ELECT good men to office.

AN exchange remarks that the Democratic party is not likely to nominate a man for President this year who was once a Republican. Therefore, General Palmer, Governor Boies and ex-Governor Gray might as well take down their lightning rods.

In commenting on the verdict in the libel suit of Quay against the Pittsburg Post, the Philadelphia News very properly suggests that "the verdict should be carefully considered by all Senator Quay's opponents before they engage in another war of slander against him."

It is the duty of every citizen to vote. It is also becoming to every citizen to vote for the best interests of the town. This is embodied in casting your votes for active, energetic men for borough officers. Elect men who can deliberate with judgement and we need fear not for the result.

PENNSYLVANIA has an organized National Guard of 7,500 well equipped and well drilled soldiers, the equals of any in the Union. She has besides 700,000 able bodied men, available for and subject to military duty. The old Keystone State is a nation in itself of no mean proportions, and in the event of war will do her full duty.

THE Pennsylvania Democracy are just now in a beautiful condition of harmony. There are the Harrity and Anti-Harrity, the Pattison and Anti-Pattison, the Cleveland and Anti-Cleveland and any number of smaller factions in the various counties each striving for the mastery. True they haven't much to fight over in Pennsylvania, but fighting appears to be the order of the day this year in Democratic circles, and the Pennsylvania

AT KEITER'S.

Democrats don't want to be out of fashion. Republicans look on and smile and hope the fight will continue.

THE manly words of Chairman Kerr will not fall on unheeding ears. The Democrats of Pennsylvania must first redeem themselves from the bosses in their own party before renewing the battle against the bosses in the opposition party. This is the contest to be settled at the next state Democratic convention—shall party bosses rule or shall the will of the people control?—Harrisburg Patriot.

LET'S begin the week by thinking of something else than the grip—if we can.

KENNETT SQUARE, Chester county, is just now indulging in a peculiar post-office fight. The present incumbent is a Democrat, who was appointed by President Cleveland. His wife is a staunch Republican, and as she believes in "turning the rascals out," she has herself made application for appointment as postmistress. The position is worth $1,600 a year, and the woman is being assisted in her fight by a number of influential Republicans of the county. A number of the sterner sex are also after the prize, but the woman, it is believed will be able to keep the office within the family.

Indians dying of Grip.
 CHICAGO, J. 23.—A dispatch from Arizona says that the grip has made its appearance among the Pine Indians. The agent of the principal agency of the Territory reports that over 100 Pimas have died in 10 days. The epidemic is spreading throughout the Pima and other adjoining tribes, and whole villages have been depopulated. Unless immediate relief is afforded the agent says the whole tribe of Pima Indians will become extinct.

SEARVANT at Sing Sing.
 SING SING, N. Y., Jan. 25.—Herbert Searvart, the assailant of Mrs. Cora Chapman, of Brooklyn, commenced serving his term of 10 years here yesterday. He was manacled during his journey to the prison to James Walker, the notorious negro thief, who has been put out of the way for 30 years.

WHAT THE SCRIBES SEE AND HEAR

An Interesting Sermon in the Methodist Episcopal Church Last Night on "Everlasting Punishment."

"Everlasting Punishment" was the theme under consideration Sunday night at the Methodist Episcopal church: "These shall go away into everlasting punishment, but the righteous into life eternal." Matt. 25:46. These fearful words are a part of the whole counsel of God which it is the duty of the gospel minister to declare. The element of fear is divinely implanted and the ministry that fails to address it is short of a part of its power. The tempt and the earthquake are often necessary to arrest attention to the still small voice. The bible speaks to us of never-ending punishment which is reserved for the unrepentant. If some men do carry with them in their bosom a hell of remorse this is not the hell to which the text refers. Howbeit the worst of men are often free from remorse altogether, so that if remorse were the only hell which we have to fear, some who most deserve it might escape it altogether. Two false interpretations were noticed, viz: that which quibbles at the word "punishment" and that which quibbles at the word "eternal." One of these schools of thought holds that everlasting punishment does not last forever. Universalism believes, in substance, in the old notion of purgatory, which was borrowed originally from heathenism and has been pressed into the service of christian heresy. But as the same Greek word is used to express the duration of the happiness of the good as is used to express the duration of the punishment of the bad it is a two-edged sword when thus interpreted, which not only cuts a slice off the punishment of the bad but another one off the bliss of the good. But as the notion has no warrant of unequivocal scripture truth, it need not receive further attention. Even if Christ did once preach to lost souls in hell we have no assurance that he will ever do so again. And even if he should it were much better to embrace it here. The meaning of the word punishment is a sufficient answer to the idle dreams of annihilationists. The word connotes the twin ideas of pain and penalty. When either of these ideas is absent it ceases to be punishment. Christ suffered for our sins, but strictly speaking he was not punished for them. When consciousness ceases pain ceases and punishment with it. If everlasting nothingness was to be the penalty of sin it is strange that Christ did not say so. It is a striking fact that extinction—the everlasting punishment of the annihilationists—was the supreme felicity of Buddhism. Thus we see how human reason, when it tampers with the plain teaching of divine truth, contradicts itself. But the theory not only contradicts itself, but it proves too much. The annihilationist believes that the souls of the good are unconscious between death and the resurrection, and what is this but annihilation—of limited duration. Thus it would punish the good as well as the bad. If the unconscious sleep of the souls of the good between death and the resurrection is not punishment, so, neither, is the unconscious sleep of the souls of the bad through all eternity, punishment. Moreover it contradicts the plain scriptural teaching concerning the degree of punishment of the lost and enjoyment of the good by placing all upon the same plane and reducing the whole question to one of mere existence or nonexistence. Thus it also misinterprets eternal life which is "to know"—to apprehend and enjoy—"These, the only true God and Jesus Christ whom thou hast sent." A picture was then presented of the solemn scenes of that final day when families will be broken and an eternal farewell must be said; some being consigned to everlasting punishment and some being admitted to companionship with the Infinite.

