Has a larger circulation in Shenandoah than any other paper published. Circulation books open to all.

A BRAINY TOWN.

THE HERALD wants some of Shenandoah's "would be progressive citizens inoculated with some of President McLeod's brains." That's all right, but the pushing president of the Reading has a stupendous job on hand which will call all his great brain into constant use, and Shenandoah may as well become reconciled to its own brain market, which, by the way, is a very good one. Business brains have already developed that goodly town several years ahead of time, and we are to believe the signs of the times.—Pottsville Republican.

The Philadelphia Inquirer's publication of a daily history of the late war is already a popular feature in that paper. Veterans will be glad to revive their recollections and the younger generation will follow with interest the story as depicted from day to day. The Inquirer was one of the leading newspapers all through the war, and from its old files will be able to extract many interesting descriptions of the great struggle.

"We are going to break down the law passed by the Democrats in reference to the election of Presidential electors by districts," said Colonel Duffield, of Michigan in an interview in New York recently. We are going to give the fourteen votes of Michigan to the Republican candidate for President. I have the matter of bringing the suit to test the constitutionality of the law in my hands. I am absolutely certain that the law is unconstitutional. It prevents any voter in the state from voting for two electors at large. We intend to present the matter to the State Supreme Court at an early date and feel certain that the decision will be in our favor. If the Democrats do not see fit to appeal from the decision of the State Supreme

IF THE HUSBANDMEN IN THE FIELD OF American agriculture could induce the Congress of the United States to so increase the tariff on all domestic animals and the product of domestic animals, such as sheep, goats, cattle, horses, and all agricultural products now imported, what a vast field for labor there would open before the American agriculturist. It would require a hundred million acres of land additional to that now in use and a half million men in caring for and producing the increased products, which we now buy from foreign countries, after their paying a duty for the privileges of selling in our market.

THE Republicans of New York state won a victory in every one of the twenty counties in which supervisor elections were held on Tuesday excepting one. In one town a Republican Supervisor was elected for the first time in twenty-five years. To modernize an old nursery rhyme:

SUNDAY SERMON IN THE M. E. CHURCH.

AN INTERESTING THEME VERY ABLY PRESENTED

AND LISTENED TO ATTENTIVELY.

Subject of the Discourse by Rev. Powick to the Congregation of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Sunday was missionary day in the Methodist Episcopal church and sermons were delivered on missionary topics. Publication of the report was prevented Monday by pressure of other matters. The text in the morning was taken from 1 Cor. 15:25 "He must reign till He hath put all enemies under His feet." Christ reigns on the mediatorial throne over a rebellious world. "We see not yet all things put under Him," but "He shall not fail nor be discouraged till He hath set judgment in the earth and the isles shall wait for His law." Christianity makes a sublimely audacious claim to universal supremacy. It admits of no rival. Confucianism, Buddhism, Mohammedanism, Judaism, and every other religion professes to be universal in its demands and adaptations. Not content with conquest among the living, Christ enters the dread domain of death and snatches its keys and proclaims himself its conqueror. Competing systems, rival leaders and opposing forces are to be subdued. We must mount the throne as friends or lick the dust as foes. "At the name of Jesus every knee must bow of things in heaven and things in earth and things under the earth and every tongue shall confess that Jesus Christ is Lord to the glory of God the Father." Those who refuse to yield to the sceptre of grace must be at length squelched with the rod of iron. The audacity of its claims are still more apparent when we think of the means by which they are to be realized. First the hope of the world is made to depend upon one who was crucified as a malefactor. To the Jews this was a stumbling block and to the Greeks foolishness. Then it is by what was termed the foolishness of preaching Christ as the power of God and the wisdom of God that it pleased God to save them that believe. Passing by the great, the wealthy and the influential he sought his messengers on the shores of Galilee among his rude fishermen and in its hated custom houses among the farmers of Roman taxes. Besides this He gave all His plans away. He told His foes just what he proposed to do and, in supreme defiance of all their opposition, just how He proposed to do it. This would ruin the greatest military leader of the ages. But this reversal of human methods shows His superiority to the occasion and proves the superhuman origin of the scheme. From such humble beginnings the cause has spread. The nations of antiquity who scouted the scandal of the cross have lost their glory—their civilization has perished—their name is but a reminiscence while the barbarians of that age, accepting the religion of Jesus, hold to-day the destinies of the earth in their hands. In considering the progress of the world's conquest it should be remembered that the present century has witnessed more marvelous results in this respect than all previous ages. The work seems slow, but when we remember the difficulties in the way—language to be acquired—prejudices to be overcome—literature to be created—churches to be built—schools to be founded—ideas to be originated—it will seem to be considerable. We have been getting ready to work. Within less than fifty years our own church has entered the foreign field and now we have nearly 4,000 native preachers and helpers, and 1,600 preaching stations. We have over 2,000 Sunday schools attended by 107,000 scholars, and 1,099 day schools attended by 33,844 pupils. And when we look at the children our public schools are Americanizing and then sending home to Americanize their parents we can easily appreciate the bearing of our foreign educational work upon the christianizing of paganism.

Mrs. Parrish Explains.

