HE WAS HER SENIOR

"I'm Tired of That Old Fellow," She Said.

A LIVELY NEW YORK EPISODE. As He Has Invested $60,000 in Her He Wishes to Retain Possession.

The Queer Actions of "Mr. and Mrs. Algeron Douglass"—He Claims the Woman as His Wife, but This She Emphatically Denies, and Says He is Burroughs, the Philadelphia Speculator, and Already Married—Efforts to Effect a Reconciliation at Length Successful.

New York, Jan. 30.—One of the passengers on the afternoon express from Philadelphia was a plump blonde of 30, with ruddy cheeks and an abundance of soft reddish-brown hair. She wore many diamonds and a long sealskin cloak. Beside her sat a gray-bearded man of 51, who is a grain merchant in the Quaker City. The couple went to the residence of Mr. Franklin at 223 West Twelfth street, where the good-looking woman had friends. They passed as Mr. and Mrs. Algeron Douglass.

At 8 p. m. the woman was furnishing entertainment for a crowd at the corner of Sixth avenue and Thirty-eighth street, by trying to jerk a satchel out of the grain merchant's hand. Her inquiring hair had come down and she was crying. She and the merchant had been out to dinner together in Thirty-eighth street and she had had a good deal of wine.

Policeman Reardon quieted the woman and she walked a block up town. The woman broke out in another tantrum at Thirty-ninth street, and again at Fortieth street. She went more violently when Reardon came along a second time, and she insisted that he should make the merchant give her one of the satchels. She said it was her property.

"This woman is my wife," said the grain merchant, "and I want her to come home."

The woman waved her hands and denied emphatically that she was his wife. Policeman Reardon concluded to have the dispute settled in the Thirtieth street station, and took both the woman and the merchant before Sergeant Cooper.

"This man is Burroughs, the Philadelphia grain speculator," the woman said to the policeman.

When he got before Sergeant Cooper the man said he was Algeron Douglass, and lived at 79 Pine street, Philadelphia. He handed the sergeant a number of letters written by the woman, in which he was addressed as husband.

She said that she was Miss Anne Douglass, and added, with a laugh, that she couldn't be married to the merchant because the latter had another wife.

"I want my satchel and I want to go out alone. I want to live in New York, too. I'm tired of Philadelphia. He's got a beautiful home there, though," she said.

"I've spent over $60,000 on her," he said, "and I want to know where she is going. She can go out alone if she wants to, but I've got a right to know where she intends to stop."

Sergeant Cooper and Policemen Reardon and Drew spent half an hour trying to patch up their differences and go home.

"No," said the young woman. "I'm tired of that old fellow, and that's all there is to it. I want him to mind his own business. I'll have him arrested if he follows me about."

Detective Murphy went and got Mrs. Franklin to act as peace-maker. The woman laughed heartily when they met. They chatted together for ten minutes in a private room, and then the blonde in sealskin consented to go back to Twelfth street.

The woman had a long chat with Sergeant Cooper while waiting for Mrs. Franklin. She said this time that she was the daughter of an officer in the United States army, and that she had married the grain merchant on Governor's Island seven years ago. She added that she had tired of him because of the disparity in their years.

WAS SHE MURDERED?

Mysterious Disappearance of Little Rosa Barowitch, of Detroit.

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 30.—Rosa Barowitch, a pretty 13-year-old girl, left home last Friday evening, dressed only in a light calico gown and with no hat. Since then her parents have seen nothing of her, and the vigorous search of the police has failed to reveal her whereabouts.

A young friend of the girl tells a strange story that adds much to the mystery surrounding the affair. She says that on the night Rosa left home she saw the missing girl enter a house near by with two young men. Later the same night the three were seen by take a carriage and drive toward the river.

In a search of the house, which had been rented and partly furnished by the two young men for two weeks, were found shreds of the girl's dress. On the floor were also found several clots of blood. The young men have not returned to their quarters since last Friday, and a search of the city fails to reveal their presence here.

