

OFFERS TO MEDIATE

England's Instructions to Her Minister at Santiago.

THE WAR MUST BE PREVENTED.

Great Excitement in the Chilean Cities Over the Situation.

CORRECT TERMS OF THE ULTIMATUM

The Baltimore Outrage, the Matta Note and Minister Egan's Recall the Subjects.

A Question of Veracity Between Minister Egan and Senator Montt—The Special Message and the Correspondence Go to Congress To-day—The Report that Admiral Gierardi and the Philadelphia Had Sailed for Europe to Head Off the Captain Pratt Credited by Little—Senator Henderson, of Missouri, Speaking of the Refugees Helped by Egan, Takes a Stand Against the Proceeding.

VALPARAISO, Jan. 25.—Minister Kennedy, representative of Great Britain at Santiago, is reported on good authority, has received definite instructions from his government to make an offer to the government of Chili to act as mediator between that country and the United States for the purpose of preventing a war.

Both the Chilean and foreign residents in Valparaiso and Santiago are greatly excited over the situation, but no demonstration is reported.

The situation here is considered very grave.

The Special Message.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—It looks more like war between the United States and Chili this morning than at any previous stage of the controversy.

The special message of the President, with all the correspondence and with all the testimony as to the outrage on the sailors of the Baltimore, will be sent to Congress this afternoon.

Attorney General Miller was closeted with the President at the White House all yesterday afternoon, revising the final proofs of the message, and paying especial attention to elucidating the most significant points in the testimony of the sailors and officers of the crew of the Baltimore.

Secretary Blaine also gave the more important points of the document a final perusal.

The message and accompanying documents, correspondence, etc., will form a bulky volume. The message, as stated, will comprise it is believed, not more than 4,000 or 5,000 words.

The last of the testimony taken at Valparaiso did not reach the Navy Department until noon Saturday.

One of the officials who has read some of the evidence said that it fully bore out all that had been claimed respecting the outbreak against the sailors, as to its premeditation and the animus of the assailants.

The Ultimatum.

The terms of the ultimatum to Chili have not been correctly given in any of the dispatches referring to it.

The assault upon the Baltimore's sailors is the first. The Secretary of State directs Mr. Egan to inform the Chilean Government that after a full and careful examination of evidence of that affair, as submitted by the Chilean authorities and as shown in the examination of the Baltimore's sailors, the President feels compelled to stand by the terms of Assistant Secretary Wharton's instructions to Minister Egan October 23, and to insist upon apology and due reparation therefor.

The second subject is the Matta circular note of December 13.

This note, the Chilean Government is informed, is offensive to the President and other officers of the United States and that unless it is promptly withdrawn and the language disavowed by the Chilean Government in equally public and general form as in which it was circulated, Minister Egan will ask for passports and diplomatic relations between the countries will cease.

The third subject is the proposed recall of Minister Egan.

It is expected that fully sixty competitors, including the best shots in the United States and Canada will take part in the big pigeon and blue rock shooting tournament which comes off to-morrow at Hamilton, Ont.

Alexander D. Anderson, special commissioner of the World's Columbian Exposition, who for the past year has been in charge of the Eastern Headquarters at South Norwalk, yesterday resigned his position to devote his time to business in Washington.

THE MARKER MURDER.

Police Accident that They Will Soon Unravel the Mystery.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Jan. 25.—The authorities are confident that they will be able to unravel the mystery of the killing of George Markert. An examination of the body, which, as told Saturday, was found in the Callicoon River, shows that the murder was most atrocious. There are five pistol shot wounds in the head and neck, the skull is fractured, apparently by a blow with a club, and there is a ragged, gaping wound in the neck, where an attempt had been made to cut the victim's throat with a dull knife.

Three persons are under arrest for the murder. They are Adam Heldt, brother of Markert's first wife, and his two sons, Joseph and John Heidt.

The alleged motive for the murder is a bitter enmity on the part of the Heldts toward Markert, growing out of family quarrels about property and the ignorance and superstition of the elder Heldt, who is said not to be of sound mind.

It is said that Adam Heldt has long believed that Markert was possessed of the evil eye, and that he had bewitched Heldt's cows so that they should meet with accidents and at times would refuse to give milk, and that Markert had in other ways injured and damaged him in person and property by his black arts.

The sons are believed to have shared in their father's enmity, and perhaps to some extent in his delusions. It is thought that the sons were the actual perpetrators of the crime.

