another friend of Mr. Blaine, who is familiar with his physical condition, confirms the above statement, and adds that one of the most painful symptoms of his malady is Mr. Blaine's inability to express himself consecutively and orally. On the other hand he can sit down and write his views as brilliantly as ever. write his views as brilliantly as ever. Because of this misfortune he refrains from attending public meetings and ban-

Contrary to the advice of his physician Mr. Blaine insists upon eating rich food, and during the past year he has changed his doctor several times because they in sisted upon it that he should know his true condition when he refused to follow their advice and instructions.

The same authority says that Mr.

Blaine is losing his boasted faculty of remembering names and faces. He now falls to remember some of his closest friends and cannot recall their names.

At his last diplomatic reception one of his personal friends and official associates met him and addressed him familiarly. Mr. Blaine looked at him in blank amazement, while at the same time he nerv ously patted his hands together in an ab stracted sort of way until Gail Hamilton, a cousin of Mrs. Blaine, who accompanied him, recalled the gentleman's name. Explanations followed, but the gentleman in question naturally commented upon the circumstance with his friends