It is believed that they decoyed the girl into their quarters, murdered, married and then threw her body through the ice into the river. The police are bending every energy to unravel the mystery, but have met with small success thus far.

The skaters are getting jealous of the sleighers and wondering when they will get a show.

A shrewd in millinery is to plant a natural rosebud amid artificial flowers.

A Fatal Mistake.

Physicians make no more fatal mistake than when they inform patients that nervous headaches come from the stomach and are of little consequence. Dr. Franklin Miles, the noted Indiana specialist, has proven the contrary in his new book on "Heart Disease," which may be had free at C. H. Hagenbuch's drug store, who also treats and recommends Dr. Miles' regulated New Heart Cure, which has the largest sale of any heart remedy in the world. It cures nervous and organic heart disease, short breath, fluttering, palpitation, nervousness, dizziness, irregular pulse, fainting, smothering, dropsy, etc. His Restorative Nervine cures headache, etc., etc.

If a man were his own enemy, what hard stories he could tell of himself.

Shiloh's Consumption Cure.

This is beyond question the most successful Cough Medicine we have ever sold. A few doses in variously cure the worst cases of Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, and all the ailments which attend the colds of winter. It is a powerful, yet gentle, and perfectly safe, and is guaranteed to cure all other medicine will stand. If you have a cough we earnestly ask you to try it. Price 10 cents, 50 cents, and $1.00. If your lungs are sore, Chest or Back ache, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by C. H. Hagenbuch, N. E. corner Main and Lloyd streets.

The cold blast of the past few days made pe ple walk briskly.

How to Succeed.

This is the great problem of life which few satisfactorily solve. Some fail because of poor health, others want of luck, but the majority fail because of a weak mind. They are nervous, irresolute, changeable, easily get the blues and "take the spirits down." To keep the mind up, this is the only money time opportunity and nerve tonic. There is nothing like the Restorative Nervine, discovered by the great specialist, Dr. Miles, to cure all nervous diseases, as headache, the blues, nervous prostration, sleeplessness, neuritis, St. Vitus dance, fits, and hysteria. If you have any of these troubles, consult free at C. H. Hagenbuch's drug store.

The fickleness of the weather affords a much food for comment.

Oh, What a Cough.

Will you heed the warning? The signal warns of the sure approach of that most terrible disease, Consumption. Ask yourselves if you can afford for the sake of saving 30 cents, to run the risk and do nothing for it. We know from experience that Shiloh's Cure will cure your Cough, if it never fails. This explains why more than a Million Bottles were sold the past year. It relieves Croup and Whooping Cough at once. Mothers do not hesitate to give it to their children. For Lung Fever, Sore Throat, Chest, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster. Sold by C. H. Hagenbuch, N. E. corner Main and Lloyd streets.

Barrow on the Sound, Whitechester Co., N. Y. To Alva's Brazilian Specific Co.—Gentlemen:—Last spring I was troubled with what the doctors told me was muscular rheumatism. I was unable to walk for nearly six weeks. All this time I was using the medicine prescribed by the attending doctor, and from which I got no relief.

A friend sent me a large bottle of Castor Blood Cure, which I tried, and before two thirds of the cure was used I was able to walk without pain. It is now two months since the pain left me, and have not as yet returned to entirely free from it.

I delayed writing to you, as I was anxious to know whether I was temporarily or permanently cured. It is with pleasure that I now state that from my present feelings, I would judge that I am cured.

It is hardly necessary for me to recommend this medicine as I am positive that a trial of it will be of use, and I am fully convinced it will recommend itself to all grateful souls. M. HOGAN, For sale at Kiril's Drug Store, Ferguson House Block, Shenandoah, Pa.

It does seem as if the lengthening days strengthens the cold.

THE NEIGHBORHOOD OF PINEVILLE, KY., THE SCENE OF THE TRAGEDIES.