CHANDLER'S CRITICISM.

His References to New Hampshire Judges Causing Much Comment.

CONCORD, N. H., Jan. 25.—Senator Chandler's references to New Hampshire Judges in his open letter to Editor J. C. Moore are causing much comment. The Senator said among other things:

"There is much need of fearless comment on many of the past and completed acts of our judges. Some of them ride free on Boston & Maine Railroad passes. Their names are on the list. I think some also ride free on the Concord & Montreal Railroad. The judges' salaries were raised $500 each in 1881 with the one distinct object of keeping them from riding free."

The judges unconstitutionally appoint the State Board of Equalization, and this judges' board, whose members, except one, Mr. John W. Hill, ride free on the railroads, have undervalued at least 50 per cent of the railroads for taxation purposes.

They are valued at $20,000,000, when they should be valued at least at $37,785,000. They pay only $283,343 taxes, when they should pay at least $418,759. There is no remedy for the people when the judges impose unjust taxes, except in a popular outcry."

The Senator criticizes the official conduct of Chief Justice Doe, says the sentence of Murderer Almy in the latter's absence from court was illegal, and declares that he (the Senator) has returned every railroad pass offered to him for 13 years.

A Schooner Ashore.

HYANNIS, Mass., Jan. 25.—The schooner Annie A. Booth, from New York, ran ashore at the Southwest Grounds, near here, during the afternoon. The deck-load of laths was thrown overboard by the crew, and it is thought the vessel may be floated.

The Pope Much Improved.

ROME, Jan. 25.—The Pope has not yet completely recovered, but he is much better. He heard mass yesterday and was visited by various cardinals and ecclesiastical officials. All alarm as to his health is for the present allayed.

A Poor Quality of Ice.

TROY, N. Y., Jan. 25.—Ice men say that the ice in the Hudson is not worth harvesting. It may be cut for cooling purposes for brewers and hotels, but it is not fit for family use. Good ice is being secured from lakes and ponds.

GETS HIS RIGHTS NOW

How a Hired Man Comes Into a $75,000 Estate.

THE QUEER STORY OF A WILL.

Disappearing Mysteriously, it is Found in a Squirrel's Nest by Two Hunters.

Abram Mosher's Relatives Wouldn't Live With Him, Though He Was Wealthy—George Applebee, His Hired Man, Took Care of Mosher and Was Made Sole Legatee to the Estate in a Holographic Will—Disappearance of the Document and Ejection of the Hired Man by Mosher's Relatives, Who Didn't Believe the Story—They Relinquish Their Claim When the Will Turns Up.

HAMBURG, Conn., Jan. 25.—The finding of the will of Abram Mosher, by two hunters at Dark Hollow, three miles east of here, while trying to get at a nest of gray squirrels in the trunk of a hollow tree, has caused a big sensation here and has averted a lawsuit. The hunters found among the leaves and pieces of bark of which the nest was composed some scraps of paper with writing on them, several handkerchiefs, bits of ribbon and numberless fragments of twine.

The pieces of paper proved to be the holographic will of Abram Mosher, a farmer living near Dark Hollow, who died in the early part of last summer. Mosher through inheritance and through thrift and frugality was worth at the time of his death more than $75,000. He was not married and had no direct heirs.

During the six years prior to his death he was an almost hopeless paralytic. When he was stricken he tried to get one of his relatives to live with him. All refused, so he got a young man named George Applebee to operate his farm and care for him.

Applebee attended to the wants of Mosher faithfully until he died. A few days before the old man passed away he told Applebee that he had made a will in which he had given him his entire estate, and he asked Applebee to bring him the will, which he would find in the drawer of the bureau in Mosher's bedroom. Applebee did so, and Mosher went over it carefully to see that it read just as he wanted it to.

Applebee carried the will back. He had just reached the bedroom when he heard a cry from Mosher calling him back, and he hurriedly threw the will on a table that stood near an open window. Mosher had taken a sudden turn for the worse. Applebee found him unconscious, and he never rallied. When Applebee went to look for the will it was gone. He searched every nook and cranny, but could get no trace of it.

