RAILROAD RUMBLINGS.

Prosperity May Lead the Reading to Many New Improvements.

The Shamokin Herald says that surveys have been made to find if it would be cheaper to double track the Shamokin, Sunbury & Lewisburg Railroad, or the Catawissa branch of the Reading. The part of the Catawissa road to take into consideration is between East Mahanoy Junction and West Milton, a distance of sixty-five miles. The work would require the enlarging of two large tunnels and considerable trestle work of the most intricate kind.

HYPNOTIZING A HORSE.

A Child's Easy Mastery of An Unstable Stallion.

A Cleveland horseman tells a remarkable story of a child's control of a vicious horse, says an exchange. "It seemed to be a case of hypnotism. A farmer named White has a very fine stock farm about three miles out of the city. He is a good horse trainer, and prides himself on being able to handle the most vicious types of horseflesh that can be brought to him. But last spring he got more than his match. Somebody sold him a black stallion that was the worst-tempered creature I ever saw. He would bite and strike and kick with such fierceness that no one could get near him, and White was finally obliged to turn him out to pasture. He thought that he would have to kill him, but of course he hated to do that, for he was really a valuable beast. But he was no good, for no one could get near him, to say nothing of controlling him. White has a little boy eleven years old, who is one of the brightest but most gentle little fellows that I ever saw. One morning what was his surprise and alarm to see little Ralph come galloping down the lane on the 'Black Devil's' back as happy as a clown. He rode up to the horse-block, and off his back, and putting the horse's head down to him, stroked and patted his great nose as if he had been the kindest creature in the world. But as soon as anyone else went near him the horse would fight like a demon. For several months the little fellow had a good time with his pet, but as no one else could control him he was sold to a stage-driver for twenty-five dollars, and the little boy got ten dollars for riding him twenty-five miles and delivering him safely in the stable."