Berry Turner, the Hunted Man, Has Killed More Men Than Any Other Who Has Ever Terrorized This Section, and is Supported by a Strong Gang—The Opposing Faction Claim to Have the Law on Their Side, but so Far They Have Been Getting the Hot End of the Fight!

PINEVILLE, Ky., Jan. 30.—A factional feud that promises to rival in bloodshedding the famous Hotfield-McCoy, or any of the other desperate factional wars which have made this section of Kentucky notorious, has broken out in the southern part of this county.

The scene is a wild, mountainous locality known as South America, and is about eighteen miles from the nearest railroad point. Owing to the inaccessibility of the place particulars of the fight are hard to obtain.

Three men have been killed since last Saturday. Their names are Manuel Parton, Lee Davis and Will Jones. The fight is between Berry Turner, a notorious outlaw and murderer, who has killed more men than any other man who has ever terrorized this section with a strong gang, and the Parton faction. The Parton side is a strong one, and claim to have the law on their side, but so far they have had the hot end of the fight. Parton was killed Saturday. He had essayed to capture Berry Turner, dead or alive, and posted himself at a convenient distance from the house in which Turner was fortified with a number of his gang. It was probably Parton's intention to shoot Turner at the first opportunity, but the latter had too much cunning. The outlaw discovered the whereabouts of his would-be slayer and at an unguarded moment succeeded in drawing a bead on the latter and sent a ball from his Winchester crashing through Parton's head. The body of Parton was allowed to lie in the woods for four days, his friends being afraid to attempt to recover it. When it was finally taken away, the body had been partially devoured by hogs.

This morning only fired the Parton faction to more desperate warfare against the Turner side and on Wednesday they made a bold attempt to avenge the death of one of their men.

The act was disastrous to the Partons as two more of their number were killed.

The Partons had surrounded the Turner stronghold, but instead of taking the army, were themselves taken in. They were fired upon from the Turner house, and before they could realize that their presence had been discovered, Lee Davis and Bill Jones, two of the leading men of the Parton faction, had been pierced by bullets from the deadly Winchester.

More than a hundred shots were exchanged and some of the Turner faction are said to have been wounded. There is talk of organizing a posse of officers from this county, and from Claiborne county, Tenn., to attempt the capture of Turner and a big fight will undoubtedly follow.

A Growing Town.

The Discovery of Rich Silver Ore Increases the Population 1,500 in Two Weeks.

CREEDS, Cal., Jan. 30.—Much excitement has been caused here by the finding in the Jack Pot claim of ore bearing 220 ounces of silver to the ton.

The population of Creeds two weeks ago was 2,000. To-day it is 3,500, and two trains a day are greatly swelling that number.

There are few houses in the place, and 75 cents is the price charged to secure a place on the barroom floor, the lodgers to furnish their own blankets, and other covering.

It is expected the population of the town will reach 15,000 by May 1.

Who Got the Money?

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 30.—An audit of the books of the outgoing health officer, Joseph G. Patterson, has disclosed a deficiency of $1,779.57. In addition to this, on an examination of the books relative to the payment to the city of costs in the abatement of nuisances a loss of $10,234.99 has come to light. No suspicion, however, attaches to Mr. Patterson in connection with these deficiencies. Circumstances point rather to a former clerk in the health office, who is known to have been guilty of similar offences.

First Rain in Nearly a Year.

TEMP, Ariz., Jan. 30.—Rain began falling throughout Central and Northern Arizona at an early hour on Tuesday and still continues in a steady downpour night and day. There is no prospect of a break. With the exception of a brief shower on New Year's day it is the first rain since Feb. 15, 1891. It is very timely and means the salvation of thousands of acres of grain in the Salt and Gila valleys.

Committed by Persons Unknown.

SCRANTON, Pa., Jan. 30.—The coroner's jury which investigated John Coffrey's mysterious death has decided that he was murdered and places the crime on persons unknown. Coffrey's family gave very conflicting testimony and there is a general belief that they know more of the tragedy than they care to admit. County Detective Shea has the case in hand now and arrests are expected to-day.