As soon as Mosher was dead his relatives, children of a second cousin, appeared on the scene and laid claim to the estate. Applebee told the story of the will and refused to vacate the farm, all the time keeping up a search for the will. He was finally ejected, however, and the cousins took possession. There were persons who had heard Mosher say that he intended to give his property to Applebee, and on the strength of their testimony Applebee was preparing to make a fight when the will was found. When the fragments of the document were placed together it was found complete, though badly stained. The cousins have already relinquished the farm.

Now "Jack the Huggler."

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Jan. 25.—A mysterious "Jack the Huggler," has been terrorizing young women in this place ever since last Wednesday evening. Every evening he has concealed himself behind a hedge in front of Stephen S. Marshall's house on Railroad avenue near the station, and has frightened young women by leaping out and throwing his arms about them as they walked along the street. Miss Mamie Wall has twice been seized by the man, but she broke away from him each time. Other young women who have been seized by the "Huggler" are Miss Lena Garrison, Mrs. Phoebe Odell, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Richard L. Hopkins, Mrs. Harry Nichols and Mrs. Walcott.

This May Mean War With Brazil.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Senator Mendonca, the Brazilian Minister, who created quite a sensation at the Academy of Music Saturday night by refusing to leave his carriage come up in the regular way, but calling it up in violation of police regulations, is much commented upon. He tried to run in ahead of Senator Dolph, and became greatly incensed when the officers in charge made him get out of the way. He went to the station and preferred charges and said he intended to make a diplomatic fuss about it.

Three Killed by a Locomotive.

GREENWICH, Conn., Jan. 25.—A sad accident occurred to three young men of this place during the night on the railroad tracks near Chalkoning, a suburb of this town. The three young men, Philip Connell, Michael Doran and Brown Hamilton, were on their way to Chalkoning to attend a dance when they were struck by a locomotive. Doran and Connell were instantly killed, and Hamilton received fatal injuries.

Trouble Likely in Ecuador.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Information has been received in this city that trouble is imminent in Ecuador, growing out of the alleged assumption of dictatorial powers of the President. The occasion of the trouble is that as the time approaches for the election of a successor to the present incumbent of the Presidency, his opponents charge that he is endeavoring to continue himself in power by unconstitutional methods.

Worst Winter in Twenty Years.

BOISE CITY, Idaho, Jan. 25.—Thousands of cattle are slowly starving to death in the hills of Southern Idaho. The loss to the stockraisers will be tremendous. Every blade of grass upon the ranges is under from twenty-two to sixty inches of snow, and the present winter has not been equaled in severity since 1870.

Sunk by La Norwanda.

HAVRE, Jan. 25.—The General Transatlantic steamer La Norwanda, which sailed from this port Saturday for New York, collided with and sank the tug which had been towing her. Five persons were drowned and one was seriously injured.

HER HIDDEN WEALTH.

Mrs. Kingsbury Was Supposed to be Poor, Yet She Hoarded $60,000.

LYNN, Mass., Jan. 25.—How Mrs. Jane Kingsbury managed to hoard the immense sum of money found in her house is a mystery to every one familiar with her manner of living. What her income was no one knows, but it was always thought she lived up to it. She was generally supposed to be poor.

In their search Attorney Cunningham and Mr. Griswold came across several bank books concealed in a chest in a spare bedroom. They were found in bureau drawers which had not been used to the knowledge of the other persons in the house for years. The books represented deposits amounting to about $60,000. The search was continued and $60,000 in money was found hidden in different places.

Of this sum $14,000 was in gold pieces in denominations ranging from $1 to $50. The balance was in currency. It was all hidden in the bottoms of trunks, bureau drawers and beds.

Years ago Mrs. Kingsbury, who was the wife of Major Kingsbury and mother-in-law of ex-Governor Buckner, of Kentucky, figured in a series of lawsuits in this State and Kentucky. They lasted for twelve years.

Claims the House is Contaminated.

WESTFIELD, N. J., Jan. 25.—The case of baseball manager Coding against several insurance companies is attracting great attention. About two weeks ago his house caught fire. As there was no other water handy, the firemen found it necessary in order to extinguish the flames to draw water from two cesspools.

Mr. Coding says he has used pounds upon pounds of fumigators and barrels of disinfectants, but the house seems to be permanently affected. The insurance companies are willing to make a settlement for the fire damage, but this does not satisfy Mr. Coding. The case will be taken into the courts. Mr. Coding values the house at $10,000. Westfield was nearly burned down within the last month on account of its lack of water.

Painted women were never more plentiful than they are now.
