New Evidence in His Favor Discovered in Chicago.

CARL PETERSEN'S TESTIMONY.

He Tells How Helen Potts Got Morphine for Her Complexion.

He Was an Intimate Friend of Parris, and is Eugaged to Be Married to a Miss Meeker, Helen's Inseparable Companion-He Was Addicted to the Use of Morphine, and She Took Some of the Drug from His Bottle While in Asbury Park-Says He Will Testify on the Appeal of the Case.

CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—There is now in this city a young man, Carl Petersen by name, an intimate friend of Carlyle W. Harris, convicted of murder in New York city. Mr. Petersen is engaged to a Miss Mollie Meeker of Asbury Park, N. J. Miss Meeker and Helen. Potts were inseparable friends, and thus the four young people passed a great deal of their time together. Six weeks before Helen Potts' death Petersen, Harris and Miss Potts were all at Asbury Park together. The rest of the story is told in Petersen's own words. He says:

"I have been addicted to the use of morphine and generally carry a small bottle of it with me. While I was at Asbury Park I had this bottle standing on the mantlepiece in my room. I was sitting in my room reading the paper one morning when Miss Potts came in. continued reading, but at last, attracted by her silence, I looked up. I was horri-fied to find that she had taken the bottle of morphine from the mantsipiece and had poured a quantity of it on a sheet of paper. "My God, Helen,' I said, 'what are you going to do with that? "Why, you have enough poison there to kill a dozen

"Don't be a goose, she replied, 'I only want to use it to improve my com-"She then wrapped the morphine up, put it in her pocket and then left the

"Why have you suppressed this im-portant evidence until this late day, Mr. Petersen?" asked the reporter.
"I had absolutely forgotten it, and it was not until I read of my friend Car-iyle's conviction that the recollection of lyle's conviction that the recollection of this circumstance came back to me. Be-sides this, my business has obliged me to be away from New York a great deal lately, and I was not aware of the nature of the evidence which resulted in my friend's conviction. I shall at once place myself in communication with his law-yers and if the revolution of this facyers, and if the revelation of this fact will avert his dreadful fate I shall do all I can to rectify the fault at this late

I can to rectify the fault at this late day."

"From your intimate acquaintance with Harris and his wife, were you not surprised at the accusation of marder against him?"

"I was astounded. I never saw a couple that were more deeply in love. They thought the world of each other, and the mere suggestion that Harris would be capable of such a crime is absurd. Only shortly before Helen's death he was exulting to me because he had a prospect of being employed in a death he was exulting to me because he had a prospect of being employed in a physician's office as assistant at $20 a a week. 'And then,' he said. 'Helen and I will get married.' I did not know that they were already married, so well had they kept their secret. I pointed out to him that $20 a week was rather a small capital for a young married couple in New York, but he only replied: 'We'll get along somehow.'"

Peace Reigns.

Ashuquenque, N. M., Feb. 12.—The war letween the Navajo Indians and the war is tween the Navajo Indians and the cawboys in Western Valencia County, on the Atlantic & Pacific, has ended, and peace reigns for the time being This was brought about by the timely arrival of a company of sadders from Fork Wingste, and the fact that Chief Mariane is opposed to trouble. The conflict between the Indians and the whites, near Coddington's cauch, was not as desperate as at first reported, but it is missimally certain that several of the renegades were either killed or wounded. It is thought here that Chief Mariano will cause the renegades to go back to the retervation. reservation.