Mrs. Parrish, mother of Mrs. Daniel Jones, whose case was fully reported yesterday, called at the HERALD office this morning and requested that a statement be made in her behalf. Mrs. Parrish says that she nor her husband had anything to do with their daughter leaving her husband, Daniel Jones; that the wife left of her own free will. Furthermore, that she (Mrs. Parrish) did not answer "yes" when Rev. West asked if the child should be christened. The wife made the answer. Also, that Mr. Jones has not furnished his wife with medicines, or any other articles, since she has been at her mother's house. In conclusion, Mrs. Parrish wishes it understood that Mrs. Jones did not leave her husband's board, because he never gave her any.

THE ELECTIONS IN TOWN TO-DAY.

SPIRITED BATTLES IN MOST OF THE WARDS.

A LIVELY FIGHT IN THE FIFTH

The German Democrats Apply the Knife—All Quiet in the First. Nip and Tuck in the Second Ward Fight.

At the hour of opening the polls this morning the atmosphere was of a freezing nature and the poll men were like so many "jumping jacks" trying to keep their feet warm. Their noses first assumed a brilliant, rosy hue, and gradually turned to a purple, and then a clear blue—as blue as the sky above and as blue as some of the candidates will look to-night when the returns come in.

In the First ward everything had a one-sided appearance. There was a nest of Democrats about the poll and Republicans were as scarce as balloon ascensions in mid-winter. A prominent Democratic worker said he thought Smith would leave the ward with 200 majority. It was understood that at noon the vote stood 49 to 7 in favor of Flynn for High Constable.

In the Second ward the fight was nip-and-tuck all morning, especially on the count-down fight. Smith expressed the opinion that he would carry the ward by a small majority. Lessig said: "I don't know how I stand, but I think it will be all right." One hundred votes were polled up to noon.

The vote polled up to noon in the Third ward was 157. This is light, but a heavy vote is expected before the closing of the polls. One gentleman who was keeping a pretty close watch at the poll window expressed the opinion that Davenport would win the School Director fight, which is the real battle in that ward, by about 60 majority.

The noon vote in the Fourth ward, like that in the Third, was light. A hard fight is being made by both sides for Council and School Director and it was hard to get any one to express an opinion on the probable result, although both Gable and Butts, the Citizens' candidates appeared to be confident.

The Fifth ward is the battle field of them all. The Germans are in a dissecting humor and the Democratic ticket is carved here, there and everywhere. But 93 votes were polled up to noon and those who are engaged in fighting the Democratic ticket look upon this light poll as a good omen. Some of the Citizens' party were so much encouraged at noon they were led to anticipate a victory for most, and possibly the whole of their ticket. Morris Wurm afforded them unlimited encouragement and if the Citizens' party scores a victory he would be one of the happiest men this side of heaven.

Notice to Voters.

By a typographical error, Frank C. Reese was put upon the Citizens' borough ticket as a candidate for Assessor instead of Auditor. Legal authorities state that if any of the misprinted tickets should go into the ballot box they shall be counted as votes for Mr. Reese as Auditor (first) because the intention of the voter must be considered and (second) there is no candidate for borough assessor, who office has been abolished.

Orders for EVENING HERALD should be left at Hooks & Brown's news stand, No. 4 North Main street.

Ministerial Association.

All the pastors of the various religious denominations of town are urgently requested to attend a meeting to-morrow afternoon, at 2 o'clock, in the Methodist Episcopal church. The object of the meeting is the organization of a ministerial association.

That Fourth Ward Primary.

EDITOR HERALD:—My attention was called to your issue of Friday, which your local editor cast reflections upon the Citizens' Fourth ward primary of Thursday evening, by saying that the business was done in a slipshod way, making it appear that all the voters in the Fourth ward were either devoid of knowledge, or did not care which way it went, only to get through, when such was not the case. Had your local editor been gentlemanly enough to go and see the chairman of the meeting he would have learned the object of such actions that he would not have said what he did. I know for a fact that the chairman saw there would be a wrangle when it came to the nomination of conferees and so decided to nip it in the bud, hence he decided to have nominations single and when Mr. Dean was so gentlemanly and generous as to withdraw his conferees for the sake of peace and harmony and made the motion, not because he wished to interfere, but ask all to work for the success of Mr. Lessig—hence the chairman entertained the motion that passed without a single objection, although, strictly speaking, the motion being made by Mr. Dean was illegal. Such frivolous things should not be made to appear as slipshod work and, as a vote/long-standing in that ward, I do not like such a cast upon us, as we have intelligences that will rate with any other ward in the borough. The meeting was harmonious throughout and the nominations made in order, until the question of conferees were announced, which started the question of parliamentary rules by one who ought to have known better and kept his seat, and in order to put him down the chairman ruled as he did. I trust the next borough election will be Republican and Democratic, and not Citizens and Democrats, as the Citizens' ticket is a farce, to my mind. I saw Democrats vote for School Director myself and know that they did not intend to support the ticket. Hence the ward is so mixed up that it is time to come down at once to the old party and have a square vote to either win or lose.

[We are pleased that the correspondent agrees with what we have so often maintained—that the Citizens' ticket is a farce. Our "slipshod" reference applied to all the Citizens' primaries. The Republicans can never properly put a ticket before the people until they hold primaries governed by rules that will prevent frivolousness and illegality.—Ed.]