Pronounced Hopeless, Yet Saved.

From a letter written by Mrs. Ada E. Hurd, of Groton, S. D., we quote: "Was taken with a bad cold, which settled on my Lungs, cough set in and finally terminated in Consumption. Four doctors gave me up, saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Saviour, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth, I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I gave it a trial, took in all, eight bottles; it has cured me, and thank God I am now a well and hearty woman." Trial bottles free at C. H. Hagenbuch's drug store, regular size, 50c. and $1.00.

CAVE-IN AT AUDENREID.

Tracks of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Carried Down.

At an early hour this morning the tracks of the Lehigh Valley railroad about a mile this side of Audenreid were carried down by the caving in of mine workings. The hole made was sixty feet in length and breadth and forty feet deep. Arrangements were at once made by the railroad company to continue passenger traffic over the branch. Trains were run to each end of the cave-in and the passengers walked around the place. The trains were run pretty close to schedule time.

"O'Dowd's Neighbors."

"O'Dowd's Neighbors," which was produced last night at the National Theatre, to a large and appreciative audience, has been brightened by new features since it was last seen here and furnishes an acceptable entertainment. It has been contrived for "laughter purposes" and its slender plot offers ample opportunity for the introduction of vaudeville specialties. Mark Murphy, who leads the company, is a clever stage Irishman, who sings, dances and kicks his way into favor. The bill presents a variety of fresh humor, popular ballads and good dancing, and the whole cast is equal to the standard of the piece, which, it has been intimated, disarms criticism from the standpoint of the drama, but keeps its promise of providing unlimited fun-making.—Phila. Ledger. "O'Dowd's Neighbors" will be produced at Ferguson's theatre to-morrow evening.

CONTRACT LABOR

A REPORT IN CONNECTION WITH IT

AND THE PENNSYLVANIA MINES

Contract Labor Inspectors Conkling and Osborne Say American Miners Are Crowded Out by Imported Labor.

Contract labor inspectors Conkling and Osborne, who were sent from New York to investigate the workings of the alien contract law, have sent their report to Secretary Foster, of the Treasury Department. Their report states that they discovered evidences of wholesale violation of the law that was framed to protect American workmen.

In the mines surrounding Scranton it was found that nine-tenths of the miners at present employed are Hungarians, Italians and Slavs. Five years ago the miners there were nearly all Americans. At the Arion mines in Western Pennsylvania, M. J. Osborne learned that Hungarian and Italian immigrants come there in squads of 200 at a time, direct from the Barge office in New York, under charge of padrones.

At the mines near Carbondale in 1886 there were 600 miners, all Americans. While the miners' strike was on in 1890-91 large numbers of Slavs and Hungarians were brought to the mines from Castle Garden under the protection of Pinkerton's detectives. At the last election out of 787 miners employed there just sixty-eight were entitled to vote.

The inspectors found that immigrants were brought over from Europe in droves, passed through the Barge office by an agent and taken to the mine to supersede American miners. There are several men employed by the mine owners whose sole duty is to visit the Barge office and get immigrant contract laborers passed through. One man in particular was nicknamed the "Much-Cousin Man," as he would visit the Barge office and secure the release of detained immigrants, claiming them as cousins, brothers or other relatives.

The inspectors recommend more stringent scrutiny of immigrants passing through the different landing places. At present, they say, the law is practically useless as contract laborers pass through by thousands without detection.

A Correction.

Owing partly to a misunderstanding and partly to sickness the lecture of the Rev. Wm. Swindles, D. D., in the Methodist Episcopal church, will not take place until Wednesday, February 10th. It is expected that the Rev. J. Hepburn Hargis, D. D., of Philadelphia, will lecture in the same place on "The Spirit of Methodism" on Wednesday evening, February 2d.
