Corbett's opponents were Joe Lannon of Boston, who was a sparring partner of John L. Sullivan for a long time; Bob Caffrey, of Philadelphia, and Bill Spillings, of Rochester, all heavyweights, of

When Joe Lannon came out he met with a great reception, and during all his bout a majority of the spectators seemed to sympathize with him, for every time he hit Corbett, and he did it often, they cheered him.

Corbett did not succeed in knocking Lannon out, though he tried hard to do so. He did not even knock him down. Lannon put up an excellent show and landed on Corbett's body several times with force.

with force. Corbett, on the other hand, did not appear to as good advantage as usual, and missed many blows he sent out to do work, neither was he so shifty as ordinarily.

At infighting Corbett did some hugging, but not as much as Lannon. Even the little, on Corbett's side, surprised his friends. The Californian was plainly not triends. The Californian was plainly not at his best strength. One punch in the stomach that Launon gave him in the second round stirred him up considerably. In the third round Corbett was more active and had Lannon very tired. He got in on face and body, and Lannon could not respond.

If one more round had been dought.

If one more round had been fought Corbett might have knocked his man

Fair Commissioner. ROME, Feb. 17.-Pope Leo gave an audience to a member of the Chicago World's Fair Committee, who kissed the hand of His Holiness, and, by the request of the Pope, gave a brief explanation of

The Pontiff said that he would take steps to stimulate Catholic interest in the Fair, and would especially commend the subject to the Holy Congregation for the Propagation of the Faith. The Pope also promised to pray for Chicago.

TO CATHOLIC FRANCE

Pope Leo's Declaration to the Republic.

IN WHICH BE PREACHES PEACE

Church and State Have Separat Mission and Should N t Clash-

France Shall Rise Again, But the Govern ment Should Keep From Vain and Irritating Persecution of Her Citizens and Catholica Should Cease Fighting the Republic-The United States the Model that France Should Take.

PARIS. Feb. 17. - The Pope has written the following declaration. It is published by the "Petit Journal."

"My desire and the wish of the Church is that France should be happy.

"She is a nation whose pious mind and generous character, though they may not always keep her fast in the straight path which is best suited to her interests, soon repair all faults and show her the clear truth.

"I pray (and I act in accordance with my prayer) that, despite all resistance there may come an end to the dissen-sions and the sterile quarrels which weaken her.

"All her citizens should meet upon the ground of legality. Each individual may cherish his own preferences. But when in the domain of action nothing else ex ists but the government which France

"The Republic is as legitimate a form of government as any other.

"I have just received a communication from the president of the committee of the Chicago World's Fair asking the Holy See to take part in that great American undertaking. And the United States, which constitute a republic, grow greater every day despite the drawlacks incidental to their boundless liberty. There, too, the Catholic Church develops without clashing with the the State. The two Powers act in perfect harmony, as they should in all lands when neither as they should in all lands when neither infringes upon the rights of the other. "Liberty is indeed the base and the foundation of relations between the civil power and religious conscience.

What suits the United States is still by unfounds more suited to republican France. To all Frenchmon who visit me I speak the same language. I wish that language to be known by all. I regret that certain persons in high places should not dare to proclaim publicly, as they should, the efforts that I make for the peace and the prosperity of your noble nation, which I regard ever as the eldest daughter of the

'In this course I persist, and I encour age all who enter on it steadfastly help me in my task. "The Church should keep to its true mission. It should reform souls, incul cate the spirit of self-sacrifice and devo tion. The Church should take an interest in the condition of the weak. My assertion of the rights of workingmen should facilitate and hasten the restoration of internal peace and diminish the insignificant minority which strives to disturb the public mind and prevent union in your country-a union indispensible to the fulfilment of its high destinies.

"Thanks to her strong constitution, France will rise to her old greatness is spite of her foes.

"I learn with joy that, though she boasts such abundant military resourcer and such valiant sons, France has not faltered in her prudence and patience. "If she will but free herself from the dissentions that theck her developmen and paralyze her influence; if she will but abstain from vain barassing and persecuting, she will soon regain that conspicuous place and glorious rank in the world which of right belong to her." This language of the Pope will make a great impression in France, where the adhesion of His Holiness to the Republic will cause widespread satisfaction. Europe will now understand that the Holy See is for Faance and against the Triple Alliance.

It will no doubt be gratifying to the United States to find that the Sovereign Pontiff takes them as a model. Liberty of conscience is nowadays the highest title to glory a country can produce.
